DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture,—No. 36—240-5, dated the 30th December 1897.

READ—

Preliminary Narrative of the Famine in India in 1896-97 by T. W. Holderness, Esq., I.C.S., Deputy Secretary (Famine) to the Government of India.

Weather and Crop Reports for the various provinces published in the Gazette of India, dated the 1st January 1898.

RESOLUTION.

THE famine which since the close of 1896 has grievously afflicted so large a part of India, is now virtually at an end; and an abundant autumn harvest and conditions favourable to the spring crops have, throughout the greater part of the distressed tracts, once more put the people into good heart. The calamity, in respect of its intensity and of the area and population which it affected, though fortunately not in respect of its duration, has been more severe than any other famine of the century, and probably than any other which Indian history records. The tracts in which distress was acute or severe covered an aggregate area of 270,000 square miles with a population of 50,000,000, while distress of less intensity, but which still amounted to famine, prevailed over a further area of 33,000 square miles, with a population of 13,000,000. Thus the area throughout which relief operations were required was two-and-a-half times that of the United Kingdom, while the population for whose relief they were undertaken fell only just short of double the population of Great Britain. And there was probably no part of India in which the poorer classes did not suffer severely from the abnormally high prices which have obtained during the past year.

2. In coping with such a calamity the hands of the Government have been stronger than at any previous period. Since the last famine of comparable magnitude that afflicted the country—that of 1877-78—the irrigated area in which crops are reasonably secure and for which returns exist has increased by 17 per cent., and the area watered from large works constructed by the State from 7 to 10 million acres, while some five million acres are watered from smaller works under Government control. In 1877 less than 9,000 miles of railway were open. In 1897 the mileage exceeded 20,000; and nothing in the experience of the past year has been more striking than the freedom with which grain has passed from place to place in accordance with fluctuations of prices, and the manner in which the prices of food staples have maintained a general level throughout large tracts, in parts of which the harvests have been excellent. The scarcity prices which obtained over considerable areas during former famines have, except for a very short time, over very limited tracts, and under very exceptional circumstances, never even been approached on the present occasion; and while the improvement of communications has probably operated to make high prices more general than they otherwise would have been, it has certainly done much to diminish the intensity of distress where distress was most acute. The experience of the past year has shown that the reserve of food stocks in India is, even when preceding harvests have been unfavourable, larger than could have been foreseen; and the external help that has been afforded amounts to under 700,000 tons, of which 600,000 were rice from Burma. In parts of the country, however, the local reserves were exhausted at an early stage of the scarcity; and the Government of India believe that the readiness with which the demand thus arising was supplied from the resources of other and more favoured tracts, is due in no small measure to the policy of absolute abstention from interference with private enterprise, which, save in the case of very limited areas of which the circumstances were most exceptional, has been scrupulously observed throughout. Nor is it only in material respects that the position has been stronger now than formerly. The experience of previous famines has not been thrown away; and the approach of scarcity found for the first time an organisation elaborated in readiness for the struggle, and the main principles on which it was to be conducted laid down beforehand. The Famine Codes of the various provinces have been subjected to the severest possible test; it has disclosed in them defects which will now be corrected; but on the whole they have borne the trial well.

3. In the relief of distress and the prevention of death from privation the Government of this country have incurred a direct expenditure of between seven and eight crores of rupees; they have distributed about two crores more in the shape of loans for the construction of wells, for the purchase of seed and bullocks, and for other agricultural purposes; and they have suspended over two crores of land revenue, of which a substantial portion will not be recovered. This public expenditure has been supplemented by private charity of the most splendid nature. Rs. 29,16,000 have been contributed to the Indian Famine Charitable Relief Fund by India itself, Rs. 1,22,51,000 by Great Britain, Rs. 11,23,000 by other British Colonies, of which more than half came from Canada, and Rs. 2,46,000 by Foreign countries, making, in addition to valuable gifts in kind, an aggregate of Rs. 1,65,36,000. The money has been expended in the relief of distress which refused from honourable motives to accept public aid, in supplying additional comforts to the aged, the infirm, and the diseased, in providing for children whom famine has deprived of their natural guardians, and (perhaps most important and most valuable of all) in giving a fresh start in life to those who had lost their means of livelihood in the struggle for existence. The good thus done has been incalculable, and has called forth the deepest gratitude from the inarticulate millions who have benefited by it. Nor do the public subscription lists by any means exhaust the tale of private liberality. Large sums of money have been sent from various parts of the world, especially to Missionary agencies, and have been applied to the relief of distress. In this connection the cargo of grain contributed by charitable persons in America and despatched at the expense of the Government of the United States deserves special mention. Gentlemen, both European and Native, who derive their wealth from the land, have expended large sums in assisting the cultivators of the estates in which they were interested; and throughout the country smaller people have exercised, according to their means, that private charity which so honourably distinguishes the people of India. In all, relief for one day has been given at the expense of Government to 834 million units. In operations of such magnitude, mistakes are inevitable. But the Government of India believe that they were seldom serious, either in their nature or in their extent, and that in all cases they were promptly detected and remedied.

4. No measures of relief, however perfect and extensive, can prevent privation and distress at a time such as the past year has been; and privation and distress, when continued for long months together, must of necessity affect the death-roll, if only by increasing the susceptibility and weakening the power of resistance to disease, and by hastening the decease of those whose natural term was in any case approaching its close. Some of the parts of India in which distress was most acute are inhabited by passive and timorous forest tribes, habitually suspicious of Government interference; some are traversed by the great highways along which enormous numbers of the poorer classes annually pass from province to province in search of that employment which the varying agricultural seasons afford; in some provinces the re-establishment of the normal rainfall has been accompanied or followed, as often in former famines, by a wave of malarial fever. But the Governor General in Council believes that the task of preserving human life which has for nearly a twelvemonth taxed the energies and the resources of the administration of almost every province in India, has been performed with conspicuous success.

5. No mere expenditure of money, however lavish, could have secured that success, unless accompanied by untiring devotion to duty on the part of those charged with its administration. The functions of the Supreme Government have necessarily been confined to providing the necessary funds when provincial resources were exhausted, and to exercising the most general supervision over the broad principles upon which relief was administered. Upon the heads of the Provincial Governments and their advisers devolved the heavy responsibility of watching the pulse of local distress, of instantly adopting measures varied to suit the varying conditions, and of holding an even balance between the claims of the unfortunate and the duty of public economy. The Governor General in Council desires to recognise most cordially the manner in which that responsibility has been discharged, and the high sense of duty which has animated those upon whom it fell. Upon the Divisional and District Officers, working in concert with the local officers of the Public Works, Medical, Police, Forest and other Departments, has laid the task of carrying into effect the scheme of relief, the success of which was mainly dependent upon their watchful and active care. It is these officers and their assistants, European and Native, Civil, Military and non-official, who have most literally borne the burden and heat of the day; and some indeed have sacrificed their own lives in the successful effort to save the lives of others. There are many also who hold no official position, who have laboured with assiduity and self-devotion to save life and relieve suffering. All have done their duty nobly under the most trying circumstances; and His Excellency in Council desires publicly to express his admiration of the manner in which their fight to save life has been conducted. It will be found that the customary means of rewarding merit have not been overlooked, but the number of those who can be thus individually distinguished is necessarily small. The knowledge that they have done their duty and have earned the gratitude of the poor and helpless will remain with all who have done good service in the struggle, and His Excellency in Council is anxious to add this recognition of their work, which he is sure that public opinion will emphatically and universally endorse.

6. Finally, the Governor General in Council desires to express his admiration of the manner in which the people of the country have endured the calamity. When prices rose at the first approach of scarcity, there were a few unimportant cases of local disturbance; and the amount of petty crime has no doubt been generally increased by the prevalence of famine. But as a whole, the inhabitants of the tracts affected have endured the suffering which no efforts either of public or of private charity could do more than mitigate, with a patience and a fortitude that are beyond all praise. The marvellous power of recuperation which the population of India possess has often been the subject of remark; and His Excellency in Council earnestly hopes that within the next few years, favourable seasons will have restored the people to prosperity, and have obliterated at any rate all material traces of what they suffered during the famine of 1897.

Regulations made by the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, under the provisions of the Ordinance No. 3 of 1897 :—

1. The term "proper authority" in the following sections shall mean—

- (a) Wherever there shall be established a Municipality, the Chairman of the Municipal Council, or the Principal Civil Medical Officer, or the Colonial Surgeon of the Province, or the Health Officer of the Municipality, or any officer appointed by the Governor to perform the duties of the proper authority.
- (b) Wherever there shall be established a Local Board, the Chairman of the Local Board, or the Assistant Government Agent of the District, or the District Judge, or the Police Magistrate, or the Chief Medical Officer resident within the Local Board limits, or any officer appointed by the Governor to perform the duties of the proper authority.
- (c) Wherever there shall be no Municipality or Local Board established, the Government Agent of the Province, or the Assistant Government Agent of the District, or the Police Magistrate of the Division, or the Colonial Surgeon of the Province, or the Chief Medical Officer of the district or place, or any officer appointed by the Governor to perform the duties of the proper authority.

2. The term "health officer" shall mean any person appointed by the Governor to exercise authority in regard to sanitary matters in any port, or where no such person has been appointed the medical officer of the district or place.

3. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat in which there shall have been any disease not less than fifteen days previous, or which shall have come from any port or place in which at the time of her leaving there was disease, or on which there shall be any person affected with disease, or which shall have communicated otherwise than by signal with any vessel, boat, or place in which disease existed or might be reasonably supposed to have existed, shall not enter any port or harbour, and shall not allow any person to land from such vessel or boat, or to leave such vessel or boat, save by the order in writing of the proper authority.

* Note.—See Home Department Notifications No. 1881, dated the 30th July 1897, and No. 1906, dated the 6th August 1897, published in the Gazette of India of the 31st July and the 7th August 1897, respectively.

4. The master or person in charge of such a vessel or boat shall, before entering the port or harbour, hoist at the fore by day a yellow flag, and by night a red light over a white light six feet apart, hoisted well up where best seen; and after the hoisting of such flag or light such vessel or boat shall be deemed in quarantine.

5. The master or person in charge of such a vessel or boat shall anchor or moor such vessel at such a place as shall be pointed out by the Master Attendant or some person acting on his behalf, and shall not leave such place without the permission in writing of the Master Attendant or some person acting on his behalf; and until the master or person in charge of such vessel or boat has received such permission, such vessel or boat shall be deemed in quarantine.

6. If at any time a case of disease shall occur on board a vessel or boat in any port or harbour, or during the period a vessel or boat is in quarantine under regulations 4 and 5, the said vessel or boat shall be placed in quarantine or remain in quarantine for such period as the Principal Civil Medical Officer shall fix, not exceeding thirty days from the date of such case, and be subject to all the prohibitions provided for in regulations 5 and 7.

7. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat in quarantine shall keep a yellow flag constantly flying at the foremast of such vessel or boat, or in some conspicuous place on such vessel or boat from sunrise to sunset, and from sunset to sunrise shall exhibit a red light over a white light six feet apart, hoisted well up where best seen. The display of such flag and such light shall be sufficient notice that such vessel or boat and the land or sea surrounding the same to a distance of fifty yards are in quarantine.

8. The health officer shall go on board of every vessel or boat entering any port or harbour, and may in his discretion refuse or grant pratique to any vessel or boat.

9. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat, and every person on board such vessel or boat, shall answer truly every question put to him by the health officer.

10. The master or person in charge of any vessel or boat, and, if there be a surgeon on board such vessel or boat, the surgeon shall, before the pilot or health officer shall come on board such vessel or boat, truly and fully inform such pilot or health officer if there shall have been any disease on board such vessel or boat not less than twenty days previous; or if such vessel or boat shall have come from any port or place in which there was disease, or if there be any person affected with disease on board such vessel or boat, or if such vessel or boat shall have communicated otherwise than by signal with any vessel, boat, or place in which disease existed, or might be reasonably supposed to have existed.

11. The master or person in charge of a vessel shall not allow any boat of such vessel to be lowered, or any boat whatever to lie alongside such vessel, before such vessel shall have obtained pratique, except for the purpose of saving life, or for the purpose of mooring such vessel. The master or person in charge of a vessel which has lowered a boat for the purpose of saving life or of mooring such vessel shall cause such boat to be hoisted up immediately thereafter.

12. No person shall approach within fifty yards of a vessel or boat not admitted to pratique. No person shall leave any vessel or boat not admitted to pratique. No person shall transmit or receive any article or thing from any vessel not admitted to pratique.

13. No goods shall be removed from any vessel in quarantine, save to such place and under such restrictions and subject to such detention and disinfection as shall be prescribed by the Principal Officer of Customs of the port.

14. The proper authority may order the destruction of any goods brought from any vessel in quarantine. No compensation shall in such case be paid to any person. The owner and consignee of the goods and the master or person in charge of the vessel by which they were carried shall pay the cost of the destruction thereof.

15. A diseased person may, in the discretion of the health officer, be removed from any vessel to a quarantine station or hospital.

16. Whenever there are found on board any vessel coming with a clean bill-of-health from an Indian port persons who are unable to satisfy the health officer as to their place of origin, but who are in good health, such vessel shall not be placed in quarantine; but such persons shall be kept on board under surveillance, and shall not be allowed to land, but shall be compelled to return by the same vessel.

17. The Principal Civil Medical Officer shall fix the number of days, not exceeding thirty days, during which a vessel shall remain in quarantine.

18. No person shall approach within fifty yards of a vessel in quarantine, and no person shall leave a vessel in quarantine, save with the permission in writing of the health officer and under such restrictions as shall be by him proscribed.

19. The proper authority shall, wherever expedient, establish a quarantine station, hospital, and a place of observation, and shall affix thereto a notice setting out that the same is a quarantine station, hospital, or place of observation. Such place shall thereafter be deemed to be a quarantine station, hospital, or place of observation, as the case may be, within the meaning of these regulations.

20. No person shall approach within one hundred yards of any quarantine station or hospital. Any person approaching within one hundred yards of any quarantine station or hospital, or of any vessel or boat in quarantine, may be removed to a quarantine station, in addition to any penalty imposed for a breach of the regulations.

21. The conveyance of passengers from any place in India to any place not being a Customs port is prohibited.

22. The conveyance of passengers to any place in this Island from any place in India in any vessel or boat not having a bill-of-health is prohibited.

23. Any vessel or boat in which passengers are conveyed in breach of the preceding regulations shall be forfeited.

24. The landing of any person from any place in India at any place in this Island not being a Customs port is prohibited.

25. Whenever in any place there shall be any person affected with plague, the proper authority shall cause the removal of such person to some building set apart as a hospital.

Whenever in any building there shall be any person affected with plague, it shall be lawful for the proper authority, after the removal of such person, to cause the building and its contents, either wholly or in part, to be destroyed, or the roof to be removed and the contents, either wholly or in part, to be destroyed, and such process of cleaning and disinfection to be carried out as the proper authority may see fit; provided that compensation shall be paid to the person whose property is destroyed, and such compensation shall be assessed as may by a regulation be directed.

Whenever in any building there shall be any person affected with plague, any other persons found in such building shall be removed by the proper authority to a place of observation. Every person, on being ordered by the proper authority, shall proceed to a place of observation. No person removed to a place of observation, or who has proceeded to a place of observation, shall leave such place without permission of the proper authority.

26. Any medical practitioner or person professing to treat disease attending any diseased person shall within three hours of such attendance give information in writing to the proper authority, stating the name of the diseased person, his residence, and the nature of his disease.

Every occupant of any building in which there shall be any person affected with any serious illness shall forthwith inform the proper authority thereof.

27. No person shall, without the written permission of the proper authority, enter or go away from any quarantine station, hospital, or place of observation.

28. Whenever it shall appear to him expedient, the proper authority shall give notice by beat of tom-tom and by affixing written notice in conspicuous places, requiring that the walls of any building in any town, village, or places shall be whitewashed and cleaned and disinfected, and the drains, sewers, pits, and cesspits cleaned and disinfected. The owner and occupant of any building and of any land upon which there shall be any building, drains, sewers, pits, or cesspits shall whitewash, clean, and disinfect the same within forty-eight hours of the giving of such notice.

29. Whenever it shall appear expedient, the proper authority may give notice to the owner or occupant of any land to fill up or disinfect any well upon such land. The owner or occupant of such land shall thereupon fill up or disinfect, as the case may be, such well.

30. Whenever there shall be found at any time to be in any building a larger number of persons than should, in the opinion of the proper authority, be found to be dwelling there, it shall be lawful for such authority to order the departure from such building of the number of persons in excess of the number which, in the opinion of such authority, should be found dwelling there; and if at any time after the giving of such order there shall be found in any such building any number of persons in excess of the number who should be found dwelling there, the owner of such building shall be guilty of an offence.

31. It shall be lawful for the proper authority to cause persons infected with cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease, in any house or place hereunder described, to be removed to some public hospital or other place provided by Government—

(1) In any house or place in which goods are exposed for sale.

(2) In any house or place of public resort.

(3) In any building in which there are no means of isolating the patients from the other inmates, or in any building where the retention of the patient is likely to prove a source of danger to others.

Provided that it shall be competent for the proper authority, in case the removal of any person so infected in any house or place in which goods are exposed for sale is objected to, and the house or place is not otherwise open to objection, to allow the patient to be retained, on condition, however, that the sale of goods shall not be carried on in such house or place during such time as any person shall remain so infected in such house or place.

Provided, further, that it shall be lawful for the proper authority to allow any patient to be removed to any locality which such patient or his or her friends may choose, and to which the medical authorities of the town or place, if any, do not object, instead of to the public hospital or place provided by Government.

32. Except as provided by these regulations, and except as provided by the Ordinance No. 8 of 1866, it shall not be lawful for any person to remove or assist in removing any person suffering from cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease from the house or place in which such person shall be to any other house or place, without the sanction in writing of the proper authority.

33. It shall be lawful for the proper authority to prohibit the removal from any house or place in which goods are exposed for sale, or from any house or place of public resort, or from any building in which cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease may have occurred, of any articles of merchandize or trade or goods of any kind, until such time as such building or place is declared to be free from infection by the medical authorities of the town or place in which such building is situated.

Provided that it shall be lawful for the proper authority to permit any goods from an infected house or place in which goods are exposed for sale, or from any house or place of public resort, or from any building in which cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease may have occurred, to be removed to any other locality which the owner or occupier of such building may choose, and to which removal the medical authorities of the town or place do not object.

34. It shall be lawful for the proper authority to prohibit the removal for interment or cremation of corpses of persons who have died of plague, cholera, small-pox, chicken-pox, or other infectious, contagious, or epidemic disease along any particular thoroughfare and to prescribe the thoroughfares leading to the place of interment or cremation along which such corpses shall be carried, and to direct the disinfection of corpses before removal. Information of such prohibition shall be given by notice in writing under the hand of the proper authority, which shall be posted in two or more conspicuous places in the prohibited thoroughfare and by publication in such other way as may be deemed necessary by such proper authority.

By His Excellency's command,

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE; }
Colombo, September 20, 1897.

E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.

With reference to the above regulations, it is hereby notified that the Chairmen of the Municipal Councils of Colombo, Galle, and Kandy are the Local Authorities for the enforcement and execution of the said regulations within the limits of their respective Municipalities.

By His Excellency the Governor's command,

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE; }
Colombo, September 20, 1897.

E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.

Regulations made by the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, under the provisions of the Ordinance No. 3 of 1897 :—

1. Every vessel or boat coming to any place in this Island from Bombay shall be subjected to quarantine for a period not exceeding ten days from the date of her departure from that port.

2. No person shall within such period of ten days land at any place in this Island from any such vessel or boat.

3. No person shall at any time within such period of ten days carry, take or convey any goods from any such vessel or boat to any place in this Island.

4. The landing at any place in this Island of the following goods, shipped at any port on the West Coast of India, or transhipped to any vessel from any vessel which shall have conveyed such goods from any port on the West Coast of India, is prohibited :—

(1) Used body linen, clothes, bedding, and other personal effects.

(2) Bags, including rags compressed by hydraulic pressure and transported in bales as merchandize.

(3) Used sacking or bags, carpets, and old embroidery.

(4) Green and untanned hides and skins.

(5) Animal refuse, claws, hoofs, horsehair, hair of animals generally, raw silk and wool.

(6) Human hair.

5. The transshipment within any port in this Island of such prohibited goods from one vessel to another is prohibited.

6. The Principal Officer of Customs at any place at which any landing or transshipment shall take place of such prohibited goods shall, unless the Governor shall otherwise direct, cause the destruction of such goods. The cost of effecting such destruction shall be paid by the owner and consignee of such goods and by the master of the vessel by which such goods were carried. No compensation for such destruction shall be paid to any person.

7. Any vessel having on board any such prohibited goods shall, so long as she shall have any such goods on board, be deemed in quarantine, and such vessel and all persons and goods shall in respect of such vessel be subject to the regulations relating to vessels in quarantine.

8. The foregoing Regulations 4, 5, 6, and 7 shall not apply to used body linen, clothes, bedding, and other personal effects, being the personal effects accompanying any person, provided that such personal effects shall have been disinfected to the satisfaction of the health officer.

By His Excellency's command,

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE; }
Colombo, September 21, 1897.

MALAKAND.

No. 1430.—The following corrections are made to the Malakand Despatches published in G. G. O. No. 1089 of the 1st October 1897:—

Paragraph 9 of Brigadier-General Meiklejohn's despatch is reconstructed as follows:—

"On the right flank, the Buddhist road had been secured by the 45th (Rattray's) Sikhs, under Lieutenant-Colonel McRae, who had on the first alarm being sounded, despatched Major Taylor with a few sepoys to secure the gorge where the road reaches the top of the pass. Lieutenant-Colonel McRae followed immediately with some more men and joined Major Taylor, and leaving a small party as a connecting link, Lieutenant-Colonel McRae with Major Taylor and some 20 men advanced to the gorge, and almost immediately encountered the head of the enemy's column, numbering several hundred men, who were creeping silently up the Buddhist road. They opened a very hot fire on them, and the enemy at once broke into yells and screams and tried to rush them."

Paragraph 15 of Brigadier-General Meiklejohn's despatch, line 8, after "24th Punjab Infantry" add "and Sappers". Under heading "45th (Rattray's) Sikhs," line 2, for "29th" substitute "30th", and in line 5 for "and 28th" read "28th and 29th".

TOCHI.

No. 1432.—The Right Honourable the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letter from the Adjutant-General in India, submitting a despatch from Major-General G. C. Bird, C.B., Commanding the Tochi Field Force, describing the operations of that Force from June to November last.

The Field Force has, under Major-General Bird, fully carried out the objects of the expedition, and the Governor General in Council, in concurrence with His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, desires to express his high appreciation of the discipline, resolution, and patient endurance displayed by all ranks under the severe trials to which they have been exposed.

From MAJOR-GENERAL G. DEC. MORTON, C.B., Adjutant-General in India, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,—(No. 2552-F, dated Fort William, the 17th December 1897).

I have the honour, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to forward, for the information of the Government of India, a despatch from Major-General G. C. Bird, C.B., Commanding the Tochi Field Force.

2. This force was despatched to hold the Tochi Valley and to punish the sections of the Darwesh Khel Waziris concerned in the treacherous attack on the Political Officer's escort on the 10th June 1897. The force has accomplished the object for which it was detailed, and the tribesmen have submitted to the terms imposed by the Government of India. Although practically unopposed by the enemy, the duties devolving on the troops have been of an unusually trying nature owing to the unhealthiness of the climate.

3. Amidst much sickness, which has resulted in a heavy death-roll, the good discipline, the endurance, and the soldierly qualities of all ranks have been most marked, and are, in the opinion of the Commander-in-Chief, deserving of high commendation.

4. His Excellency would draw attention to the excellent work which the Medical Department is reported to have performed during the operations, and to the good service rendered by the other departments of the force and by the officers whose names are mentioned in the despatch.

5. I am desired to add that the Commander-in-Chief considers much credit is due to Major-General Bird for the manner in which he has conducted the operations committed to his charge.

From MAJOR-GENERAL G. CORRIE BIRD, C.B., Commanding the Tochi Field Force, to the Adjutant-General in India,—(No. 2365-A, dated Camp Datta Khel, the 25th November 1897).

I have the honour to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, the following report on the operations of the Tochi Field Force.

2. The object with which the Force was sent up was to punish the Madda Khel section of the Darwesh Khel Waziris concerned in the attack on the Political Officer's escort at Maizar on the 10th June 1897. On that occasion out of a force composed of 12 sabres, two mountain guns and 300 rifles, with 6 British officers, the losses sustained amounted to 3 British officers killed and the remaining 3 wounded (two of whom have since died), one Native officer killed, 22 non-commissioned officers and men killed and 25 wounded.

3. I arrived at Bannu on the 21st June and assumed command. The force was composed as follows:—

Commanding:—Brigadier General C. C. Egerton, C.B., D.S.O.

2nd Battalion, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

1st Sikh Infantry, Punjab Frontier Force.

1st Punjab Infantry, Punjab Frontier Force.

One squadron, 1st Punjab Cavalry, Punjab Frontier Force.

6 guns, No. 3 (Peshawar) Mountain Battery, Punjab Frontier Force.

No. 2 Company, Bengal Sappers and Miners.

Commanding:—Brigadier-General W. P. Symons, C.B.

3rd Battalion, Rifle Brigade.

6th Bengal (Light) Infantry.

14th (The Ferozepore Sikh) Bengal Infantry.

25th (Punjab) Bengal Infantry.

One squadron, 1st Punjab Cavalry, Punjab Frontier Force.

4 guns, No. 6 (Bombay) Mountain Battery.

Troops:—100 sabres, 1st Punjab Cavalry.

Of the above troops three regiments of infantry, four guns and two squadrons were already in the Tochi Valley. The General Officer Commanding the 1st Brigade left Bannu on the 1st July, and assumed temporary command in the valley. On 6th July I issued final orders for the onward move.

4. The Highlanders arrived at Bannu on the 7th and the Rifle Brigade on the 8th July, completing the force. The long march from Kushalgarh, performed at the hottest time of year along a waterless frontier, was, in my opinion, a very great trial of discipline and endurance but all corps did it within the specified dates. I left Bannu on the 8th July for the Tochi next day I met Mr. Anderson, C.S.I., Commissioner of the Derajat, at Miran Shah, and assumed political control of the valley. The Commissioner left the same day for Bannu.

5. During the advance of the various corps from the base to concentrate at Datta Khel, no opposition was offered, but several posts were fired into by night, resulting in one sepoy of the 14th Sikhs and one sepoy of the 1st Punjab Infantry being killed; two camp followers were also wounded. Brigadier-General Egerton and staff were fired on near Boya. Some Powindah camel contractors, who, by the terms of their contract, travel without guards and march as they please, were also attacked, and, in addition to animals taken, one sarwan was killed and three wounded. One party of marauders was pursued from Boya and 51 men captured and brought into camp. On the 16th July a large gang of Mahsuds drove off some contract camels at graze without guard near Idak; they were promptly followed up and attacked at dusk, and the camels recovered. One sepoy of the 6th Bengal Infantry was dangerously wounded and had his leg amputated.

6. On the 13th July I issued a proclamation to the tribes in accordance with the orders of Government. This set forth that it was my intention to destroy all the fortified kots in Maizar and Sheranni, whether resistance was offered or not, and that the force would remain at Maizar or some convenient spot near it, under my command, as long as should seem desirable to the Government of India. It was also stated that the object was to punish only those who were in any way responsible for or took part in the treacherous attack on the British troops on the 10th June, but that any further unfriendly acts by whomsoever committed would be severely dealt with.

7. On the 20th July the 1st Brigade, with the exception of the 33rd Punjab Infantry, with two guns of No. 6 (Bombay) Mountain Battery, under Brigadier-General Egerton, advanced on Sheranni. I accompanied this force. Sheranni was found to be deserted, and the 1st Punjab Cavalry moving on at once to Maizar, found it had been evacuated; one armed Madda Khel was shot. The name "Maizar" is applied generally to that part of the Shawal Valley, and includes numerous large fortified villages and a great deal of cultivation, watered by an excellent system of water-ways carried along the hill-sides. Some 500 men had kept abreast of the rear guard on the hills to the south, but disappeared as the force neared Sheranni.

8. On the 21st July the destruction of the fortified kots of Sheranni was commenced, and within ten days all such defences as far as Termor on the Tochi were levelled. Over 7,000 maunds of bhusa, some grain and a good number of arms and some Government and private property lost at Maizar were found. The troops worked admirably. During the first fortnight of the occupation of Sheranni, the camp was constantly fired into at night, resulting in one man of the Highlanders being wounded and two mules killed; the use of star shell on the first night of firing and the posting of surprise parties outside the intrenchment so disconcerted the enemy, that their subsequent efforts were confined to shooting from longer ranges. On the night of the 20th July a Powindah camel driver was killed and two wounded near Islam Chauki; there was no post occupied by our troops near to this.

9. On the 22nd July I visited Maizar, and went over the scene of the fighting of the 10th June; the gun and baggage mules were still lying where they had been shot; every village in the settlement was deserted; some 6,000 maunds of bhusa, which was eventually carried away for our transport animals, and numerous articles of Government and private property were found. This same day two columns under Lieutenant-Colonel Gray, 1st Punjab Infantry, and Major Kemball, Deputy-Assistant-Quarter-Master-General for Intelligence, left Sheranni to surprise some Madda Khels reported to be harbouring in Termor. Major Kemball's column was fired on just across the Tochi, and Subadar Gulfaraz, 1st Sikhs, was severely wounded in the shoulder. Only a few of the enemy were met and one of them killed. From the date of arrival at Sheranni, daily reconnaissances and survey parties were sent out in all directions, and the entire country thoroughly searched and surveyed.

10. On the 26th July the demolition of the villages in the Maizar and Upper Tochi valleys was begun, and within a month all the fortified kots had been destroyed. The troops, British and Native, vied with one another in this arduous duty, performed under a fierce sun and frequently amidst monsoon storms. On the 28th July Brigadier-General Egerton reconnoitred with two battalions and four guns as far as Dotoi, on the Tochi, and close to the Afghan boundary-pillars. The villages had been recently occupied. Some of the enemy were seen on the hills, and fired on our main body, but were driven off by a few volleys. On the 30th July a strong reconnaissance went up the Shawal Valley as far as Pangai; the inhabitants had fled, but a good many looted articles were found in the villages. A few shots were fired at the column, which were replied to; a good deal of grain and bhusa were brought in. Several reconnaissances were later made to Dotoi, which effectually kept the Madda Khels out of the valleys.

11. On the 3rd August a band of Waziris, estimated at 150, appeared on the low hills near Kajuri, and opened fire on the post, garrisoned by 50 rifles of the 6th Bengal Infantry; a small party, assisted by the escort of a passing convoy, attacked and drove them across the Tochi; our casualties nil; the enemy had one man killed. On the 7th August Major Grover, Deputy-Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, and Brigade, with 30 rifles of the 6th Bengal Infantry and a few sowars of the 1st Punjab Cavalry, dispersed a small gathering of Mahsuds near Kajuri, killing one and wounding three men. During August small columns from all posts on the Line of Communications regularly scoured the whole country north and south of the Tochi river. A party of 40 sabres of the 1st Punjab Cavalry was fired on near Maizar by Madda Khels on the 17th August, and next day again had their main water-courses cut, and commenced the cutting of their ripening crops, and from this date onward for two months a regular daily supply of green fodder was brought in by the transport; this was far the heaviest punishment that could be inflicted on the tribesmen, more especially as they had been down nightly to water their crops, in the hope of eventually reaping them should a settlement be arrived at.

On the 19th August an attack was made by some Tori and Jelal Khels on the mail ekka between Miram Shah and Idak. The enemy, who numbered about 50, lay in ambush; two sepoy of the 25th Punjab Infantry, who were escorting the mails, were killed, and a native telegraph signaller was killed and a follower wounded; one of the Waziris was killed, and several are reported to have been wounded.

12. A column under command of Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon'ble M. Curzon, Rifle Brigade, proceeded from Sheranni to Landi Khel on the 1st September, to construct a mule road along the Tochi to Dotoi. The column was out a week. The camp was frequently fired into at night, but no casualties occurred. A small column from Miram Shah was fired on from some steep hills on the 2nd September and one sepoy of the 6th Bengal Infantry killed; a few transport animals were also killed and wounded by night firing at Idak.

13. On the 23rd August a strong column under Brigadier-General Egerton moved into the Kazha Valley. I accompanied the column. All the country as far as the Afghan border and to the west of Stara Bibi was surveyed. The troops returned to Sheranni on the 28th August. Early in September I was informed that some Madda Khels were being harboured in the Kazha and in consequence on the 11th of that month, a force consisting of the troops in margin, under the command of Brigadier-General Symons, proceeded up the valley. I joined the column at Ghazlamai. On the 13th September Brigadier-General Symons, with 800 infantry and unaccompanied by animals of any kind, made a night march from Pirakai to surprise the Dadam settlement of villages close to the Afghan border and said to belong to Sadda Khan, the head of the Madda Khels. The surprise was complete; only a few shots were fired and 270 head of cattle and sheep were brought in. A fine of Rs. 1,000 was taken in cattle; some arms were also captured. This was a most arduous day's duty, 26 miles being covered, the highest village reached being over 8,000 feet. The guns and baggage had followed at daylight and were overtaken by a mountain flood in a gorge, and had a narrow escape; one mule was drowned and some ammunition and stores lost. A gunner of the 3rd Mountain Battery very pluckily saved a comrade, for which he has been recommended for the Humane Society's medal. On the same day a sepoy was attacked by a Waziri, who was at once shot down. On the 19th September Brigadier-General Symons left the column for Tirah. On the 22nd September Subadar-Major Wali Khan, 2nd Punjab Infantry, one of my Native Assistant Political Officers, with a small party, surprised the village of Toda China in the Sartoi Valley, and brought in a Madda Khel who was wanted, and 68 head of cattle.

The kots of Nur Shah and Pir Shah (Madda Khels wanted for the Maizar affair) on the Bibi Algad were destroyed on the 26th September, and all their crops cut. This same night a Waziri was shot near Idak post.

14. Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon'ble M. Curzon assumed command of the 2nd Brigade on the 2nd October. On the 4th October a column* left Sheranni to search the Zawe, Shawal and China valleys. After passing Landi Khel a survey escort of 100 men was fired on from the slopes of Charmina and a sharp fire kept up; two sepoy of the 1st Sikhs were slightly wounded and one of the enemy hit.

On the 9th and 10th the rear guard was fired on and a camel killed. On the 12th October a small reconnaissance party of cavalry accompanying Major Digby, R.E., and some other engineer officers, who were out reconnoitring the road for next day's march, were fired on from both sides of a steep nullah; Lieutenant Hingston, Royal Engineers, was slightly wounded, and his horse killed; one sowar of the 1st Punjab Cavalry and a horse were wounded, and the enemy, then firing at long range into the camp, wounded one follower and killed a mule. The mountain guns and a few volleys from camp soon cleared the heights. A Madda Khel was shot this same day near Termor, and on the 17th the water channels at Maizar, which had been restored by night, were again destroyed.

15. On the 20th October a few sabres of the 1st Punjab Cavalry and 200 of the 1st Punjab Infantry, under Major Willcocks, Assistant-Adjutant-General, made a night march and surprised the large village of Mamiroga, near the Mahsud border, and brought in a Madda Khel wanted for Maizar and a man who had harboured him, with their cattle and sheep. Three small columns made a raid up the Shawal Valley on the 23rd October, and surprised a party of the enemy who had taken refuge there; the 33rd Punjab Infantry was fired on, and, returning the fire, killed two men, and the Highlanders shot a third. A good many cattle and sheep were captured.

On the 25th October Brigadier-General Egerton moved into the Kazha Valley, to examine and restore all the boundary pillars on the Afghan border between Dotoi and Laram, in accordance with instructions received from the Government of India. I joined this column the next day at Inzar Kach.

The incessant move of troops up all their valleys into their remotest villages was, at last beginning to weary the Madda Khels, who were without lands, houses or resting-places, and on the 29th October five headmen of Termor, who had joined in the attack of 10th June, gave themselves up unconditionally in my camp at Inzar Kach, and these were followed on the 31st by Sadda Khan, the head of the tribe, and his brother Shadam and four maliks of Sheranni. Sadda Khan alone was promised that he would not be executed or transported. The arms and property looted at Maizar are being brought in daily, and will probably all be given up very shortly.

At the end of October some night firing into Sheranni took place, and in consequence parties of the 1st Sikhs lay up in Termor and surprised the raiders, killing two men, one of whom turned out to be Sadda Khan's cousin. This was the enemy's last attempt to molest us.

16. On the 28th October Major Kemball, Deputy-Assistant-Quarter-Master-General for Intelligence, accompanied by Lieutenant Pirrie, Survey Officer, and an escort of 30 sabres, two guns and 250 rifles, left Miram Shah to fill in the unsurveyed portion of the country north of that post and between Thal and the Tochi Valley. This column returned to Idak on the 8th November, having reached within five miles of Thal and thoroughly surveyed all the intervening country and the Baran Pass. On the 4th November Brigadier-General E. S. Brook assumed command of the 2nd Brigade, vice Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon'ble M. Curzon invalided home.

17. On the 30th October the 3rd Battalion Rifle Brigade, which had been in this valley four months, left Bannu for India. This fine corps had been the victim of an epidemic of dysentery and enteric fever, and had lost three officers and 75 non-commissioned officers and men, besides a very large percentage of officers and men invalided or left behind in the field hospitals. I cannot bear too high testimony to the discipline which cheerfully endured and the pluck which combated the scourge during a long and trying season, and the battalion carried away with it the regrets of the whole force at the losses they had sustained.

18. With the submission of the tribe, the military operations practically ended. The orders I had received have been carried out. The kots of Sheranni, Maizar and all the villages in those valleys have been destroyed. Dreplari (the original village which commenced the attack of the 10th June) has been levelled. The waterways have been rendered temporarily useless, and some 20,000 maunds of bhusa, a considerable quantity of grain and many hundred cattle, sheep, etc., have been taken, and lastly, crops sufficient to feed the main portion of the transport of the First Brigade for three months have been cut or eaten up. It will be some years before the Madda Khels can recover from the damage done them.

19. The losses by disease have, I regret to say, been very heavy, 3 British officers and over 100 British soldiers have died from sickness, besides 50 Native soldiers and many followers. Great numbers have been invalided or are still in hospital. The troops notwithstanding these trials have worked cheerfully and done their duty splendidly, and I thoroughly endorse the high opinion formed of them by the General Officers commanding brigades, and would here place on record my high appreciation of their discipline and soldierly qualities.

20. The Medical Department has been exceptionally hard worked throughout the expedition, and my best thanks are due to all ranks of the profession. The Commissariat-Transport has worked smoothly and without a hitch of any kind; the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of this Department, more especially those who have borne the burden and heat of the day along the Line of Communications, are deserving of commendation. The veterinary officers and subordinates have also worked admirably, and to them is, in large measure, due the excellent condition of the animals and the very small amount of sickness among them. The Intelligence Branch has reported on near 200 miles of routes, and gazetted the whole country over which the force has operated. The Survey Department has completed an accurate survey over 920 square miles of country, and triangulation has been carried over 800 square miles. The other departments with the force, the Ordnance, Pay, etc., have been very satisfactory.

21. By the "Scheme of Operations" the movements of the force were practically limited to the country south-west and west of Datta Khel; the operations have, however, in fact extended over all the country south of Datta Khel to the Mahsud border, which has of necessity been the limit in that direction. To the south, the west and northwards from Datta Khel columns have continuously been on the move searching every valley and village up to the Afghan border. The boundary line has of course been the refuge which all have availed themselves of; being so invitingly close at hand, the tribesmen have time after time after firing on our columns, re-crossed into Afghan territory to wait a fresh opportunity.

I learnt at the very beginning of the expedition (and this has since been confirmed by Sadda Khan) that when our troops advanced into the Tochi Valley, the Gar Madda Khels as a body took refuge in Afghan territory to the north-west of Charkhel, between boundary-pillars Nos. 3 and 8, and here they remained. Only a few raiders at a time came down to fire into our camps, or occasionally water their fields by night. Recently, when the cold became very severe, they broke up and took refuge in Birmal, Jadran, Tanni and Khost, and this explains the impossibility of inflicting any serious injury on the tribe in the field; nevertheless their existence has been a precarious one, and they have been taught that the demands of Government must, in the end, be acceded to.

22. The list of casualties is attached; also a map showing all the country traversed by the various columns of the force.

23. In conclusion, I have the honour to submit, for the favourable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the names of the following officers:—

Lieutenant-Colonel J. E. Nixon, 18th Bengal Lancers, Assistant-Quarter-Master-General.—Is a Staff Officer of much ability and energy. He is a quick and accurate worker, and has, as senior officer of the staff, conducted his duties with tact and courtesy to all; he possesses the best qualities of a staff officer, and I trust his services may receive special recognition. He is an officer well worthy of advancement.

Major J. Willcocks, D.S.O., 1st Battalion, Leinster Regiment, Assistant-Adjutant-General.—Is a most capable and efficient officer; reliable and a hard worker; possessing a thorough knowledge of both staff and regimental duties; his services have been of the greatest value to me and the force generally. I bring his name to special notice for advancement in the service.

Lieutenant-Colonel G. Wingate, Chief Commissariat Officer.—I am much indebted to this officer for the good work he has performed. His energy and ready resource successfully overcame all difficulties, and to his sound judgment is due the efficient manner in which the department has worked. He is an executive officer of a high standard and specially deserving of recognition. He has been ably assisted by the officers of the department, amongst whom I would specially bring to notice Captain H. James, Captain C. H. Clements and Major C. V. W. Williamson.

The Medical Department has been administered by Surgeon-Colonel R. H. Carew, D.S.O., Army Medical Staff, and I would bring to special notice the names of the following officers for good work performed :—

Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel W. A. Simmonds and Surgeon-Major H. C. Hudson, both of the Indian Medical Service, and Surgeon-Captain L. P. Mumby, M.B., Army Medical Staff.

Major G. V. Kemball, Royal Artillery, Deputy-Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, Intelligence Branch, is a very capable and energetic officer. His work has been most efficiently performed, and the information gained by him has invariably proved of great value. He is deserving of special recognition.

Major T. Digby, Royal Engineers, Commanding Royal Engineers, has performed all his duties to my entire satisfaction. His work is always certain, and he has been ably seconded by the officers and men under him.

Captain P. Malcolm, 4th Gurkhas, Provost Marshal, has carried out his duties with zeal and tact.

Captain G. W. Rawlins, 12th Bengal Cavalry, Superintendent, Army Signalling, is an officer of exceptional energy. Under him the signalling work of the force, which has been heavy and continuous, has been most efficiently performed, and great credit is due to him and the officers and men under his orders.

Lieutenant G. K. Cockerill, 28th Punjab Infantry, Field Intelligence Officer, has a complete knowledge of his duties, and is very thorough and reliable. He has done much valuable work for his department.

The officers of my personal staff, Captain H. M. Twynam, East Lancashire Regiment, Aide-de-Camp, Captain S. W. Scrase-Dickins, Highland Light Infantry, and Lieutenant G. R. Fitz R. Talbot, Royal Horse Artillery, Orderly Officers, have rendered me every assistance.

Brigadier-General W. P. Symons, C.B., commanded the 2nd Brigade until transferred to Tirah. I had every reason to be thoroughly satisfied with him.

Brigadier-General C. C. Egerton, C.B., D.S.O., commanded the 1st Brigade throughout the operations, and is an officer of undoubted ability and energy. His wide experience and sound judgment were of much value to me on many occasions.

Colonel the Hon'ble M. Curzon, Rifle Brigade, commanded the 2nd Brigade for a short time after Brigadier-General Symons' departure, and carried out his duties to my entire satisfaction.

24. I wish to bring to notice the following commanding officers :—Lieutenant-Colonel C. Hogge, 33rd Punjab Infantry, Lieutenant-Colonel G. H. B. Coats, 25th Punjab Infantry, and Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) J. A. H. Pollock, 1st Sikhs.

25. Of the officers who have been specially brought to notice by General Officers Commanding Brigades, I would mention the following :—

1st Brigade { Brevet-Major F. Wintour, Royal West Kent Regiment, Deputy-Assistant-Quarter-Master-General.

{ Captain H. B. B. Watkis, 31st Punjab Infantry, Deputy-Assistant-Adjutant-General.

2nd Brigade { Major M. H. S. Grover, 2nd Punjab Cavalry, Deputy-Assistant-Quarter-Master-General.

{ Captain J. Mac N. Walter, Devonshire Regiment.

Lieutenant-Colonel D. S. Cuninghame, 1st Punjab Cavalry, Road Commandant, has conducted his duties as such to my satisfaction.

26. The following warrant and non-commissioned officers have performed excellent service :—

Sub-Conductor J. Wiggins, Military Secretary's Office,—Head Clerk, Divisional Office.

Staff Sergeant E. H. Chapman, Punjab Command Office.

Staff Sergeant T. Taylor, Intelligence Branch.

Conductor P. Phillips, Commissariat Department.

Sergeant W. Kemp, Commissariat Department.

3rd Class Assistant-Surgeon H. C. Thompson, Indian Sub-Medical Department.

489, 1st grade Hospital-Assistant Abdullah, Indian Sub-Medical Department.

Conductor G. W. Gurr, Ordnance Department.

27. I desire to record my recognition of the assistance afforded me by Mr. R. E. Younghusband, C.S., who has been Chief Political Officer of the expedition throughout. I trust his services may receive suitable recognition. My thanks are also due to the other Civil officers, Mr. J. Lorrimer and Mr. A. B. Kettlewell, who accompanied the Field Force.

For the good work done by the Telegraph Department I would record my special thanks. A new line was constructed from Bannu to Datta Khel most expeditiously by Lieutenant Green, Royal Engineers.

I would commend the work done by the Postal Department under Mr. W. T. Van Someren as worthy of recognition. Work was carried on without a hitch.

I would express the obligation of the Force to the following chaplains :—Reverend F. J. Montgomery, M.A., Church of England, Reverend J. Cameron, Church of Scotland, and Reverend W. G. Rumboldt, Roman Catholic Chaplain.

The 27th December, 1897.

No. 1332.—The following rules prescribed in the Resolution of the Government of India, in the Finance and Commerce Department, No. 1439-S.R., dated the 27th March, 1895, for the custody, supply, and sale of all kinds of stamps and stamped papers, in supersession of all previous rules on the subject, are published for general information. Those portions of the rules which apply to General and Court Fee stamps are adopted and issued by the Chief Commissioner, Ajmere-Merwara, under the authority conferred on him by section 55 of the Indian Stamp Act of 1879 and section 27 of the Indian Court Fees Act of 1870:—

SEPARATE REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

STAMPS.

The 29th January, 1897.

Rules for the custody, supply, and sale of Stamps of all descriptions namely, General Stamps used to denote the duties payable under the Stamp Act, 1879; Court Fee Stamps used to denote the fee payable under the Court Fees Act, 1870; Telegraph Stamps and Postage Stamps.

CENTRAL DEPÔTS.

1. There shall be three central depôts for stamps of all descriptions in charge of the Superintendent of Stamps at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, respectively. These central depôts shall maintain a stock of stamps sufficient for two years' consumption. The Superintendents of Stamps in Madras and Bombay shall, for this purpose, forward, not later than the last week in September in each year, indents for the supply of the various descriptions of stamps required in the following year for the territories dependent on them for the supply of stamps to the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta. The Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, shall prepare a general consolidated indent for stamps of all descriptions, showing separately the demand for the following year for each of the three presidencies, including in it the indents of the Superintendents of Stamps, Madras and Bombay, and shall forward this general indent to the Government of India in the Finance Department for transmission to the Secretary of State, so as to reach him not later than the 1st November in each year. The Superintendent should forward a copy of the section of the general indent relating to Postage stamps to the Director-General of the Post Office, and of the section relating to Telegraph stamps to the Director-General of Telegraphs.

2. Stamps for the Bengal Presidency, including the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Panjab, Central India, Rajputana, Assam and Burma, and local depôts subordinate to Calcutta, and stamps for copies for use in the Central Provinces, shall be supplied from the central depôt, Calcutta, on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.
3. Stamps for the Madras Presidency, including Coorg and local depôts subordinate to Madras, shall be supplied from the central depôts at Madras on the indent of the officers in charge of local depôts.
4. Stamps for the Bombay Presidency, including Sind, Berar, the Central Provinces (save as provided in rule 2), and local depôts subordinate to Bombay, shall be supplied from the central depôt, Bombay, on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.
5. The Superintendents of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, on receiving an indent from a local depôt, shall have the indent examined to ascertain that the indent is such as to insure the local depôt having a proper supply, and may comply with the indent in full or in part, as he thinks fit. If he thinks that the indent should be increased, he should request the officer who submitted the indent to submit a supplementary indent. The Presidency Post Offices of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay may indent for supplies on the central depôts.

LOCAL DEPÔTS.

6. Every treasury throughout India, including those attached to political and salt agencies, shall be a local depôt for the custody and sale of stamps of all descriptions. Local Governments may establish local depôts at places where there is no treasury.
7. Each local depôt shall, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, maintain a supply of stamps equal to the probable consumption of five months. Local Governments may direct that the supply to be maintained, either generally or in respect of any particular kind of stamp or in certain local depôts, shall be equal to the probable consumption of such other period as they deem expedient.
8. As soon as the number of stamps in the local depôt falls below the number issued from the depôt in the preceding six months, the officer in charge of the depôt shall prepare an indent for a supply equal to the probable consumption of three months. The indent shall show in separate columns for each denomination of stamp of which a supply is required, the total of the balance in the local depôt and any branch* depôt subordinate to it, the quantity sold in the preceding six months, and the quantity indented for, which should be approximately one-half of the quantity sold in the preceding six months. The periods of "six months" and "three months" of this rule may, like that of five months in Rule 7, be altered by Local Governments to such other periods as they may deem expedient. This indent will be forwarded direct to the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay or Calcutta, as the case may be; but the Local Government of any province may direct that the indents shall be forwarded through any other officer, such as the Superintendent of Stamps of the province, or that a copy of the indent shall be forwarded to such officer.
9. If the supply of stamps in any local depôt should run short before the receipt of the supply from the central depôt, the officer in charge of the local depôt should indent for a supply from a neighbouring depôt sending a copy of the indent to the Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps of the province, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct. It is the duty of the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay or Calcutta, to report to the Local Government (or such authority as the Local Government may direct) in the case of General and Court Fee stamps, to the Director-General of the Post Office in the case of Postage stamps, and to the Director-General of Telegraphs in the case of Telegraph stamps, any case in which it may come to his knowledge that the stock of stamps in any local depôt of any description has fallen below the prescribed amount.
10. As soon as possible after the arrival of a supply of stamps from the central depôt or from another local depôt, the officer in charge of the local depôt shall have the boxes or packets opened in his presence, and the contents of each box or packet counted, either by himself or in his presence, immediately on being opened. The number of stamps received shall be compared by the officer in charge with the submitted invoice, and a receipt shall be sent as soon as possible to the officer who despatched the stamps.
11. Local Governments may issue such orders as may be thought necessary regarding the detailed counting of stamps received in a local depôt, and as to the descriptions of stamps which the officer in charge must count with his own hands. Such orders may include instructions that a certain percentage only of sealed packets, marked as containing a certain number of stamps, need be opened and counted at the time of receipt, and the remainder, if the percentage opened are all found correct, left with seals unbroken to be counted as they are required on being given out from double lock. The officer in charge is responsible for observing any such instructions, and for satisfying himself as to the number of stamps received before signing the receipt.

* For branch depôts the figures of the latest periodical return received at the local depôt, showing details of stamp balances, may be used for the purpose of calculating the total required for entry in each column.

12. If any of the stamps received are found to be unfit for issue, they should be at once returned to the Superintendent of Stamps. Stamps which are through any accident rendered unfit for issue at any time after receipt should be similarly returned to the Superintendent as soon as their unfitness is discovered. The necessary entries on account of stamps so returned should be made in the monthly statement (Rule 34), and in the plus and minus memoranda (Rule 36).
13. Immediately after the stamps received have been counted, they shall be placed in proper receptacles in the store under double lock, arranged in parcels or packets containing known quantities, the amount of each denomination being entered in a register maintained to show the receipts and issues to and from the store under double lock.
14. The treasurer, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct, shall be the ex-officio vendor of all descriptions of stamps in each local depôt. Sales to the public or to licensed vendors shall not be made direct from the stores under double lock, such sales being made by the ex-officio vendor from the supply entrusted to him for this purpose to be kept by him under single lock, as prescribed in the following rules.
15. The stock to be made over to the ex-officio vendor to be kept by him under single lock should ordinarily be sufficient for the probable demand of one month. On a fixed date near the beginning of each month the ex-officio vendor shall prepare an indent for the quantity required for the month in a form showing the balance in his hands, an average month's consumption, and the quantity required. When this indent is approved by the officer in charge, who should examine the balance under single lock, and ascertain that the quantities shown agree with the quantities shown in the indent, he shall give out the quantity required from the store under double lock. The same procedure shall be followed if any stamps should be required at any intermediate date. Local Governments may reduce the period of one month mentioned in this rule to one week or any other period less than a month, if they consider this desirable with reference to the amount of the treasurer's security or for any other reason.
16. From the stock so made over to his charge and kept by him under single lock, the ex-officio vendor shall sell stamps to the public and to licensed vendors for cash. He shall keep, in such language as the Local Government may direct, an account of the daily sales for each of the four descriptions of stamps, in a form showing for each denomination the balance in his hand at the beginning of the day, the quantity sold during the day, and the balance in his hand at the end of the day. He shall pay daily into the treasury the cash received by him for stamps sold, the amount realised on account of each of the four descriptions of stamps—namely, General, Court Fee, Postage and Telegraph—being paid in separately. The account of daily sales should be inspected every day by the officer in charge of the depôt.
17. The rules regulating the grant of discount and the grant of licenses to licensed vendors for the sale of General and Court Fee stamps vary in different provinces, and are prescribed by Local Governments, subject to the general rule that no change in the rates of discount shall be made without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.
18. Local Governments may direct that the sales to the public of General and Court Fee stamps by ex-officio vendors shall be limited to stamps of a value higher than a named amount, the sale to the public of stamps of lower value being left to licensed vendors.
19. Telegraph stamps shall be sold to the public for cash by the ex-officio vendors, provided that the quantity of stamps sold to one person at one time shall not be less in value than Rs. 5, and that the quantity sold shall not include less than one rupee worth of any particular denomination. On such sales no discount is allowed.
20. Telegraph Masters shall obtain supplies of Telegraph stamps from the local depôts, subject to the same conditions in regard to the quantity supplied at one time as those of the preceding rule, and shall sell to the public Telegraph stamps of all descriptions and to any value. No discount is allowed to Telegraph Masters for the sale of stamps; but they are allowed permanent advances of Telegraph stamps without payment, the amount of the permanent advance being fixed by the Director-General of Telegraphs. When the permanent advance of Telegraph stamps has once been taken, subsequent issues to Telegraph Masters are made only on cash payment. But when the local depôt is closed for holidays of more than one day's duration, officers in charge of local depôts are authorised to issue Telegraph stamps to Telegraph Masters, without payment in excess of the value of the permanent advance, these temporary advances being adjusted when the treasury reopens, by the return of the stamps or the payment of their value if sold.
21. Service Postage stamps shall be sold for cash from local depôts to Government officials and to persons specially authorised to purchase and use service stamps on a written application. On such sales no discount is allowed.
22. Ordinary Postage stamps shall be sold to the public for cash from local depôts, provided that the value sold to any person at one time shall not be less than Rs. 5, and shall not include any fraction of a rupee, and that embossed envelopes and post-cards shall be sold in complete packets only. No discount is allowed on such sales. Soldiers' envelopes are sold from certain selected local depôts only to Commanding Officers in complete packets, no discount being allowed.

23. The officer in charge of every post office, receiving office, tahsil, thána and police station, at which letters are received for despatch, and every person licensed, under the rules framed under the Stamp Act, 1879, to sell General stamps, are required to keep a supply of ordinary Postage stamps for sale to the public sufficient for the probable demands of one week. To such persons ordinary Postage stamps, except soldiers' envelopes, are sold from local depôts for cash on the same conditions as to quantity as those prescribed in the preceding rule; and on such sales discount at the rate of, quarter of an anna in the rupee is allowed.
- A special extra commission of  $\frac{1}{4}$  anna in the rupee has been sanctioned, with effect from 11th November 1892, on all sales of the large size registration envelope.
24. The officers in charge of post offices, receiving offices, tahsils, thánas, and police stations at which letters are received for despatch, are also required to keep a supply of one anna Revenue stamps for sale to the public. To such officers one anna Revenue stamps are sold from local depôt on the same conditions as to quantity as those prescribed in Rule 23. On such sales discount at the rate of one-half anna in the rupee is allowed.
25. A District Officer may authorise the grant of discount at the rate of quarter of an anna in the rupee to any bond fide retail vendor of ordinary Postage stamps, provided he is not employed in a Government treasury. Such authority shall be in writing, and shall remain in force for one year. It may contain conditions in all or any of the following respects, namely, the maintenance of a sufficient supply of stamps of all or any specified denominations of Postage stamps for retail sale; the sale of the stamps at one or more particular shops or places; and the prohibition of sales at other shops or places and the days and hours of sale. The District Officer shall keep a register showing the name, residence, and occupation of every person to whom he grants such authority.
26. Superintendents and Inspectors of post offices within their respective jurisdictions, and any other officers of the post office authorised on that behalf by the Postmaster-General or Deputy Postmaster-General, are empowered to examine the stock of Postage stamps kept by any of the persons required or authorised to keep Postage stamps for sale to the public under Rules 23 and 25.

BRANCH DEPOTS.

27. Every subordinate, branch or tahsil treasury shall be a branch depôt for the sale of stamps of all descriptions. But in any case where the sale of stamps from such a branch depôt is insignificant, and equal facilities exist for the supply of stamps from a depôt in the same station as the branch depôt, the Local Government may direct the closing of the branch depôt.
28. The sub-treasurer, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct, shall be the ex-officio vendor of stamps at a branch depôt.
29. The officer in charge of the branch depôt shall obtain his supplies from the local depôt to which the branch depôt is subordinate in the same manner as the ex-officio vendor at the local depôt obtains his supplies, except that the indent and the stamps must be sent by post or messenger to and from the local depôt; and that the examination of the balance in hand and the comparison of the amounts shown with those shown in the indent shall be done by the officer in charge of the branch depôt.
- In cases where there is likely to be a distinct saving of cost or greater security of the stamps in transit, the Local Government may empower the Board of Revenue or other superior Revenue authority, to sanction the despatch of stamps direct from the central depôts to branch depôts, such supplies being passed through the accounts of the local depôt treated by the Superintendent of Stamps as supplies to the local depôts to which the branch depôts are subordinate.
- The ex-officio vendor shall obtain his supplies from the officer in charge of the branch depôt, in the same manner as the ex-officio vendor at the local depôt obtains his supplies from the officer in charge.
30. The supply to be kept in a branch depôt should be equal to the probable demand for three months; but Local Governments may direct that the supply shall be equal to the demand of any other period instead of three months which they may consider expedient. The stock should be kept up to this amount by indenting and obtaining supplies from the local depôt from time to time as may be necessary.
31. Local Governments shall fix the period, a supply sufficient for which shall be kept under single lock by the ex-officio vendor, and the remainder of the stamps in the branch depôt shall be kept under double lock of the officer in charge of the branch depôt and of the ex-officio vendor, and given out to single lock as required.
32. Sales from branch depôts will be made subject to the same rules as those from local depôts.

NOTE.—In the case of all stamped envelopes or postal wrappers, the discount or commission is calculable on the face value of the stamp.

RETURNS TO AND BY THE SUPERINTENDENTS OF STAMPS AND ACCOUNTANTS-GENERAL.

33. On the last open day of September and March each year, the officer in charge of each local depôt will count, or have counted in his presence, the stamps in the depôt, both those under double lock and those under single lock, and will require the officers in

If there is any difference, add with the exception of the following differences ——— the explanation of which is as follows :—

34. Monthly statements showing the receipts and issues of each local depôt, including the transactions of the subordinate branch depôts, shall be prepared by the officer in charge of the local depôt, and forwarded in the first week of the succeeding month to the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, or the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in Rule 33, separate statements being prepared for General stamps, Court Fee stamps, Telegraph stamps, and Postage stamps. These statements shall show for each denomination of stamp the values of the balance in hand, at the beginning of each month, of the quantities received from the Superintendent of Stamps or other officer during the month, of the quantity sold during the month, and of the balance in hand at the end of the month. The statements may be forwarded direct to the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, or the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or through any officer named by the Local Government.
35. The statements shall be checked by the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, or by the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps or other officer specified in Rule 33, by comparison with previous statements and the accounts of the central depôts, and shall be used by him to check indentations and to watch the balances in the local depôts. If the monthly statements of transactions show that the balance of any kind of stamps in any local depôt is falling too low, the attention of the officer in charge should be called to the fact. To enable him to check the returns each local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in Rule 33, will be supplied by the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta or Bombay, with monthly statements showing the stamps issued to and returned by the local depôts subordinate to each.
36. Treasury Officers and other officers in charge of local depôts shall forward to the local Accountant-General or Comptroller such returns of the receipts and sales of stamps as the Comptroller-General may direct, in the form of plus and minus memoranda or otherwise.
37. Each Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in Rule 33, shall send to the Accountant-General or Comptroller such accounts of the transactions of the central and local depôts as the Comptroller-General may prescribe.
38. They shall also every six months intimate to the Accountant-General or Comptroller, for comparison with the amounts shown in the returns received from treasuries and other local depôts under Rule 36, the receipt of the certificates prescribed in Rule 33 and the amount of stock certified to be in balance in each local depôt.

39. The Comptroller-General shall prescribe such rules as he considers necessary for the disposal of the accounts mentioned in the foregoing rules, and for the check of the receipts, issues and sales.

40. The Local Governments in Bengal, Madras and Bombay shall arrange for a periodical verification by counting of the stock of stamps in the respective central depôts. The verification shall be carried out in the manner and form prescribed by the Comptroller-General, to whom the result will be reported.

41. The Superintendents of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, shall forward every month to the Director-General of the Post Office a statement showing the balances and receipts in the central depôt and the issues to each local depôt of Postage stamps during the month. Each Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in Rule 33 shall also send monthly to the Comptroller of the Post Office a statement of the sales during the past month of the several denominations of Postage stamps in the local and branch depôts subordinate to him. Each Accountant-General or Comptroller will, with his monthly account current with the Examiner of Telegraph Accounts, forward a statement showing the total realizations at each treasury from the sales of Telegraph stamps during the month.

No. 1334.—In continuation of the Notification No. 1332 of this day's date, the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere-Merwara is pleased to issue the following directions supplementary to the rules for the custody, supply, and sale of stamps and stamped papers, published under the above notification.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO RULE 11.

In Ajmere-Merwara the officer in charge shall personally count with his own hands all stamps not received in sealed packets of the value of Rs25 and upwards. Stamps below the value of Rs25 which are not received in sealed packets with unbroken seals may be counted either by the officer in charge or in his presence. In the case of stamps received in sealed packets marked as containing a certain number of stamps, one packet in ten of each denomination shall be opened and counted at the time of receipt by the officer in charge or in his immediate presence. If all those counted be found correct, the remainder may be left, with seals unbroken to be counted when given out from custody, under double lock.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO RULE 13.

In Ajmere-Merwara the registers of receipts and issues of stamps from the store under double locks shall be in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by or with the sanction of the Chief Commissioner.

They shall be kept in bound books as follows :—

- (1) Court-fee No. I, one anna to Rs5.
- (2) „ No. II, from Rs100 to Rs1,000.
- (3) Non-Judicial.
- (4) Postage Stamp.
- (5) Service Stamp.
- (6) Postal Service.
- (7) Telegraph Stamp.
- (8) Receipt Stamp.
- (9) Foreign Bill Stamp.
- (10) Hundi Stamp.
- (11) Share Transfer Stamp.
- (12) Plain Paper.
- (13) General Book.

The entries in these books should be made either by the officer in charge of the local or branch depôt himself or at local depôts by the Stamp Mohurir at the time of putting in or taking out stamps, but in the latter event the entries must be personally checked off by the officer in charge as the stamps are put in or taken out. Every entry of receipt should correspond with the invoice and should show from whence the stamps were received, and every entry of issue should be vouched for by a passed Treasurer's or Tehvildar's indent. A balance should be struck after each entry at the time of receipt or issue, and attested by the signature or initials of the officer in charge and of the Treasurer or Tehvildar as the case may be, both of whom shall invariably be present during the whole time that the store under double locks or any part of it remains open.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO RULE 15.

In Ajmere-Merwara the period of one month fixed by this rule is reduced to one week.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO RULE 16.

In Ajmere-Merwara the register of receipts and issues of stamps under single lock shall be kept in Urdu, or in Hindi if the ex-officio vendor is not sufficiently acquainted with Urdu. The book shall be balanced daily and the balance shall be attested by the initials of the officer in charge of the local or branch depôt and the Treasurer or Tehvildar as the case may be. Before signing this register, the officer in charge shall see that all issues from the store under double locks have been brought to credit, and that the values of stamps written off as sold have been credited in the Treasury cash accounts. At the close of the last working day of each month an abstract showing briefly the transactions of the month and containing (1) opening balance, (2) receipts during month, (3) sales during month and (4) closing balance, should be entered in the register after the last entry. The officer in charge shall verify the entries and certify that he has personally examined and counted the stamps of all descriptions in store, and that the transactions during the month have been correctly recorded. The officer in charge of branch depôts shall thereafter send, without unnecessary delay, a transcript of the transactions during the month, authenticated by his signature, for incorporation in the district returns.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO RULE 31.

In Ajmere-Merwara the period referred to in this rule is fixed at two weeks.

By Order,

L. IMPEY, Captain,

First Assistant to the Agent to the Governor-General, Rajputana, and Chief Commissioner, Ajmere-Merwara.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. Gao. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to K. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The index is practically a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.
(FAMINE.)

Return of the number of persons in receipt of relief in districts affected by scarcity.

NOTE.—The figures are compiled from the Local Gazettes, and give the District details of the Provincial totals published weekly in the Crop and Weather survey in the Gazette of India.
For labouring children and other dependants of relief workers are classed as on relief works when distinguished in the local returns from persons gratuitously fed in poor-houses or at their homes.

Saturday, December 18th, 1897.

The unsettled weather which had set in over the Punjab and the North-West frontier at the close of the previous week continued but with steadily diminishing extent during the first three days of the present week, though the barometric depression with which it had been associated had wholly disappeared. On the 15th both rain and snow had wholly ceased and from that time fine weather prevailed until the close of the week with a gradually increasing temperature. The only other part of the Indian region where the weather has been disturbed during the week under review has been the extreme south. Rain was falling in Ceylon on the 12th and 13th, extended to a few places in Madras on the 14th, and continued to fall as scattered showers over the south of the Peninsula until the close of the week. In all other parts of the country the weather has been quiet and fine throughout. The unsettled weather in the north-west, giving snow to the hills and rain to the plains occasioned a brisk fall of temperature over the Punjab on the 12th, where the mean temperature was  $4\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$  below the average on that date. This fall of temperature gradually spread eastward and southward, and the weather was cooler than usual over the greater part of the country throughout nearly the whole week. The coolest day was the 17th, when all provinces except Burma reported a lower temperature than usual.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, December 12th.—Pressure had increased briskly to very rapidly over North-West India, and the depression which lay over the North-West Himalayas and the North Punjab on the 11th had wholly filled up. A large high pressure area overlay the greater part of the Punjab and of Rajputana. Elsewhere the pressure changes were slight or small and the general conditions were unchanged. Calms and light variable breezes prevailed over Northern and Central India, while north winds were reported from the Bay coasts and easterly winds over the west of the Peninsula. The mean temperature was low over the Punjab, Western Rajputana and Sind, as well as over Lower Burma and the north of the Peninsula. Snow had fallen at Chakrata, Simla, Murree and Kashmir, and rain at most places in the Punjab and the extreme west of the North-Western Provinces. At Lahore, Khushab, Rawalpindi and Cherat the fall exceeded one inch.

Monday, December 13th.—Pressure had increased slightly to rapidly over North-Western India and slightly over the west of the Peninsula, while it had fallen slightly over North-East India, Burma and the east and south of the Peninsula. Pressure was high in the north-west of India and low over the south of the Bay, and the pressure differences were greater than usual. North-westerly to westerly winds prevailed over North-Western and Northern India, northerly winds over the Bay area and easterly winds over the west of the Peninsula. The force was, light or moderate generally. The mean temperature was in slight to very large defect over the Punjab, Rajputana and Sind, in moderate defect over the central parts of the Peninsula, and generally higher than usual elsewhere. Light snow had fallen over the Kashmir and North-West Himalayas, and showers of rain were reported from Rawalpindi and Umrialla. Elsewhere in India and Burma the weather was quiet and fine.

Tuesday, December 14th.—Pressure had changed very little over India, but had risen rapidly in Kashmir. The general conditions of pressure were unchanged, and the barometric gradient between North-West India and the south of the Bay was much steeper than usual. The winds were practically unchanged. The temperature was slightly to very largely below the normal over North-West India and slightly to largely below over the north of the Peninsula, but was higher than usual elsewhere. Light snow had been received in Kashmir and light rain at Kurnool, Madras, Cuddalore and Negapatam.

Wednesday, December 15th.—The barometer had fallen briskly in parts of North-West India and changed only slightly elsewhere. The general conditions of pressure were unaltered and gradients remained steep over the Peninsula and the Bay. Calms and light variable airs had re-appeared in parts of North-West and Central India, but otherwise the winds were unaltered. The mean temperature was low except across the head of the Peninsula and in Bengal and Burma. The deficiency varied between 6° and 8° over the western desert and was 5° at Madras. Snow had ceased over the North-West Himalayas, but local showers continued to be reported from Madras.

Thursday, December 16th.—The barometer had given way everywhere. The change had however been slight except in the north-west, where it had been brisk. Barometric gradients were somewhat slighter, but pressure remained high in the north-west and low over the Bay. The winds remained generally unchanged. The mean temperature had risen and exceeded the normal in the Indus Valley and remained excessive over Burma, but elsewhere the weather was cooler than usual—largely so over Central India and Gujarat. Showers had again been received over the south of Madras.

Friday, December 17th.—The pressure changes were slight and the distribution of pressure unchanged. The winds were somewhat more north-westerly on the Orissa and Ganjam coasts than on the preceding day, but were otherwise unaltered. The temperature conditions were also unaltered. The only rainfall reported was a few showers in South Madras.

Saturday, December 18th.—There was again very little change to record in the pressure and winds. The area of high temperature in the north-west was extending, but in other respects the general conditions were little changed and the weather remained abnormally cool, except in the Punjab, Sind, the south of the Peninsula and Burma, where the heat was more or less excessive. Light rain had again been received at some southern stations.

Temperature.—Cool weather has prevailed very steadily over the greater part of India during the week under review while on the contrary over Burma the heat has been equally steadily excessive. From the north-west a cold wave started at the beginning of the week and rolled eastward and southward over Northern and Central India, but over the Peninsula the relative coolness appears to have been independent of this action and to have resulted from other causes.

The following table gives temperature data for the week :—

PROVINCE.	DECEMBER 1897.							Mean variation of week.
	12th	13th	14th	15th	16th	17th	18th
Burma . . . . .	—0·5	+0·8	+2·9	+4·0	+3·5	+3·3	+3·1	+2·4
Bengal and Assam . . .	+0·2	+0·4	+0·0	—0·5	—2·4	—4·3	—3·5	—1·4
North-Western Provinces and Oudh . . . . .	+1·6	+2·8	+0·4	—2·4	—4·0	—3·9	—2·6	—1·2
Punjab . . . . .	—4·0	—4·5	—4·1	—2·4	—2·0	—2·1	—0·2	—2·8
Bombay . . . . .	—0·8	—0·4	—0·3	—0·5	—1·7	—2·5	—2·8	—1·3
Central Provinces and Berar . . . . .	+0·2	+1·6	+1·4	—1·0	—3·3	—5·9	—4·7	—1·7
Central India and Gujarat . . . . .	+3·0	+1·8	—1·7	—5·3	—0·8	0·3	—3·5	—2·7
Sind and Rajputana . . . . .	+1·6	—3·4	—6·8	—5·8	—3·6	—1·3	+1·0	—2·6
Madras . . . . .	—0·9	—1·8	—0·4	—2·2	—3·0	—2·1	—2·4	—1·8
Mean for whole of India	0	—0·3	—1·1	—1·8	—2·6	—2·8	—1·7	—1·5

The above shows that the mean temperature of the whole country was normal on the 12th and below the normal on all other days, the coolest day being the 17th, a cool wave started in the extreme north-west on the 12th, reached Sind and Rajputana on the 13th, Gujarat and Central India on the 14th, and the North-Western Provinces and Bengal on the 15th, while over Madras and Bombay the weather was cooler than usual throughout the whole week. The provincial variations show that except in Burma the mean temperature of the week has been low in all parts of the country, the deficiency exceeding  $2\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$  in the Punjab, Central India, Gujarat, Sind and Rajputana.

Rain.—Practically the whole of the rainfall which occurred during the week under review was attributable to the unsettled conditions which advanced to North-Western India from regions further to the westward, at the close of the previous week. These unsettled conditions lasted, though with gradually decreasing extent and intensity during the first three days of the present week and extended from Baluchistan and the Indus Valley as far east as the West Submontane district of the North-Western Provinces. The fall of rain was fairly general over this area on the 12th of December, but was restricted to only one or two stations on the two following days, and after the 14th both rain on the plains and snow on the hills wholly ceased. In addition to the above a few light showers were received over the south of the Peninsula on different days during the week. With the exception of these two regions the weather has been rainless throughout the week.

The concluding table shows that ten of the rainfall divisions have received effective rain, the amount of the average rainfall ranging from 0.10" in Baluchistan and 0.12" in the South Punjab to 0.61" in the East Coast (south) to 0.74" in the North Punjab and to 1.04" in the Central Punjab. In addition to the abovementioned ten divisions there are three other divisions which received rain during the week, but in which the actual average amounts were less than one-tenth of an inch of rain. The rainfall in these three divisions was hence unimportant, and effective rain was only received in the south, central, submontane, hills, north and west divisions of the Punjab, Baluchistan, Malabar, the East Coast (south) and Madras (south).

The three concluding columns of the table show that for the period October 17th to December 18th the rainfall has been heavier than usual in ten divisions, viz., Tenasserim, Central Burma, Arakan, North and South Bihar, the east of the North-Western Provinces, the Central and West Punjab, the east of the Central Provinces and Baluchistan, has been normal in ten divisions viz., Upper Burma, Assam (Surma, Hills and Brahmaputra), Central Bengal, Orissa, Chota Nagpur, the East Submontane division of the North-Western Provinces, Sind and Hyderabad (South), and more or less short of the average in all the remaining divisions. The deficiency is large, both actually and relatively to the average over the east and south of the Peninsula.

The following totals for the week, though in most cases not large, are not unimportant, viz., 1.48" at Sharakpur (Lahore); 1.80" at Ramnagar (Gujranwala); 1.55" at Kharian (Gujrat); 1.68" at Chackwal (Jhelum); 1.11" at Hazara; 1.35" at Shahpur; 1.11" at Chinot (Jhang); and 8.81" at Vedaranyam (Tanjore).

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 25th December.—The rainfall was fair in parts of South Carnatic and Tanjore and on the Nilgiris; elsewhere it was slight or nil. The water-supply is generally insufficient for cultivation except in parts of the Northern Circars and the Deccan. More rain is required everywhere. Agricultural operations are general but are retarded in parts by want of rain. The wet crops in parts are in good condition, but the dry crops generally and the wet crops in parts are suffering for want of rain. The outturn of crops is generally middling to fair; but is bad in parts. Pasture is sufficient, and fodder is available. The condition of cattle is normal. Prices are rising slightly in Nellore and the southern group, elsewhere they are slightly easier. There is no improvement in prospects and the Carnatic and the adjoining tracts still give cause for anxiety. The numbers on relief were—Nellore test works—workers—463 men, 717 women, 601 children, total 1,786. Fed in kitchens—dependants—52 children—Others—men 4, women 5, total 101; grand total 1,837.

Bombay.—For week ending 27th December.—Rain is urgently wanted for the late crops which are withering in parts of Sholapur, Bijapur, and Dharwar. Jowari (Sorghum vulgare) has been damaged by blight or excessive cold in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, and Satara. Tur (Cajanus indicus) and cotton in one taluka of Broach and crops in two talukas of Shikarpur have been injured by locusts. The harvesting of the early crops is progressing in four, and sowing of the late crops in three, districts. Preparations for next season continue in three districts. Supplies of fodder and water are sufficient. The agricultural stock is healthy. Prices have fallen in eight districts and are almost stationary elsewhere. Prices in affected districts were—Belgaum 19½, Bijapur 15½, Sholapur 9½, and Poona 11½, seers per rupee. The average number on relief works, including dependants, was—Bijapur 965, Sholapur 9,687, Poona 5,749, Belgaum 798; total 17,199, of whom 16,313 are relief workers and 886 dependants. Of relief workers—5,635 are men, 7,746 women, and 2,932 children. Of dependants—24 are men, 60 women, and 802 children. On gratuitous relief—Sholapur 1,907, including 56 in poor-houses, Poona 3,199; total 5,106, of whom 1,714 are men, 1,875 women, and 1,517 children. Total number on relief:—22,305.

Bengal.—For week ending 27th December.—The weather was generally clear, but towards the end of the week it became cloudy in parts, and light showers are reported from Bankura, Backergunge, and Chittagong. The harvesting of the winter rice is being rapidly completed, and the outturn, taking the province as a whole, is estimated at 18 annas. All cold-weather crops promise well. The gathering of kalai pulse and the pressing of sugarcane have begun in some districts. Locusts appeared in parts of the Sonthal Parganas, but no damage to the crops is reported. There was a fall in the price of rice in some districts, but generally prices were stationary. Cattle are generally in good condition, but scarcity of fodder is still reported from Kurigram in Rangpur. There is a scarcity of drinking-water in the flooded tracts of Chittagong.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 29th December.—Seasonable weather prevails, but no rain has fallen though it is much wanted in many districts. Irrigation and weeding of the spring and poppy crops continue and prospects are generally favourable. There is no want of fodder for cattle and markets are well supplied with food-grains. Prices are stationary.

or are lower in all districts, except in Bareilly, Lucknow and Unao, where they have risen slightly.

Punjab.—For week ending 27th December.—Rainfall nil. The harvesting of autumn crops is nearly over. Sugarcane-pressing and cotton-picking are going on. Sowings of spring crops have been completed and in some districts large areas have been sown owing to recent rains. The outturn of sugarcane is reported to be good in Peshawar and that of cotton to be below average in Dera Ismail Khan. The standing spring crops promise well. The stocks of food grains are said to be scarce in parts of Amritsar. Cattle are generally in good-condition. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Dera Ismail Khan. Prices are generally high; they are slightly rising in Lahore and Peshawar, and are falling in Jullundur, Ferozepore, Amritsar, Rawalpindi and Dera Ismail Khan; the figures are unchanged in other districts. Wheat is selling from 10½ to 13, gram 11½ to 12, barley 16, great millet 18, maize 17 to 21, and bulrush millet 15 to 22, seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 27th December.—The weather is clear and cold with passing clouds in Chhattisgarh. The threshing and winnowing of autumn crops and picking of cotton continue; also the pressing of sugarcane with average yield. The general prospects of the spring crops are favourable, but the ordinary winter showers would be beneficial, especially to late sown crops and to those on high lying lands. Slight injury is reported to various crops from blight and frost in parts of Hoshangabad, Balaghat, Nimar and Chhindwara and some damage has been caused by insects in Bilaspur. Linseed is reported to have been damaged by rust and its germination to have failed in parts of the Drug tahsil of Raipur. Fodder is sufficient. The price of Juar (Sorghum vulgare) and rice continues to fall as the new crops come to market. The numbers on relief have now fallen to 13,000. The numbers on relief works were—Balaghat 1,225 and Bilaspur 37; total 1,262. The numbers on gratuitous relief were—Saugor 330, Damoh 335, Jubbulpore 726, Mandla 154, Seoni 53, Narsinghpur 44, Hoshangabad 333, Betul 72, Chhindwara 137, Bhandara 1,230, Balaghat 553, Raipur 2,187, and Bilaspur 4,526; total 11,914. Total number on relief:—13,176. There were also 11,901 persons employed on railway works. Details of relief workers—men 579, women 472, and children 211. Dependants—men 2, women 4, and children 42. Poor-houses—men 537, women 518, and children 2,616. Otherwise relieved—men 953, women 2,691, and children 4,512, with 39, unclassified. Wage prices—Balaghat 13, and Bilaspur 14, seers per rupee.

Burma.—For week ending 25th December.—In Lower Burma reaping and threshing are progressing and prospects continue very good. In Upper Burma the reaping of the wet-weather paddy and cultivation of the dry crops are progressing everywhere. The standing crops promise well except in Pakokku where they are poor, and in the Salin township of the Minbu district where some of the early paddy, maize and jowar crops are in bad condition for want of later rain. The price of paddy has risen considerably in Pakokku; slightly in Tharrawaddy, Thayetmyo, and Pegu; and has fallen in Rangoon; elsewhere it is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 29th December.—The weather is seasonable. The reaping of the late rice is in progress and the outturn is generally good. Sowing of pulses is over; that of mustard is still in progress in Lakhimpur. The condition of the sugarcane is good in Lakhimpur; elsewhere it is fair. Pruning of tea continues. Prices of common rice—Silchar 13, Sylhet 12½, Dhubri 11, Gauhati and Dibrugarh 10, Tezpur and Nowgong 9, and Sibsagar 12, seers per rupee. Fodder is scarce in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 27th December.—MYSORE: The standing crops are in good condition. Prices have risen slightly in Bangalore, Tumkur, and Hassan; and have fallen in Chitaldroog, Kadur, and Shimoga. Ragi (Eleusine coracana) has been harvested in Bangalore, Kolar, and Mysore.

COORG: The rice harvest and coffee-picking continue. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Betar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 27th December.—BERAR: The weather is cold. The harvesting of the monsoon crops continues. Cotton-picking is in progress. The winter crops are in good condition in most parts of the province. The fodder and water-supply are sufficient. No material change in prices of food-grains. Prices—Akola 18, Amraoti, 18½, Basim, 20, Buldana 16, Ellichpur 19, Wun 22, seers per rupee.

HYDERABAD: No rain during the week. The standing spring crops require rain urgently in many parts. The cold is reported to have damaged the jowari (Sorghum vulgare) in some places. Prices of food-grains are fairly steady, but have gone up in parts. Prices—wheat 5½, coarse rice 6½, and jowari 12 seers per current sicca rupee.

Central India.—For week ending 27th December.—No rain fell in Central India during the week. Rain is wanted in parts of the Bhopawar agency. Agricultural operations are in progress throughout Central India. The standing crops are in good condition. The agricultural stock is in good condition in all agencies and pasturage is available. Prices are steady in Gwalior and Baghelkhand and are falling in other agencies. The condition of the opium crop is good in Bhopal and Bhopawar and is fair in Malwa. No report received from Bundelkhand.

Rajputana.—For week ending 29th December.—Agricultural operations are in progress and standing crops are in good condition. Harvesting of autumn crops and sowing of spring crops continue. Agricultural stock is in fair condition in Meywar; good elsewhere. Pasturage or fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Kerowlee and Jeysulmere, falling in Jhallawar, Jeypore, Haraoti, Ulwar and Bikanir; are fluctuating in Pertabgarh and Meywar, and are steady elsewhere.

Kashmir.—For week ending 28th December.—The weather is fine. Prices continue a little below normal.

Nepal.—For week ending 27th December.—No rain. The weather is cold and frosty. Price—8½ seers per rupee.

The total numbers in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks were as follows:—

PENSIONS, ETC.

Calcutta, the 7th January 1898.

No. 89-P.

READ the following correspondence:—

Financial Resolution No. 1726, dated the 5th December 1883.

Letter to the Director General of the Post Office of India, No. 6745, dated the 31st December 1887.

Despatch to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 253, dated the 3rd September 1895.

Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 180 (Financial), dated the 31st October 1895.

RESOLUTION.—In the Resolution of the 5th of December 1883 read in the preamble, the Government of India, with the approval of the Secretary of State for India, sanctioned, as an experimental measure, the introduction, with effect from the 1st of February 1884, of a scheme for Life Insurance and Monthly Allowances to be worked by the agency of the Post Office, and confined to the employés of that Department; and in the letter of the 31st of December 1887, the scheme was, with the sanction of the Secretary of State for India, extended to the employés of the Telegraph Department.

2. In making these limited recommendations the Government of India informed the Secretary of State that, although the scheme was restricted at the outset to Postal employés, the eventual inclusion of all Government servants was contemplated. But, as the statistics regarding the expectation of native life were then too imperfect to permit of any very extended scheme of Life Assurance, and as the Secretary of State was of opinion that until the Fund had been in operation for at least ten years it would be difficult to form a definite opinion regarding the probability of its eventual success, its operations were confined to the employés of those two Departments only.

3. In the Despatch to the Secretary of State of the 3rd September 1895, the Government of India observed that the scheme had been in operation for eleven years; that it had worked well; that the financial position of the Fund was sound and improving; and that they were of opinion that the time had now arrived when a further development might be attempted with safety and advantage, by extending the scheme to other Departments of the Government service. They accordingly proposed (1) that the scheme should be extended to the members of all the Government establishments whose pay is audited in the Civil Account offices and to those members of establishments of the Military Department under audit of the Military Account offices who are subject to Civil Rules, and (2) that to the advantages already allowed by the scheme should be added a system of Endowment Assurance, which they considered to be specially suitable for Government servants who have to retire at a certain age upon a pension considerably less than the pay they have drawn up to that age.

4. These proposals having been sanctioned by the Secretary of State, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that, with effect from the 1st of February 1898, all Government servants whose pay is audited by the Civil or Military Account Department, and who are subject to the Civil Rules, shall be eligible to subscribe to the Postal Life Insurance, Endowment Assurance and Monthly Allowances Fund, in accordance with the Rules, approved by the Government of India, which will be issued by the Director General of the Post Office.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

Picric Acid.*

* NOTE.—When wholly in solution Picrates and Picric Acid are not deemed to be explosives.

Add—

The term also includes rifle-calibre machine-gun cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine-guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers.

The maximum gauge at which a small-arm cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch. The following are the gauges of the machine-gun cartridges which may be accepted as "safety":—

•303-inch cordite.

Martini-Henry rifle, solid case.

•45-inch Gardner, Gatling and Nordenfeldt, except Martini-Henry chambered guns.

•4-inch.

Cartridges of larger gauge are not safety cartridges.

Add—

Fuzes for shells, and friction tubes for guns, provided there be no more than five fuzes or 25 tubes in one package, and that the package be a hermetically sealed metal cylinder.

Read—

which do contain their own means of ignition.

Substitute—

The firework class has two divisions—

Division 1 comprises firework compositions, that is to say, any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any star and any coloured fire composition, subject to the proviso hereinafter set forth.

Division 2 comprises manufactured fireworks, that is to say, any explosive of any of the foregoing classes and any firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, toy cap or amorce, serpent, rocket (other than a war rocket), maroon, lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article specially adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals or sound signals:—

Provided that a substantially constructed and hermetically closed metal case containing not more than 1 lb. of coloured fire composition of such a nature as not to be liable to spontaneous ignition shall be deemed to be a "manufactured firework."

TRANSPORT.

(a) Packing—Rules 2 and 3.

Cancel clause III under rule 2.

Clause IV under rule 2 becomes clause III of the same rule.

For old rule 2, IV (a), now rule 2, III (a)

Substitute—

- (a) If the explosive is of the 1st (or gun-powder) class or of the 2nd (nitrate-mixture) class, or is gun cotton or another explosive of the 2nd division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, the quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not, in the case of explosives of the first two classes, exceed 100 lbs., and in other cases 50 lbs.

If the explosive is picric acid, the inner package must be of such a nature as to effectually prevent any picric acid from coming into contact with any basic metallic oxide.*

*Note.—This rule is intended to prevent picric acid being packed in a case lined with certain metals, such as zinc or lead which would result in danger arising from the formation of a picrate. Waterproof bags inside powder-barrels are suggested as a simple and safe method of packing picric acid for transport or storage.

Against the word "waterproof" in old rule 2, IV (b), now rule 2, III (b)—

Add the following foot-note:—

Note.—From the requisition that the package should be waterproof are excepted—

- (1) All explosives falling in the 2nd division of the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class.
- (2) Those explosives, included in the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class which do not yield up their nitro-glycerine in contact with water such as blasting gelatine, gelatine dynamite, cordite and ballistite and gelignite: provided that any other substance than those named has been certified to be of this character by a Chief Inspector of Explosives.

For old rule 2, IV (c), now rule 2, III (c)—

Substitute—

- (c) 1. If the explosive belongs to the 5th (fulminate) class, and is of such character that it cannot be packed mixed with water, or that danger would arise from such mode of packing, it shall be packed in such manner as shall be specially directed by the Governor General in Council.
2. Any other explosive of the fulminate class shall be packed as follows: It shall be packed in bags or coverings of calico, canvas, or other material permeable to water, and containing each not more than 25lbs. of fulminate, and so made and closed as to prevent any explosive from escaping. Such bags or coverings shall be packed in a case containing sufficient water to ensure the explosive being kept constantly wet, and such case (hereinafter called the inner case) shall be packed in an outer case containing sufficient water constantly to surround the inner case; and the inner case and the outer case shall each be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any fulminate or water to escape; and the amount of the explosive in any one outer case shall not exceed 200lbs., except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives.
3. Every package when actually used for the packing of one fulminate shall not be used for the packing of any other fulminate or for any other purpose.

4. On the outer case there shall be affixed in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label or other mark the word "explosive," with the name of the explosive followed by the words "Fulminate, Division 1" (or 2, as the case may be) and the name and address of the owner or sender.

For old rule 2, IV (d), now rule 2, III (d)— Substitute—

(d)—1. If an explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape.

2. If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, the following rules shall apply, viz :—

(i) A shell or torpedo containing any explosive material, whether such shell or torpedo be separate or form part of a rocket or other appliance, shall be packed in such manner as may be specially directed by the Governor General in Council with reference to such explosive.

(ii) Any explosive material when made up into a cartridge or charge for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes, shall be packed in the manner required for the same explosive material when not so made up :

Provided that where a double package is required, the enclosing case of such cartridge or charge, if it satisfies the conditions required for the inner package, may be held to be such inner package.

(iii) Any other explosive of the 2nd division shall be packed in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal or other solid material, and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape : and any one such package shall not contain more than 100 lbs. of ammunition.

Clause V under rule 2 becomes clause IV of the same rule.

Substitute the word "an"

Add—

All gunpowder under despatch or receipt by a Government arsenal, dépôt, or factory, shall be loaded or unloaded in the railway vans by the Government servants employed in such arsenal, dépôt, or factory. In each van used by the railway for the transport of gunpowder the packages of gunpowder shall be secured in such a way as to prevent concussion when the train is in motion.

Substitute—

or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum

Substitute—

IX.—The consignor shall attach to the consignment note a certificate or (provided the original is produced for verification) copy of a certificate signed by an officer authorised by the Local Government in this behalf that the explosive, if it is an explosive of class 3 or 4, is of the standard purity; and further, in the case of dynamite and all nitro-glycerine compounds, that there are no signs of exuded nitro-glycerine or of liquefaction. The consignor shall also certify that the explosive has been packed in accordance with the packing rules in force in England or in British India.

Substitute—

X.—In the case of explosives under classes 3 and 4, the outer packages shall be marked with the date of the manufacture of the explosives. The abovementioned certificate shall contain sufficient information to admit of all packages being easily recognised.

Add—

Provided that, if the packages of dynamite are in rectangular form and are properly secured so as to prevent movement during transit, they may be stowed in any number of layers not exceeding five, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 5 tons.

Substitute—

XVI.—Five layers of packages in rectangular form and of uniform size (provided they are double packages, and are so secured as to prevent movement during transit) may be packed one above another. Otherwise not more than three layers of packages containing explosives shall be packed one above another. But in the case of small-arms ammunition packed in tin-lined service pattern boxes, there is no restriction. Subject to the provisions of Rule 4 (III), the loading and unloading of explosives when once begun shall be diligently proceeded with until the same is completed.

General Rules for railways under construction.

READ—

Sections 3 (4), 16 (2), 47 and 148 (1) of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890).

Government of India, Public Works Department, notification No. 480½, dated the 30th October 1890, publishing—in the Gazette of India of the 8th November 1890—the Government of India resolution No. 736 R. T., dated the 17th October 1890, and the General Rules for working railways under construction and not used for the public carriage of passengers, animals or goods.

Letter from the Resident at Hyderabad, No. 385 R., dated the 20th December 1897, forwarding letter No. 4215, dated the 17th November 1897, from the Engineer-in-Chief of the Hyderabad-Godavari Valley railway.

OBSERVATIONS.—The Engineer-in-Chief of the Hyderabad-Godavari Valley railway has applied for leave to adopt, on that railway, the General Rules for working railways under construction and not used for the public carriage of passengers, animals or goods, which rules were published in the Gazette of India of 8th November 1890, under Public Works Department notification No. 480½, dated the 30th October 1890.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to sanction the application of the General Rules which are referred to in the foregoing observations to such portions of the Hyderabad-Godavari Valley railway as are situate in British territory, and which have been sanctioned for construction.

ORDER.—Ordered that the General Rules, which have already been published in the Gazette of India of the 8th November 1890, be further notified to the railway servants and to the public by a copy thereof being kept open to inspection, free of any charge, in the office of the engineer in charge of the construction of the railway.

Ordered, also, that this resolution be communicated to the Resident at Hyderabad for information and guidance, and that it be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India.

- (4) (a) After the filing of the specification and before the expiration of the fourth year from the date of the filing thereof—

The sum of Rs 50 for each of the said inventions.

- No. 164 of 1891.—Augustus Harper Raiguel Guiley's invention for improvements in electrical block systems for railways. (Specification filed 1 October 1891.)

Fee in respect of the continuance of an exclusive privilege—

- 4 (c) After the expiration of the fifth year and before the expiration of the sixth year from the date of the filing of the specification—

The sum of Rs 50 for the said invention.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to Act V (the Inventions and Designs Act) of 1888 should be addressed to the "Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (PATENTS BRANCH), CALCUTTA"

The office of the Secretary under the Act is open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. on all days except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash, and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy respectively.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October, 1896, in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified; or, if the tenth day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1870:—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to further amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 7th January, 1898:—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to further

From Chief Commissioner, Ajmere-Merwara, No. 1019—690, dated 29th September, 1897 [Paper No. 1].

From Government, Burma, No. 788—L.-23, dated 29th September, 1897 [Paper No. 2].

From Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 8274, dated 28th October, 1897 [Paper No. 3].

From Chief Commissioner, Coorg, No. 1686, dated 3rd November, 1897 [Paper No. 4].

From Government, Bengal, No. 1459-J. D., dated 8th November, 1897 [Paper No. 6].

From Chief Commissioner, Assam, No. 119-L. & L.—1928-J., dated 10th November, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 7].

From High Court, Calcutta, No. 2801, dated 2nd December, 1897 [Paper No. 8].

From Government, Bombay, No. 8811, dated 3rd December, 1897 [Paper No. 9].

From Government, Punjab, No. 1619, dated 9th December, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 10].

From Government, Madras, No. 1824, dated 24th December, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 12].

From Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 4157, dated 27th December, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 13].

tion 4 of Act XVI of 1861 so as to enable a fee not exceeding five rupees to be charged for a license under the Act instead of a fixed fee of five rupees.

amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. On the recommendation of some of the Local Governments we have amended section

3. We have added words to the rule-making power which will enable the Local Government to fix different fees for the different classes of carriages and to provide for the inspection of animals as well as carriages.

4. As there are various local enactments regulating hackney-carriages in municipalities, cantonments and other places, we have provided for the repeal of section 2 of Act XVI of 1876, and proposed a new extent clause for Act XVI of 1861 which will prevent any conflict between the provisions of that Act as now amended and those local enactments.

5. We have also given power to the Local Governments to exempt carriages or classes of carriages from the Act. Owing to the repeal of the twenty miles stage limit, the Act might be held to extend to various classes of carriages to which it did not formerly apply and to which there is no sufficient reason for applying it.

No. II.

A Bill to amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Stage-Carriages Act (1861) Amendment Act, 1898.

2. The proviso to section 1 of the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, and section 2 of the Stage-Carriages Act (1861) Amendment Act, 1876, are hereby repealed.

3. The first paragraph of section 4 of the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, is hereby repealed, and the following paragraph is substituted therefor, namely:—

"For every such license there shall be paid by the proprietor of the stage-carriage the sum of five rupees or such less sum as the Local Government may fix, and such license shall be in force for one year from the date thereof."

4. After section 20 of the said Act the following section shall be added, namely:—

"20A. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules to carry out the purposes and objects of this Act in the territories under its administration or any part of the said territories.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) prescribe forms for licenses under this Act, the sums payable for the same and the conditions on which they may be granted, and the cases in which they may be revoked;

(b) provide for the inspection of stage-carriages, and of the animals employed in drawing them; and

(c) regulate the number and length of the stages for which animals may be driven in stage-carriages, and the manner in which they shall be harnessed and yoked.

(3) In making any rule under this section the Local Government may direct that a breach thereof shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees."

5. After section 21 of the said Act the following sections shall be added, namely:—

"22. This Act, as amended by subsequent Acts, extends to the whole of British India; but it shall not apply to carriages ordinarily plying for hire within the limits of any municipality or cantonment or other place in which any law for the regulation of carriages is for the time being in force.

23. The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, exempt any carriages or class of carriages from all or any of the provisions of this Act."

NEW MEMBER.

The Hon'ble MR. ALLAN ARTHUR took his seat as an Additional Member

COURT-FEES ACT (1870) AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RIVAZ moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Sayani and the Hon'ble Mr. Nicholson be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to further amend the Court-fees Act, 1870. He said that the opinions which had been received on the Bill after circulation had raised some important questions which would require careful consideration, and it seemed desirable to strengthen the Committee, which at present consisted of only five members.

The motion was put and agreed to.

STAGE-CARRIAGES ACT (1861) AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RIVAZ presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to further amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861. He said :—"The main object of the Bill, which was introduced in this Council on the 2nd September last, was to repeal the proviso to section 1 of the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, which limited the application of the Act to carriages ordinarily used for journeys of more than twenty miles. The effect, however, of repealing this proviso without any qualification would be that the Act would extend to some classes of carriages which run for short distances, to which there is no necessity to apply its provisions. We have therefore proposed to give power to Local Governments to exempt any particular carriages or classes of carriages from the Act. We have also inserted a clause which will prevent any conflict between the provisions of the Act as it is now proposed to amend it and any local enactments which deal with the regulation of hackney-carriages in municipalities and other places.

"Other slight alterations have been made which are explained in the Committee's report and which need no further remarks on my part."

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 14th January, 1898.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, December 25th, 1897.

Very quiet and settled conditions have prevailed over the Indian region during the week under review. Throughout the whole week pressure has been uninterruptedly high over North Western and Central India, and uninterruptedly low over the south-east of the Arabian Sea and the south of the Bay. The daily changes of the barometer have occasioned variations in the amount of the pressure difference between these two areas, but these general conditions of pressure have held steadily throughout. The winds have been almost equally steady, blowing from between north-west and north-east on the coasts of the Bay and from the eastward over the central parts of India and the centre and west of the Peninsula, while over Northern and North-Western India calms have been exceedingly numerous. A few showers have been reported from the south of the Peninsula and from Ceylon on different days of the week, but the rainfall in this region has been generally light, while in all other parts of the country the weather has been rainless. Quite at the close of the week there were signs of the development of a storm within the low pressure area which had held steadily over the south of the Bay, but even this change exercised no effect on the general weather over the south of the Peninsula. The mean temperature has been generally higher than usual except in Bengal (where for four days) and in Madras (where for six days) the heat was less than usual.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, 19th December.—The barometer had risen briskly over Sind, but had changed very little elsewhere. Pressure was high and uniform over North-Western and Central India, relatively high over Upper Assam and Upper Burma, and low over the south of the Bay. The pressure differences were greater than usual. The winds were northerly over the Bay area, easterly over the centre and west of the Peninsula and variable and light over Central and North-Western India. The mean temperature was, relatively to the normal, high over Burma, over the south-west of the Peninsula and over North-West India, and low elsewhere. The greatest excess was  $5^{\circ}8$  at Bassein, the greatest defect  $6^{\circ}3$  at False Point. A few showers had been received over the south of the Peninsula and locally at Quetta, while light snow had fallen at Minimarg.

Monday, 20th December.—The pressure changes had been generally slight and unimportant. Pressure remained highest in the north-west and centre of India and lowest over the south of the Bay. Westerly winds had appeared down the Gangetic Plain, but, with this exception, the winds were unchanged. The mean temperature was low over Bengal and around the north of the Bay, as well as in some South Madras districts, but in general the heat was greater than usual. A few showers had again been received over the southern half of the Peninsula, but elsewhere the weather had been rainless.

Tuesday, 21st December.—Pressure had decreased briskly over the western desert, but elsewhere the barometric changes remained slight. Pressure was high and fairly uniform over the centre and north-west of India, and low over the south of the Bay. The winds were practically unaltered. The mean temperature remained low, relatively to the average, over the east of the Peninsula, Bengal, and the greater part of Burma, but elsewhere the heat was greater than usual. Over the western desert the excess was between  $4^{\circ}$  and  $6^{\circ}$ . Light snow has been received over parts of Kashmir, while about 1" of rain had fallen at some places in the south of the Peninsula and in Ceylon.

Wednesday, 22nd December.—The barometer had recovered again over the western desert, but elsewhere the barometric changes were again unimportant. The general distribution of pressure was unchanged. The winds were somewhat more easterly in South Burma and more north-westerly on the south-west shores of the Bay, while the westerly current down the Gangetic Plain was giving way, but elsewhere there had been little or no change. The mean temperature was low over the Peninsula, Deltaic Bengal, and Arakan, and generally excessive elsewhere. The excess was greatest, and, as much as  $7^{\circ}$ , at Jacobabad. There had been no rain over India.

Thursday, 23rd December.—A slight barometric fall had occurred over Sind, but elsewhere pressure had increased, the change having been brisk to rapid over the greater part of Northern India. The area of highest pressure had been transferred eastward to the Gangetic Plain, but otherwise the distribution was unaltered. Calms and northerly breezes prevailed over Northern India, north-east to north-west winds over the Bay area and easterly winds elsewhere. The distribution of mean temperature, relatively to the normal, was generally the same as on the 22nd, but there had been a fall over the north-west of India, and the areas of greatest excess were reported from Burma and from the Central Provinces. There had again been no rain over India.

Friday, 24th December.—Pressure had decreased slightly in Bengal and the south of the Peninsula and had risen elsewhere. The rise had been greatest and brisk to rapid over North-West India, and the area of highest pressure had been re-transferred to that region. The lowest pressures continued to be reported from the south of the Bay. The winds were practically unaltered. The mean temperature was low over the Peninsula (except South Madras) and the west and south-west of Bengal, but elsewhere the heat remained excessive. The greatest excess was  $6^{\circ}$  at Hyderabad (Sind), so that the hottest area, relatively to the normal, had again been transferred to the north-west.

Saturday, December 25th.—Pressure had fallen briskly over the east of the Peninsula and the west of the Bay, and a depression had apparently been formed within the low pressure area which had held so steadily over the south of the Bay. The highest pressures continued to be reported from North-West India, and the barometric difference between the Punjab and the south of the Bay was abnormally large. The wind had shifted to north-west over the south of Madras, and the wind was apparently strong over the south of the Bay. The mean temperature was low over the north of the Peninsula and the central parts of India, and was higher than usual elsewhere. The greatest excess was  $7^{\circ} \cdot 1$  at Kurrachee. There was again no rain over India.

Temperature.—The temperature distribution, relatively to the normal, has been fairly steady during the week under review. On Sunday, the 19th, the mean temperature was lower than usual over the east of the Peninsula, the head of the Peninsula, Bengal and Arakan, and was generally higher than usual elsewhere. This condition lasted with only slight modifications until Friday, the 24th, when the temperature rose to above the normal over Arakan and Burma, so that on the two last days of the week the heat was generally excessive, except over the northern half of the Peninsula and the central parts of India.

The following table gives the temperature data for the week :—

PROVINCE.	DECEMBER 1897.							• Mean variation of week.
	19th.	20th.	21st.	22nd.	23rd.	24th.	25th.
Burma	+2.6	+1.5	+0.6	+1.0	+2.6	+3.3	+3.1	+2.1

Mean for whole of India	0	+1.4	+1.5	+1.3	+1.0	+1.3	+1.0	+1.1

The above shows that the mean temperature of the whole country was exactly normal on the 19th, and about  $1^{\circ}$  above the normal on the remaining days of the week. The provincial variations show a moderate excess of temperature for the week in Burma, Sind and Rajputana, a slight excess in the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab and Central India, and a normal temperature in Bengal, Bombay, the Central Provinces and Madras.

Rain.—The week has been rainless over the greater part of the country. Very light showers have been received in Baluchistan, Malabar and Coorg, and light showers in the South-Central and South divisions of Madras and the East Coast (South). In the last named division the average actual rainfall for the week was  $0.57''$ , and in Madras (South-Central)  $0.29''$ , and these were the only two divisions which received any rain of importance.

The three last columns of the rainfall table, showing the state of the seasonal fall, exhibit an increasing deficiency in the rainfall up to date.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 1st January.—The rainfall was generally normal; there was no rain in seven northern districts; under half an inch in Nellore and Cuddapah; nil in Madura and Tinnevely where half an inch is due; sixty cents in Chingleput and Madras and trifling rain elsewhere. The water-supply is insufficient for cultivation, except in the Northern Circars, Bellary, Nilgiris, and Malabar. More rain is required everywhere. Agricultural operations are much retarded by want of rain. The condition of the standing crops has not materially improved. Harvests are in progress and the outturn of crops is generally middling to fair, but is bad in parts. Pasture is generally sufficient. Fodder is available. The condition of cattle is normal. Prices are fluctuating but are practically stationary, except in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Cuddapah, Salem, and Coimbatore, in which the dry grains are slightly dearer. There is no improvement in prospects. The numbers on relief were—Nellore test works—workers—641 men, 887 women, 636 children; total 2,164. Fed in kitchens—dependants—135 children. Others—4 men and 11 women; total 150. Grand total 2,314.

Bombay.—For week ending 3rd January.—The harvesting of early crops is progressing in five, and the sowing of late crops in two, districts. Standing late crops are thriving except in parts of Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Poona, Satara, and Bijapur, where damage by blight, excessive cold, or drought continues. Crops have been injured by locusts in one taluka of Shikarpur. Preparations for next season continue in three districts. Supplies of fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock is healthy. Prices have risen in Belgaum; fallen in ten other districts and are almost stationary elsewhere. Prices in affected districts were—Belgaum 18½, Bijapur 15½, Sholapur 9½, Poona 12½ seers per rupee. The average number on relief works, including dependants was—Bijapur 981, Sholapur 9,457, Poona 6,105, Belgaum 708; total 17,251, of whom 16,348 are relief workers and 903 dependants. Of relief workers—5,656 are men, 7,771 women, and 2,921 children. Of dependants—28 are men, 64 women, and 811 children. On gratuitous relief—Sholapur 1,928, including 47 in poor houses, Poona 237; total 2,165, of whom 715 are men, 1,002 women, and 448 children. Total number on relief 19,416.

Bengal.—For week ending 3rd January.—There was slight rain in parts of Orissa and South-East Bengal during the week. The harvesting of winter rice is still proceeding. All spring crops are doing well, and the earlier ones are being gathered in some districts. The prospects of the poppy crop in Bihar and of the indigo crop in Central Bengal are favourable. Sugarcane continues to be reported well; it is being cut and pressed in some districts. There was an appearance of locusts in Hazaribagh; no damage is reported. Prices were practically stationary. Scarcity of fodder is still reported from Kurigram in Rangpur, and of drinking water from the flooded tracts of Chittagong.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 5th January.—The weather is clear and cold. High westerly winds have prevailed during the week. Rain is much needed to forward the young crops which so far are in good condition. Irrigation is in active progress where practicable. Slight damage is reported from frost in Budaun and Hardoi and by locusts in Banda. Supplies and fodder are sufficient. Prices have risen in three districts, but are lower or stationary in the others.

Punjab.—For week ending 3rd January.—Rain has fallen in Sialkot, Rawalpindi, and Peshawar; a slight fall is also reported from parts of Dera

Ismail Khan. The harvesting of the autumn crops is nearly over. Sugarcane-pressing and cotton-picking are still going on. The sowings of spring crops have been nearly finished in all districts except Peshawar, where wheat and barley are still being sown. The outturn of sugarcane is reported to be average in Peshawar and of cotton below average in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition and prospects of the standing spring crops are generally good. An early fall of rain is badly needed. The rain where it has fallen has benefited the standing crops. Locusts passed over two tahsils of Peshawar but did not damage the crops. Cattle are generally in good state except in Sialkot, where they are losing condition. Fodder is said to be scarce in Sialkot and sufficient elsewhere. Prices are mostly unchanged; they are only falling slightly in Mooltan, Lahore, Shahpur, Rawalpindi, and Peshawar. Wheat is selling from  $10\frac{1}{2}$  to 13, gram 11 to 13, barley 16, bulrush millet 16 to 22, maize  $17\frac{1}{2}$  to 23, great millet 18, and rice 9 to  $9\frac{1}{2}$ , seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 3rd January.—The weather is clear and cold, with occasional clouds in Balaghat and Chhattishgarh. Rain is required for the spring crops, especially for those sown late or on high-lying lands. Slight damage to these crops from frost is also reported from parts of Balaghat and Bilaspur; but prospects at present generally are favourable. The threshing of autumn crops and picking of cotton are approaching completion; also the pressing of sugarcane, with average outturns. Prices of wheat and grams are steady or slightly falling; a further fall is noticeable in the price of rice in most districts, that of juar (Sorghum vulgare) has fallen to twenty seers in Chand and is easy in other districts. The numbers on relief now amount to only 6,000. The numbers on relief works were—Bilaspur 28. Numbers on gratuitous relief—Damoh 252, Mandla 150, Betul 74, Chhindwara 1,233, Wardha 12, Bhandara 273, Balaghat 210, Raipur 428, and Bilaspur 3,376; total 6,008. Total number on relief 6,036. There were also 12,893 persons employed on railway works. Details of relief workers—men 7, women 16, and children 5. Poor-houses—men 289, women 292, and children 1,245. Otherwise relieved—men 461, women 1,382, and children 2,339. Wage prices—Bilaspur 15 seers per rupee.

Burma.—For week ending 1st January.—In Lower Burma reaping and threshing continue, and prospects are excellent. In Upper Burma the reaping of paddy, maize, and sessamum is in progress, and the cultivation of dry-weather paddy has commenced. Prospects are generally fair to good. The price of paddy has risen largely in Amherst and slightly in Pegu; and has fallen largely in Akyab and slightly in Rangoon; elsewhere it is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 4th January.—The weather is seasonable. Reaping of late rice is in progress and the outturn is generally good. Gathering of pulses has commenced. Prospects are good in Lakhimpur; elsewhere they are fair. Sowing of mustard still continues in Lakhimpur. The mustard crop has been damaged to some extent by locusts in parts of Sylhet. The condition of sugarcane is fair; pressing has commenced in places. Pruning of tea is in progress. Prices of common rice—Silchar and Sylhet 12, Dhubri 11, Gauhati and Dibrugarh 10, Tezpur and Nowgong 9, and Sibsagar 13, seers per rupee. Fodder is insufficient in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 3rd January.—MYSORE: Slight rain in parts of Tumkur. Prospects are favourable. Prices have fallen slightly in Chitaldroog, Kadur, and Shimoga; and have risen in Tumkur. The paddy has been harvested in nearly all parts of the State.

COORG: Rainfall 3 cents. The rice harvest and coffee-picking continue. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 3rd January.—BERAR: The weather is cool and clear. Picking of cotton continues and threshing of jowar (Sorghum vulgare) has commenced. The general condition of the winter crops is reported as satisfactory. Fodder and water are adequate to wants.

Prices have fallen in all districts, except in Akola and Basim. Prices—jowar—Akola 18, Amraoti 21, Basim 20, Buldana 19, Ellichpur 21, and Wun 23, seers per rupee.

HYDERABAD: No rain during week. The cold has injured the standing spring crops in parts. Winter rice sowing is in progress. Prices of grain, though stationary in parts, have risen in some places. Prices—wheat 5, coarse rice 6½, and jowari 11½, seers per current sicca rupee.

Rajputana.—For week ending 5th January.—Agricultural operations are in progress and standing crops and prospects are good. Sowing of spring crops is progressing in Sirohi and Jeysulmere. Agricultural stock is in fair condition in Bikanir; good elsewhere. Pasturage or fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Jeysulmere; fluctuating in Kherwara; steady in Sirohi, Marwar, Jeypore, Dholepore, Bikanir; and are falling elsewhere. Report from Meywar not received.

Central India.—For week ending 3rd January.—No rain fell in Central India during the week. Rain is generally required. Agricultural operations have been completed in Bundelkhand; and are in progress in other agencies. The standing crops are in good condition. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition. Prices are stationary in Malwa and are falling in other agencies. The condition of opium is good in Bhopal and fair in Malwa.

Kashmir.—For week ending 4th January.—Snow has fallen. Prices continue below normal.

Jammu Province.—For week ending 4th January.—Slight rain during the week. Prices are stationary.

Nepal.—For week ending 3rd January.—No rain. The weather is cloudy but cold. Wheat and barley sowings have been finished. Some early sowings are beginning to sprout. Prices 7½ seers per rupee.

The total numbers in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks were as follows :—

For conspicuous gallantry at Malakand on the night of the 26th July, 1897 in holding a narrow defile with a party of about twenty other men of the regiment against a large force of the enemy and checking their advance for twenty minutes, until the arrival of the remainder of the regiment.

NO. 78, NAICK HOSSEIN MAHOMED, NO. 22 GUNNER GUL AHMED, NO. 55, AND GUNNER IMAM DIN, NO. 8 (BENGAL) MOUNTAIN BATTERY—

For conspicuous gallantry at Malakand on the night of the 27th July, 1897, when the enemy charged into the picquet near Colonel Sawyer's house and temporarily drove back some of the escort near No. 5 gun. The naick and two gunners mentioned cut down three of them, two being killed on the gun, and drove back the remainder.

NO. 595, 1ST GRADE HOSPITAL-ASSISTANT KASHI RAM—

For conspicuous gallantry at Malakand on the 27th July 1897, in bringing in a wounded sepoy under heavy close-range fire of the enemy from a spot over a quarter mile from our own men. He also displayed constant bravery during the investment of the Malakand while at his post with a detachment of No. 8 (Bengal) Mountain Battery.

NO. 2246, HAVILDAR BIAZ; NO. 3354, LANCE-NAICK MIR JAFIR; AND NO. 4223, SEPOY SOHBAT KHAN, CORPS OF GUIDES INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on Gibraltar Hill, Malakand, on the 31st July, 1897, on which occasion, under a heavy fire from the opposite hill, they attacked and drove from a sangar a party of the enemy, of whom they killed several.

SUBADAR RAMASAMI, NO. 5 COMPANY, QUEEN'S OWN MADRAS SAPPERS AND MINERS—

For conspicuous gallantry and coolness under fire at Malakand on 26th July, 1897, and succeeding days, controlling the fire of the company and setting an excellent example on every occasion when the company were engaged with the enemy.

NO. 1450, NAICK AZHAGIRI, THE QUEEN'S OWN MADRAS SAPPERS AND MINERS—

For conspicuous gallantry at Malakand on the night of the 26th July, 1897, when, though wounded, he came out of hospital to do duty, and was again severely wounded when joining his section.

DOOLY-BEARER NALLATAMBI, THE QUEEN'S OWN MADRAS SAPPERS AND MINERS—

For conspicuous gallantry at Malakand on the night of the 26th July, 1897, in carrying ammunition under a heavy fire from the quarter-guard to the sappers lining the abattis. He continued going backwards and forwards on this duty, until wounded by a shot in the hand.

NO. 1842, LANCE-DAFADAR PARTAB SINGH, 11TH BENGAL LANCERS—

For conspicuous gallantry on the following occasions:—

- (1) During the action near Malakand on the 1st August, 1897 in bringing ammunition from the led horses to the dismounted men under a very heavy fire, during which several casualties occurred.
- (2) During the retirement to the Malakand on the same day, when he was the last man to leave the plain and reach camp, retiring quietly and coolly, though pressed by the enemy and under heavy fire the whole time.
- (3) During the advance to the relief of Chakdarra on the 2nd August, 1897, when he was conspicuously to the front having had more than one personal combat with the enemy during the day, both near Kharand during the pursuit at Chakdarra.

NO. 2417, SOWAR PREM SINGH, 11TH BENGAL LANCERS—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 27th July, 1897, while crossing a branch of the Swat river north of Amandara. The remainder of the party having crossed and proceeded some two hundred yards, Sowar Prem Singh, seeing Hospital Assistant Pyara Singh swimming in the water with several of the enemy preparing to attack him, returned to the Hospital-Assistant's aid, took him up behind him on his horse under a close fire, and carried him safely into Chakdarra. Subsequently during the siege of Chakdarra he, by his invariable coolness and pluck, set a splendid example to his comrades.

NO. 1920, SOWAR ARUR SINGH, 11TH BENGAL LANCERS—

For conspicuous gallantry on the occasion of the rescue of Hospital-Assistant Pyara Singh by Sowar Prem Singh on the 27th July, 1897. Returning with Sowar Prem Singh to the rescue of the Hospital-Assistant, he showed a bold front and under a hot fire kept the enemy at bay, while the Hospital-Assistant was being got on to Sowar Prem Singh's horse.

NO. 2349, SOWAR PHANGAN SINGH, 11TH BENGAL LANCERS—

For conspicuous gallantry in the sortie from Chakdarra on the 2nd August, 1897, on which occasion he charged into a crowd of the enemy and killed with his lance a standard bearer who was rushing at Captain Cole, 11th Bengal Lancers, unobserved by that officer.

NO. 2070, SOWAR LAL BUDIN, 11TH BENGAL LANCERS—

For conspicuous gallantry in the sortie from Chakdarra on the 2nd August, 1897, on which occasion he rode ahead of the squadron under a heavy fire and showed Captain Cole of the regiment a way over difficult ground, thus enabling the squadron to cut off a number of the enemy. He was severely wounded, but slew the man who wounded him.

SUBADAR-MAJOR SARFARAZ KHAN, QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 2nd August 1897, during the advance to the relief of Chakdarra, in gallantly leading a party and storming several strong positions, killing some of the enemy with his own hand. He was severely wounded.

SUBADAR SHAHI JAN; NO. 3285, SEPOY NUR AHMAD; AND NO. 1998, SEPOY DAR JAN, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 2nd August, 1897, during the advance to the relief of Chakdarra, in attacking and driving the enemy out of several strong positions with exceptional dash and gallantry, killing several.

NO. 3446, SEPOY JOWAHIR SINGH, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at the relief of Chakdarra on the 2nd August, 1897, when he came to the relief of Lieutenant Battye, of the regiment, killing one of two of the enemy who were attacking that officer.

NO. 3485, SEPOY BISHAN SINGH, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at the relief of Chakdarra on 2nd August, 1897, when he saved the life of Subadar-Major Sarfaraz Khan, by killing one of the enemy who had wounded him and with whom he was then engaged in single combat.

NO. 2870, NAICK SANT SINGH, 45TH (SIKH) REGIMENT OF BENGAL INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry in the defence of Fort Chakdarra on the 30th July, 1897, when in charge of the Maxim gun, which he continued to serve for two hours, throughout an attack in force by the enemy, although suffering from a severe wound.

NO. 2729, LANCE-NAICK VIR SINGH, 45TH (SIKH) REGIMENT OF BENGAL INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at Chakdarra on the 29th July, 1897, when in command of the signallers in the Signal Tower, undergoing great hardship and carrying on his work admirably. He volunteered to remain at the Signal Tower when all the rest, except one, were relieved.

NO. 3021, SEPOY NAND SINGH, 45TH (SIKH) REGIMENT OF BENGAL INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at a critical moment of the attack on Chakdarra Fort on the 2nd August, 1897, in spontaneously taking the lead in serving the 9-pr. gun under a heavy fire, the commander, Kishen Singh, having been killed whilst laying the gun.

NO. 3038, SEPOY IEEWA SINGH, 45TH (SIKH) REGIMENT OF BENGAL INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at Chakdarra on the 27th and 30th July and 2nd August, 1897, in repeatedly crossing an exposed area under a heavy cross-fire, in order to supply Maxim gun ammunition.

NO. 2829, SEPOY PREM SINGH, 45TH (SIKH) REGIMENT OF BENGAL INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at Chakdarra on 30th and 31st July and 1st August, 1897, in keeping up communication by signal with Malakand in the face of a heavy fire continuously directed on him at close quarters. To obtain a good position for signalling he had to leave the tower by climbing out of a window unarmed, with his heliograph under his arm, and make his way to a position some way down the hill, from which he ran the risk of being cut off and shot. But for his gallant behaviour all communication between the post of Chakdarra and Malakand would have been completely cut off.

NO. 2833, SEPOY BOHA SINGH, AND NO. 3491, SEPOY KAHAN SINGH, 45TH (SIKH) REGIMENT OF BENGAL INFANTRY—

For conspicuous gallantry at Chakdarra on the morning of the 2nd August, 1897, in responding to a call to make a sortie against a numerous force of the enemy who held the hospital.

JEMADAR BAHADUR SINGH, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES CAVALRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 17th August, 1897, in action near Nawakili, in coming out under a hot fire at close range to assist in carrying away the body of Lieutenant Greaves, who had been shot, and afterwards in supporting and bringing away Lieutenant Maclean, who was wounded at the same time, and whose body, when he became unconscious, he carried off the field on his saddle in front of him.

NO. 1142½, DUFFADAR HAYATH MOHAMED, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES CAVALRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 17th August, 1897, in action near Nawakili, when he first saved Captain Palmer's life, after he had been wounded and rendered helpless, by killing and driving away some of the enemy who were about to attack him, and afterwards in assisting Jemadar Bahadur Singh to take Lieutenant Maclean, when wounded, off the field.

NO. 806½, DUFFADAR BURA KHAN, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES CAVALRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 17th August, 1897, in action near Nawakili, in first assisting Duffadar Hayath Mahomed in protecting Captain Palmer, who had been shot through the right wrist, and then immediately after dashing forward under a hot fire from the hills close by, to assist in carrying away Lieutenant Greaves, who had been wounded.

NO. 1455, SOWAR MAHOMED KHAN, AND NO. 1219½, SOWAR ALAF KHAN, THE QUEEN'S OWN CORPS OF GUIDES CAVALRY—

For conspicuous gallantry on the 17th August, 1897, in action near Nawakili, in coming out into the open, within fifty yards of the spur from which crowds of the enemy were pouring in a heavy fire and threatening a rush, in order to assist in carrying away the body of Lieutenant Greaves, who had been wounded.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to Act V (the Inventions and Designs Act) of 1888 should be addressed to the "Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (PATENTS BRANCH), CALCUTTA".

The office of the Secretary under the Act is open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. on all days except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash, and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy respectively.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October, 1895, in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified; or, if the tenth day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

A. T. PRINGLE,
Offg. Secy. under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888.

PART V.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 14th January, 1898 :—

NO. 1 OF 1

A Bill to provide for the issue of currency notes in exchange for gold received in England.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the issue of currency notes in exchange for gold received in England ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, commencement and duration. 1. (1). This Act may be called the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1898.

- (2) It shall come into force at once ; and
(3) It shall remain in force for six months from its commencement, and no longer.

2. After section 13 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, the following section shall be added XX of 1882.
Addition of new section after section 13, Act XX of 1882. namely :—

“ 13A. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by an order notified in the Gazette of India, direct that currency notes shall be issued at such offices of issue as are named in the order to an amount equal to the value of gold held by the Secretary of State for India at the rate, and subject to the conditions, fixed by that order :—

Provided that—

- (1) the power conferred by this section shall not be exercised unless the Secretary of State for India shall consent to hold in gold coin or gold bullion what he shall determine to be equivalent in value to the notes so issued, as a reserve to secure the payment of such notes, and to transmit the same, or what he shall determine to be equivalent to the same, in gold coin or gold bullion to India ;
(2) gold coin or gold bullion so remitted shall be deemed to be received, within the meaning of section 19, when it is received in India by the Governor General in Council ; and
(3) gold coin or gold bullion so retained shall, until its arrival in India, be distinguished from other gold coin or gold bullion in the abstract account published under section 27.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to afford a means of relief to the severe stringency which now exists in the money market. Section 13 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, authorises the Governor General in Council to direct that currency notes shall be issued by the Paper Currency Department in exchange for gold coin and bullion received in India at the office of issue. The Bill extends this provision so as to allow the issue of currency notes against gold received in London by Her Majesty's Secretary of State if he consents to receive the gold and to transmit it to India.

ACCOUNTS FOR 1896-97.

The Hon'ble SIR JAMES WESTLAND said :—" Before making the motion which stands in my name, I have the permission of His Excellency the President to mention that the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India for the year 1896-97 are now passing through the Press and will be issued about Wednesday next. A copy will be sent in due course to each Hon'ble Member. The result of the accounts of the year is, as usual, a little better than the Revised Estimates laid before the Council in March last; the difference to the good is twenty-eight lakhs, being entirely made up by better receipts of revenue."

INDIAN PAPER CURRENCY BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR JAMES WESTLAND moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the issue of currency notes in exchange for gold received in England. He said:—"It is well within the knowledge of Hon'ble Members that the Indian money market at present is passing through a period of extreme stringency, and that there is a demand for money for the purposes of trade which local resources are for the time unable to supply. I had to introduce a measure for the relief of a similar state of things in December, 1896, and I am informed that the necessity for relief now is even greater than it then was, while the same measure of relief, namely, the transfer of money from the Currency Reserve to the uses of trade, is not for the time open to us.

"The causes of this scarcity of money are not far to seek: they are, shortly, the withdrawal of no small portion of the European capital which has been employed for banking purposes in India. With the exception of the capital of the Presidency Banks, and of one or two others, the capital of the larger banking institutions in India is sterling capital; and the continual fall in the value of the rupee and the consequent depreciation of such sterling capital as was held in the form of money in this country has induced these Banks (and many of their constituents also) both to remit home to England much of the capital they used in this country, and to adopt the policy of keeping as little of their capital as they can help employed in India. This policy was adopted by the Banks before the currency legislation of 1893, and is in no sense the consequence of it. If the policy of that legislation is pursued to a successful end, it will provide a remedy for the state of things I describe, as it will give the Banks and other capitalists the assurance that whatever capital they bring to this country for any temporary purpose they will be able to remit back without loss. But, while we are still in the condition of advancing towards the attainment of the sixteen-penny rupee, the very success of our efforts militates for a time against the transfer of sterling capital to India. At the present moment, for example, when the rupee is even above sixteen pence, the only effect of the rate upon the Exchange Banker is to convince him that the less he remits to India the better for himself, for he is bringing out his money at the top of the market; he cannot possibly re-remmit it at better rates, and he may have to do so at worse rates.

"It must be understood that I do not for a moment lay any blame for this state of things on the Exchange Banks. They have their functions to perform, and they must perform them on commercial principles. Exchange Banks are not benevolent institutions, and cannot be expected to run the risk of loss for the general advantage of Indian trade. I am merely sketching the general condition of things which has led to short supply of money in the trade centres and describing the extreme unwillingness of those who have, till recently, supplied money for trade requirements, to keep in India any margin whatever against possible developments of trade demands.

"I see people sometimes discuss these subjects as if it were in the power of Government to interpose at once in some effectual way, and, as by a magician's wand, to restore ease and confidence to the Banks and to commerce. There is really only one way in which any relief can be given, and that is by making money available; but it is considered that Government possesses somewhere boundless stores of money which it has only to let loose upon a suffering commercial world, when everything will be at once put straight. Now I am not going to discuss in this place the obligations of Government, if there are any, to place funds at the disposal of the Banks for the commercial community; but I wish to give a distinct denial to any allegations that we are playing the Banks, as it were, that is, wilfully keeping back money with the intention of starving commerce and forcing up rates of exchange. We have told the Secretary of State what money we have, and the extent to which he can draw against it, and we must claim the right to do what every sound trader does, namely, keep available under our own control sufficient funds to meet the bills he has drawn upon us, and means to draw. To this extent, and to this extent only, are we at present keeping any available money out of commercial employment. And, if Banks and others will be good enough to remember the heavy demands that have fallen upon us in respect of Government expenditure during the past twelve months,—demands so heavy that we were obliged for the time to ask the Secretary of State not only to intermit his drawings but to send out money to our help,—it will surely be understood that we are not rolling in wealth while we are refusing aid to others, and that our inability to advance money (admitting for the moment that such a policy was desirable on other grounds) is due not to any wilful obstinacy, but to want of adequate means.

"The position then of the money market is this. Everybody has realized now what they did not sufficiently realize a month ago, namely, that the demand for money for trade is, and is likely in the immediate future to be, extreme. The exchange banks who under the old system could bring out as much as they liked (for if Council bills were not available they had only to buy silver in London and have it coined at our Mints) will not bring out a single rupee which they can avoid bringing; and we cannot advance money from our reserves. The Secretary of State of course cannot draw on us for more than we are able to pay. The fear is therefore that the market may reach a point where money will become actually unavailable, and merchants will find it impossible to sell their bills. Gold of course can be procured in any quantity, and can be sent out to India, and under existing circumstances can be exchanged here for rupees; but the operation takes three or four weeks, and therefore this means of remittance provides a remedy that may prove too tardy to be effective.

"Under these circumstances, I propose, with the permission of the Council, to introduce a measure which will have the effect of assuring the public that there is at least one point beyond which the pressure will not go: that there is at least one ultimate means by which supplies of money can be obtained. We have a large quantity of money locked up in our Currency Reserve, and under existing legal conditions we can make part of it available by issuing it in exchange for gold. At present, however, as I have just explained, supplies of gold (beyond what happens at the moment to be in India) cannot be obtained until three or four weeks have passed. I ask the permission of Council to abolish this interval by enabling me to issue notes from the Currency Department against gold received on account of that Department by the Secretary of State, which he, receiving, will immediately send out to this country. Pending the arrival of that gold (if any is so tendered to the Secretary of State), the Currency Reserve will, so far as immediate availability is concerned, be deficient to the extent of its value. But, as I shewed last year in introducing a Bill for the investment of a portion of that reserve, the amount we have in hand is ample for the purpose of the assurance of the convertibility of our notes, and there is no risk, from a currency point of view, in the operation. In fact, the full amount of the reserve will be actually in existence and under our control, although, like the silver bullion we used to hold on it, not immediately producible in the form of coin in hand.

"We do not know, and perhaps we need not care, whether the facility, which I ask the Council to enable us to give, will be actually availed of or not. The feeling that the stringency of the market can never reach a point where money may actually become unavailable, may give the market the relief it wants, and matters may not reach the stage where, Council drawings or telegraphic transfers on our Treasury funds being insufficient for the supply of the market, supplies, by the projected means, through the medium of the currency reserve become necessary.

"For that is the form in which the measure will actually operate. The Secretary of State will draw on the Treasury, if required, to the full extent to which Treasury funds are available, but, if the demand continues beyond that point, he will then, in issuing his telegraphic transfers, set apart the money received on their account in the form of gold, and will take steps to transmit it to this country.

"The measure which I propose to the Council then takes the form of expanding the provisions of section 13 of the Currency Act. That section gives the Governor General in Council authority to issue notes against gold, as well as against silver, received in India. The present measure goes one step further in authorizing the issue against gold not actually received in India, but received in England, to be as soon as possible transmitted to the Currency Department in India.

"I may state that I am warranted in saying that the proposal now laid before Council has the support both of the Banking and of the commercial communities in Calcutta. I have consulted both these communities in framing the scheme, and I would not recommend any measure of the kind unless it had their support and approval. On the other hand, this approval will no doubt go a long way in commending the measure to the Council.

"It may be desirable to mention, in asking permission to introduce this Bill, that we have found it unnecessary to make so great use of the currency reserve in aid of coinage reform in Bhopal, as we anticipated would be required when the Act bearing on the subject was passed last Calcutta session. We have advanced 40 lakhs of rupees in all, and more than half of that amount has been received back in the form of silver now awaiting re-coinage in our Mints. I do not know if it will be necessary to make any further advances, but in any case the account will be closed by the end of March, and any further operations in Bhopal, after that date, conducted without aid from the currency reserve.

"The question will very naturally be asked in this connexion, what steps the Government have in contemplation with the view of carrying into final effect their currency policy of 1893—by what actual steps they mean to introduce the gold standard into India. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce have addressed to us this enquiry, expressing the opinion that the policy of waiting may involve an indefinite prolongation of the period of transition. I am afraid I am unable at this moment to give a final reply. One thing is clear, namely, that a great advance has been made, in respect of the condition of our Indian currency, in the direction in which it was contemplated by the authors of the policy of 1893 that the introduction of a gold standard would become possible. Many points which were then obscure and doubtful have been determined by actual experience. The disasters of the past year, by seriously affecting all Indian trade, set back for the time the current of advance, but bountiful harvests and the renewal of trade-activity have restored the position with a suddenness for which I think I may say that the commercial world was not prepared. A distinct advance has also been made in another and most useful direction, namely, that the discussions that took place last autumn have prepared public and official opinion in England for the possible necessity of a measure which may involve the actual diversion for Indian purposes of a certain amount of gold from the general available stock. As to the precise measures to be undertaken, all I can say is that the subject is under consideration, not by any means for the first time, but that in a matter of such importance, which has yet to be dealt with finally by the Government of India and the Secretary of State, it is not possible at the present stage to make any definite announcement, or to bind Her Majesty's Government by giving rise to any particular expectations. I have further to add that we are perfectly alive to the grave commercial bearings of the subject, which are alluded to in the letter of the Chamber of Commerce, and we believe the mercantile community require no assurance from us that their interests, as well as those of the Government, will have anxious attention at our hands. We are no believers in the theory that what is bad for the interests of Indian commerce can be of advantage to the interests of the Government of India."

The Hon'ble MR. ARTHUR said :—"My Lord, with reference to the remarks which have fallen from the Hon'ble Sir James Westland, there is no doubt that the Bill, which he proposes to introduce to provide for the issue of currency notes in exchange for gold received in England, will be welcomed by the banking and mercantile communities of India. The proposed Bill, whether the facilities it will give are availed of or not, will tend to allay the anxiety which prevails in regard to the extreme stringency of the Indian money market.

The Finance Minister, as he has told us, is able to meet the drawings of the Secretary of State by telegram only to a moderate extent, and the powers which he asks the Council to give him will enable him to supply the Exchange Banks, if necessary, with an unlimited quantity of rupees, with which to finance the trade of the country, at a known cost.

"While the proposed Bill will have this effect, it will in no way tend to stop the fluctuations in exchange, which it was claimed that the legislation of 1893 would lessen, and which, since that legislation, have been just as violent and often more unexpected than before. My Lord, I should like to point out to the Hon'ble Member, who has told us that he is unable to give any definite reply to the enquiry which was recently made as to what measures are being contemplated for the establishment of the gold standard, that the present high bank rate has seemingly no attractions for those people in this country who have ready money. They are remitting it in thousands of pounds to England, where it would appear they are content with a return of 2½ per cent. on a gold basis, as against the present return of 11 per cent. or more in this country on undoubted securities even on Government paper. While the policy of waiting, to which the Hon'ble Member has referred, will not tend to improve this state of matters, it is satisfactory to note that this very grave question is having the anxious attention and consideration of the Government. The mercantile and banking communities will welcome any sound currency system which will result in loanable capital being attracted to, and not drained from, this country, as is the case, and never more so than at the present time, under the present system,—policy I mean, my Lord, not system. Paragraph 25 of the despatch of the Government of India of last September declared that there is no currency system in India."

The Hon'ble SIR JAMES WESTLAND said:—"With reference to the remarks that have fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Allan Arthur I desire to say that I am unable to admit that the withdrawal of European capital from India is a direct consequence of the measures which were adopted in 1893, and I do not understand the Hon'ble Mr. Arthur to state this opinion in so many words. If those measures had not been undertaken, we know very well what the consequence would have been to the rupee. It certainly would not have stood as high as it is at present. It would have gone down from the figure at which it stood in 1893, possibly to the existing value of silver, that is, to something like 9 pence, but probably to something higher, with the prospect of a further fall as silver became cheaper and cheaper in the open market. What induced the holders of sterling capital employed in this country to withdraw their capital was the prospect of their not being able to realise it afterwards in sterling form in anything like the value at which they send it to this country. It is obvious therefore that the inducement to them to withdraw their capital and take it back to England would have existed in probably an aggravated form if the currency legislation of 1893 had not been adopted. They would have felt just as insecure as they feel at present and they would in the meantime have suffered a much greater loss than they have under the existing system. They have at least been able to remit their capital at 1s. 2d., 1s. 3d., and 1s. 4d., and it is very natural they should take advantage of these circumstances; but my belief is that, if the currency legislation of 1893 had not taken place, the sterling capital that now exists in India would have been frightened out of the country a long time ago by reason of the fall in the value of the rupee far below the rate at which it stood before that legislation was introduced."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR JAMES WESTLAND introduced the Bill. He said:—"In this connection I desire to draw the attention of Hon'ble Members to the somewhat peculiar form in which the Bill is cast. Its operation is expressed to be dependent upon the consent of the Secretary of State to carry out the measures which it contemplates. The reason of that is simply that we have not in India any legislative power or control over the proceedings of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, and the consequence is that any operation for which we legislatively provide and in which the Secretary of State is to take part has to be worded so as to be dependent not on our power to legislate but on the consent of the Secretary of State to take his part in it. The expression therefore does not imply any doubt on the part of the Government of India that the Secretary of State will consent to the measure which is now brought before the Council. In fact we understand that he does consent to its operation, for the present at any rate, for whatever length of time he may consider that consent to be necessary."

The Hon'ble SIR JAMES WESTLAND moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in English in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazettes.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 21st January, 1898.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Saturday, January 1st, 1898.

Pressure has been unsteady over India during the week under review, so that, though the main features of the pressure distribution have not altered, there have been considerable local changes. Pressure has been high over North-Western and part of Central India and low over the Bay or Burma, and this distribution has been maintained steadily throughout the week, but there have occurred considerable changes from day to day both in the area of high and in the area of low pressure. Thus the barometer read as high as 30.295" at Peshawar on the 30th December and as low as 30.057" on the 1st of January. Over the Bay the weather was disturbed by two slight storms, the first lasting from the 26th to the 28th, the second appearing and disappearing suddenly on the 30th December. Another important local change of pressure was the brisk to rapid fall of the barometer, which occurred over the Gangetic Plain during the 30th and 31st of December, and which resulted in the production of steep barometric gradients over the Gangetic Plain and of strong westerly winds and gales over that region. The two storms in the Bay were accompanied with slight rain over the Bay and the surrounding coasts, and a few local showers were received in Kashmir and the North Punjab during the week, but with these exceptions the weather was uninterruptedly fine throughout the whole of the Indian region. The mean temperature for the first few days of the week ranged below the normal average over Bombay and the central parts of the country, but in the second-half of the week in these localities and in other parts of India throughout the whole week the temperature was excessive and the mean temperature of the whole country for the whole week was  $1\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$  above the normal average.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, December 26th.—The barometer had fallen briskly over parts of Madras and the south of the Central Provinces, but had changed slightly elsewhere. A depression, within which the barometer read about  $0.12''$  below the normal, lay over the south of the Bay and was apparently inclined to move northward. Pressure was high and considerably above the normal average over the north-west of India, so that the pressure differences over the central parts of the country and the Peninsula were large. The winds around the Bay were influenced by the storm and were strong to a gale in force. In Northern India calms and light variable breezes were reported. There was a large deficiency in the mean temperature over Bombay and the central parts of India, and a large excess around the head of the Bay. Showers had been received at Madras and at the Ceylon stations.

Monday, December 27th.—The barometer had risen over the south of the Peninsula and Ceylon and had fallen elsewhere. The storm over the Bay was apparently drifting northward up the Bay at the same time filling up. The winds were cyclonic around the Bay, but the force had fallen lighter. Calms and variable light breezes continued very numerous over Northern India. The heat was largely below the normal average over the central parts of India and the Bombay Presidency, and largely above over the Madras Presidency and Burma. Showers were reported around the head of the Bay as well as in Baluchistan and Persia.

Tuesday, December 28th.—Pressure had given way over Burma, Bengal and the western desert, and had increased elsewhere. The rise had been brisk in Central Madras, the fall brisk at Saugor Island, so that the Bay depression was now apparently near the head of the Bay. The storm had, however, continued to fill up. In Northern India pressure was high and calms numerous. Temperature had fallen briskly over Bengal and was below the normal there as well as over the central parts of the country and Bombay. Excessive temperatures were on the contrary reported from Burma, Madras and the Punjab. Light showers had been received around the head of the Bay and in Baluchistan.

Wednesday, December 29th.—Pressure had increased almost everywhere. The depression over the Bay had almost filled up though the lowest pressures continued to be reported from that area. The winds were between north-west and north-east around the Bay, easterly over the west of the Peninsula and variable with calms elsewhere. Pressure was highest and considerably above the normal over North-Western and Central India. The heat was excessive over the greater part of India; the principal variations from the normal having been  $+8^{\circ}.8$  at Jacobabad,  $+9^{\circ}.7$  at Vizagapatam and  $+7^{\circ}.8$  at Barisal. Light snow had fallen in Kashmir and light rain at Peshawar, Murree, Cherat, Chaman and Bharno.

Thursday, December 30th.—The barometric changes had been large during the previous 24 hours. The barometer had fallen briskly over the Gangetic Plain and steepish gradients for west and north-west winds were appearing in that locality; it had fallen rapidly at Madras and a small storm apparently lay over the west of the Bay close to the Madras coast; it had on the contrary risen rapidly over Sind and Baluchistan, and the high pressure area in the north-west was strongly marked. A fresh to strong westerly to north-westerly wind was blowing down the Gangetic Plain, but elsewhere there was not much change to record though the wind was rising somewhat at Madras. The mean temperature was very high over Burma, the Bay area and east of the Peninsula, Akyab reporting a variation of  $+8^{\circ}.4$ , Coconada of  $+7^{\circ}.9$ , Cuddapah of  $+8^{\circ}.8$  and Trichinopoly of  $+6^{\circ}.6$ . Light showers of rain or snow had been received over the North-Western Himalayas, and showers over the Madras coast districts.

Friday, December 31st.—The barometer had fallen briskly to rapidly over Northern India, a low pressure area had appeared over Bihar, and the barometric gradients, already steep, had still further increased over the Gangetic Plain. At the same time pressure had increased briskly to rapidly over Madras and the storm noticed there on the preceding day had disappeared. Strong squally westerly gales were blowing down the Gangetic Plain; calms were reported over Bengal and calms or light northerly winds from Madras.

Pressure was lowest over Upper Burma. The mean temperature was lower than usual at several central stations and at Madras, but was generally excessive elsewhere. In Upper Burma the excess was between  $8^{\circ}$  and  $10^{\circ}$ . Light snow or rain had been received at one or two hill stations in the north-west, but the most important rainfall was that reported from the southern districts of Madras where Cochin reported  $1.36''$ , Cuddapah  $1.46''$ , Nellore  $0.80''$ , Trevandrum  $0.55''$ , Salem  $0.41''$ , Wellington  $0.31''$  and Madras  $0.28''$ .

Saturday, January 1st, 1898.—The barometer had fallen slightly to briskly over North-West India and risen slightly to briskly over North-East India, but elsewhere the changes had been unimportant. Pressure was highest over the central parts of the country and the head of the Peninsula and was lowest in Tenasserim. The pressure differences were much smaller than on the preceding day. The winds were practically unchanged. The mean temperature was low across the head of the Peninsula, in North Bengal and in South Madras, but was excessive elsewhere. Trichinopoly reported about half an inch of rain and Wellington a few drops, but elsewhere the weather had been rainless.

Temperature.—The principal feature in the temperature records of the past week has been the large variations from the normal which have been recorded. In Madras, in Burma and around the head of the Bay the heat on different occasions has been very excessive and in North-West India on some occasions largely excessive, while, on the contrary, over the central parts of the country and Bombay the heat on some days has been from  $4^{\circ}$  to  $7^{\circ}$  less than usual.

PROVINCE.	DECEMBER 1897.						JANUARY 1898.	Mean variation of week.

On each day of the week the mean temperature of the whole country exceeded the normal average, the excess ranging from  $0.8^{\circ}$  on the 26th to  $2.3^{\circ}$  on the 31st December. The provincial variations show that in Bombay, the Central Provinces, Central India and Gujarat the mean temperature of the week was normal or very slightly below the normal, but that in all the other provinces the heat was excessive, the amount of the excess being greatest and nearly  $4^{\circ}$  in Madras and Burma. On the 29th when, owing to the depression over the Bay, the sky was slightly clouded over the Bay area, the night temperatures were excessively high around the head of the Bay. Thus at False Point the minimum temperature was  $14.6^{\circ}$ , at Calcutta  $11.1^{\circ}$  and at Jessore  $10.3^{\circ}$  higher than the normal average.

Rain.—The two storms over the Bay and the feebly unsettled weather in the extreme north-west during the week under review, have resulted in a slightly more extensive area of rainfall than has been the case in the two preceding weeks. The fall of rain has, however, been exceedingly light and has exceeded the small normal average only in one or two unimportant instances. The North Punjab has received an average actual rainfall for the week of 0.22" and Baluchistan of 0.11"; these are the only amounts connected with the disturbed weather in the extreme north-west, and all the remaining rainfall reported is connected with the two storms over the Bay area. These two disturbances occasioned rain in the following thirteen divisions, vis., Upper Burma, East Bengal, the Bengal Hills, Orissa, Malabar, Madras (South-Central), Coorg, Mysore, the East Coast (North), Madras (Central), the East Coast (Central), the East Coast (South) and Madras (South), but of these thirteen divisions no less than seven had an average fall for the week of less than 0.10". There were thus throughout the whole country only eight divisions which received effective rainfall during the week, the whole of the remaining divisions showing actually or practically no rain.

The third column of the table shows that in the case of East Bengal, Orissa, Malabar, Baluchistan, Central Madras and the Central Division of the East Coast the small anticipated fall of the week has been exceeded by the actual fall, but that in all other parts of the country the weather has been drier than usual.

The autumn season has thus been dry almost everywhere. The principal rainfall during the period, October 15th to the end of the year, is the Carnatic rainfall which sets in with the appearance of north-east winds along the Madras coast. During the present year the wind in this region has been abnormally northerly and north-westerly and the rainfall has, as a consequence, been exceedingly scanty, thus in the north of the East Coast the rainfall anticipated during the two and a half months, October 17th to January 1st, is 9.0", while the actual amount received was 4.7"; in Central Madras the amounts are 5.6" and 0.8" respectively; in the centre of the East Coast 12.6" and 2.9"; in the south of the East Coast 19.2" and 5.5"; in South Madras 13.5" and 7.0"; in Malabar 10.1" and 5.3"; in South-Central Madras 10.3" and 3.0"; in Coorg 8.2" and 2.5", and in Mysore 6.0" and 0.6".

In the east of the Central Provinces, the west of Bengal and the east of the North-Western Provinces the rainfall of the period is locally in excess due to heavy rainfall which accompanied disturbed weather between the 15th and 18th of October, and in parts of the Punjab and Baluchistan, it is in excess, owing to an early cold-weather disturbance which gave rain to North-Western India between the 11th and 14th of December. These two periods of disturbed and rainy weather were, however, more or less accidental, and the general characteristic of the whole autumnal period has been fine and dry weather.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 8th January.—There was no rain during the week. The water-supply is generally insufficient for cultivation, except in the Northern Circars, Malabar and in parts of the Deccan. More rain is required everywhere. Agricultural operations continue but are retarded by want of rain. The crops in rainfed areas, except in the extreme north, are generally suffering for want of rain. The harvest is in progress; the outturn of crops in the north is middling or slightly better; elsewhere the outturn is middling or worse. Pasture is generally sufficient but is scanty in parts. Fodder is available. The condition of cattle is normal. Prices are very high; they are slightly easier in the north but are rising in the south; most of the staple dry grains are dearer than or are touching scarcity rates in Ganjam, Godavari, Kistna, Kurnool, Anantapur, Cuddapah, Nellore and North Arcot. There is no improvement in prospects. The numbers on relief were—Nellore test works—workers—786 men, 1,354 women, 813 children; total 2,953. Fed in kitchens—dependants—203 children. Others—men 20, women 11; total 239. Grand total 3,192. The figures are incomplete.

Bombay.—For week ending 10th January.—The standing crops are blighted or are suffering from excessive cold or drought in parts of Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Poona, Satara, Bijapur, Dharwar, Baroda and Karachi, and have been damaged by locusts in parts of Shikarpur and Upper Sind Frontier. The harvesting of early crops continues in four, and preparations for next season in three, districts. Supplies of fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock is healthy. Prices have risen in Ahmednagar, Belgaum, and Dharwar; fallen in nine other districts; and are almost stationary elsewhere. Prices in affected districts were—Belgaum 18½, Bijapur 17, Sholapur 10½ seers per rupee. The average number on relief works, including dependants, was—Bijapur 982, Sholapur 9,630, Belgaum 217; total 10,829, of whom 9,945 are relief workers and 884 dependants. Of relief workers—3,425 are men, 4,428 women, and 2,092 children. Of dependants—26 are men, 58 women, and 800 children. On gratuitous relief—Sholapur 1,883, Poona 61; total 1,944, of whom 638 are men, 933 women, and 373 children. Total number on relief 12,773.

Bengal.—For week ending 10th January.—There was slight rain at Darjeeling, but none elsewhere in the province during the week. The general prospects of all crops continue favourable. The harvesting of winter rice is being rapidly completed, and that of pulses and other early spring crops is in progress. A little rain is required for the spring crops in a few districts, and for the late-sown poppy plants in Monghyr. The cultivation of boro or spring rice has begun. Prices show a tendency to fall. Fodder is everywhere sufficient except in the flooded tracts of Chittagong and at Kurigram in Rangpur.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 12th January.—The weather is bright and cold. Prospects are reported favourable but the crops on unirrigable lands are in urgent need of rain, and slight anxiety is being caused by high westerly winds. Irrigation is being resorted to where practicable. Sugarcane-pressing is in progress. Slight damage is reported from frost in seven districts and by locusts in Jhansi. Supplies and fodder are sufficient. Prices are almost stationary.

Punjab.—For week ending 10th January.—Slight rain has fallen in parts of the Sialkot and Rawalpindi districts. The harvesting of autumn crops is over and only sugarcane-pressing and cotton-picking are in progress in some districts. Irrigation of spring crops is going on. Wheat and barley are still being sown in Peshawar. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally reported good, but rain is urgently needed in most districts. The yield of sugarcane is reported to be average in Sialkot and Peshawar, and that of cotton below average in Dera Ismail Khan. Locusts appeared in parts of Rawalpindi but did no damage. Some crops have been slightly damaged by caterpillars in parts of Ferozepore; by high winds in parts of Dera Ismail Khan; and by white ants in parts of Umballa. Cattle are generally in good condition except in Sialkot and in parts of Dera Ismail Khan. Fodder is sufficient in all districts except in Sialkot and in parts of Amritsar and Dera Ismail Khan. Prices are rising in Multan and Peshawar; falling in Jullundur, Lahore, Amritsar, Shahpore, Rawalpindi and Dera Ismail Khan; and are unchanged elsewhere. Wheat is selling from 10½ to 14, gram 11½ to 13, barley 16, bulrush millet 16½ to 22, maize 17 to 23½, great millet 18, and rice 9 to 10, seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 10th January.—The weather is clear and cold. So far the winter crops are in fair to good condition, but those latest sown are not thriving well, and some damage to gram and pulses from the excessive cold is reported from several districts. Rain would be most beneficial for the wheat crops. The numbers on relief are confined to 1,515 in poor houses and 251 otherwise relieved. Prices are fluctuating slightly, rice continuing relatively high in Chanda, Raipur and Balaghat; a rise in Nimar is attributed to exports to Madras. The numbers on gratuitous relief were—Damoh 251, Betul 70, Chhindwara 41, Bhandara 260, Balaghat 197, Raipur 324, and Bilaspur 623; total 1,766. There were also 13,079 persons employed on railway works. Details of gratuitous relief—poor-houses—men 278, women 263, and children 974. Otherwise relieved—children 251.

Burma.—For week ending 8th January.—In Lower Burma the reaping of the main paddy crop is completed in three districts; threshing is in progress and everywhere prospects are excellent. In Upper Burma the reaping of the wet-weather paddy, jowar, maize and sessamum is nearly ended in most districts, and cultivation of dry-weather crops is in progress. The crop prospects are fair, except in parts of Pakokku and Minbu districts. The price of paddy has risen largely in Amherst; considerably in Rangoon and Myaungmya; and has fallen largely in Thaton and Shwebo; considerably in Henzada and Pakokku and slightly in Prome.

Assam.—For week ending 11th January.—The weather is seasonable. Reaping of late rice is nearly finished and the outturn is generally good. Sowing of mustard still continues in Lakhimpur; the mustard crop has been damaged to some extent by locusts in parts of Sylhet and Nowgong. Gathering of pulses, pruning of tea, and pressing of sugarcane are in progress. Prices—common rice—Silchar, Sylhet and Sibsagar 12, Dhúbri and Gauhati 11, Tezpur and Dibrugarh 9½, and Nowgong 9, seers per rupee. Fodder is insufficient in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 10th January.—MYSORE: The standing crops are in good condition. Prices have risen slightly in Tumkur, Mysore and Shimoga. Ragi (Eleusine coracana) has been harvested in Bangalore, Shimoga, and parts of Kolar.

COORG: The rice harvest and coffee-picking continue. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 10th January.—BERAR: The weather is cool and clear. Picking of cotton and threshing of jowar (sorghum vulgare) continue. The winter crops are thriving satisfactorily. Fodder and water-supply are ample. Prices are almost stationary. Prices—jowar—Akola 19, Amraoti 22, Basim 20, Buldana 18, Ellichpur 21, and Wun 23, seers per rupee.

HYDERABAD: No rain during the week. The winter rice sowing, which is limited this year on account of the short water-supply in tanks, is still going on. The standing crops are affected in parts by excessive cold. Prices of grain are generally stationary, but have slightly risen in parts. Prices—wheat 5, coarse rice  $6\frac{1}{2}$ , and jowari  $11\frac{2}{3}$ , seers per current sicca rupee.

Central India.—For week ending 10th January.—No rain fell in Central India during the week. Winter rains are wanted in Bhopawar and Bundelkhand. Agricultural operations are in progress in all agencies. Crops are in good condition, but damage by locusts during the week is reported from Chhaturpur. The condition of opium in Bhopal is good. The state of agricultural stock and pasturage is good in all agencies. Prices are steady in Gwalior, Baghelkhand and Bhopawar; and are falling in other agencies.

Rajputana.—For week ending 12th January.—Standing crops and prospects continue good. Rain is needed in Kerowlee for the spring crops. Crops have been damaged by frost and locusts in parts of Meywar. Agricultural stock is in fair condition in Meywar and Bikanir and good elsewhere. Pasturage or fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Meywar, Jhallawar and Jeypore; falling in Haraoti, Kerowlee and Ulwar; and are steady elsewhere.

Kashmir.—For week ending 11th January.—The weather is fine. Prices continue below normal.

Jammu Province.—For week ending 11th January.—No rain during the week. Prices are stationary.

Nepal.—For week ending 10th January.—Rainfall nil. The mornings are cold and foggy; days sunny and bright. Price— $7\frac{1}{16}$  seers per rupee.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

ACT NO. II OF 1898.

An Act to provide for the issue of currency notes on the security of gold received in England.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the issue of currency notes on the security of gold received in England; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, commencement and duration.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1898.

(2) It shall come into force at once ; and

(3) It shall remain in force for six months from its commencement, and no longer.

2. After section 13 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, the following section shall be added, namely :—

XX of 1882.

Issue of notes against gold received in England.

“ 13A. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by an order notified in the Gazette of India, direct that currency notes shall be issued at such offices of issue as are named in the order to an amount equal to the value of gold held by the Secretary of State for India at the rate, and subject to the conditions, fixed by that order :

Provided that—

- (1) the power conferred by this section shall not be exercised unless the Secretary of State for India shall consent to hold in gold coin or gold bullion what he shall determine to be equivalent in value to the notes so issued, as a reserve to secure the payment of such notes, until he shall transmit the same, or what he shall determine to be equivalent to the same, in gold coin or gold bullion to India, or until the Government of India shall appropriate and set apart in India, as a part of the currency reserve under section 19, an amount of coin of the Government of India equal in value to such notes ;
- (2) gold coin or gold bullion so remitted shall be deemed to be received, within the meaning of section 19, when it is received in India by the Governor General in Council ; and
- (3) gold coin or gold bullion so retained shall, until its arrival in India, be distinguished from other gold coin or gold bullion in the abstract account published under section 27.”

No. 338-A.

Calcutta, the 21st January, 1898.

Whereas Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India has consented to hold in gold coin or gold bullion such amount as he may determine to be equivalent in value to the notes to be issued under this Order, for the purposes and on the terms and conditions mentioned in section 2 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1898, the Governor General in Council is pleased, in exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, as amended by the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1898, to direct that the Head Commissioner of Paper Currency, the Commissioner of Paper Currency, Madras, and the Commissioner of Paper Currency, Bombay, shall issue Currency Notes on the security of gold coin or bullion held by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India to the amounts which the Secretary of State may from time to time advise.

Notes will be issued under this Order at the rate of one Government rupee for 7'53344 grains of fine gold with the addition of such further quantity of fine gold as the Secretary of State shall, from time to time, determine to be sufficient to cover all costs and charges incidental to the transmission of gold to India. Sovereigns and half sovereigns of current weight coined at any authorised Royal Mint in England or Australia will be reckoned as containing 113'0016 grains of fine gold and 56'5008 grains of fine gold respectively.

RÉSOLUTION.

PENSIONS AND GRATUITIES.

*The 21st January 1898.No. 324-P.

READ—

Financial Resolution No. 788 P., dated the 24th February 1893.

RESOLUTION.—With the Resolution read in the preamble was published a table relating to the mortality among pensioners for the sixteen years ending 1890-91.

2. The Governor General in Council is now pleased to direct the publication in the Gazette of India for general information of the accompanying tables containing similar figures for the five years ending 1895-96, for (a) all pensioners, (b) civil and military pensioners separately, for the whole of India. Statistics for each Province separately are also available and will be supplied to any one interested in the subject who may apply for them.

Explanatory Memorandum.

In 1871 the Government of India directed that every office from which pensions are disbursed should submit an annual return showing the number of deaths among the pensioners paid from that office during the course of the year. The returns for the sixteen years ending with 1890-91 were compiled and the general result was published in a table appended to the Resolution in this Department, No. 788 P., dated 24th February 1893.

2. In the accompanying tables pensioners are divided into three classes, namely:—

- (1) those drawing pensions not exceeding R10 a month;
- (2) those drawing pensions exceeding R10 but not exceeding R50 a month; and
- (3) those drawing pensions exceeding R50 a month; and are grouped by periods of age beginning with that for 50 years and under.

The returns include all pensioners paid in India, whether Europeans, Eurasians or Natives of India; but as the overwhelming majority are Natives of India, the results may be considered as specially applicable to that class of lives.

3. The number of deaths shown in the returns is:—

- (a) the number of pensioners actually reported to be dead;
- + (b) the pensioners whose pensions have lapsed owing to non-appearance for six months;
- (c) those whose pensions have been subsequently renewed;

it being assumed that the difference between (b) and (c) represents the number of pensioners whose deaths have not been reported. The number of pensioners shown as exposed to risk is half the number on the rolls at the beginning plus half the number on the rolls at the end of each year.

4. As stated before, these returns were not prescribed with the object of compiling tables of mortality; as, however, they contain the results of observations covering more than seven hundred thousands of years of life and over forty-five thousands of deaths, they may be found useful by actuaries and statisticians for that purpose, and the Governor General in Council has accordingly directed that they be published for general information. In dealing with them it should be borne in mind that civil pensioners of the earlier ages, below 55, have ordinarily retired on invalid pensions, and that in the age group 51 to 60 there is always a large accession of new civil pensioners after the age of 55, the maximum number of new entrants coming on the pension list at the age of 56 or 57.

Macnaughten, 16th Lancers, to "Assistant to Chief Transport Officer."

No. 57.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council directs the publication of the subjoined communication from the Adjutant-General in India, submitting, under the orders of the Commander-in-Chief in India, despatches from Colonel A. J. F. Reid and Lieutenant-Colonel A. Montanaro, describing the operations of the Utman Khel Column of the Malakand Field Force, in the Cis-Swat Utman Khel country.

From MAJOR-GENERAL G. DE C. MORTON, C.B., Adjutant-General in India, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,—(No. 125-F, dated Fort William, the 10th January 1898).

I have the honor, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to forward, for the information of the Government of India, the accompanying letter * from * No. 6, dated 25th December, 1897. Major-General Sir Bindon Blood, K.C.B., transmitting reports by Colonel A. J. F. Reid and Lieutenant-Colonel A. Montanaro, which describe the recent operations of a part of the Malakand Field Force in the Cis-Swat Utman Khel country.

2. His Excellency recommends that the reports may be treated as despatches and published as such in the Gazette of India. He cordially endorses the remarks made by Major-General Sir Bindon Blood as to the manner in which the operations in question were carried out by Colonel Reid and Lieutenant-Colonel Montanaro and all ranks under their command, and he would commend those officers to the favourable consideration of the Government of India.

From MAJOR-GENERAL SIR BINDON BLOOD, K.C.B., Commanding the Malakand Field Force, to the Adjutant General in India,—(No. 6, dated Camp Kunda, the 25th December 1897).

I have the honor to submit herewith a map of the Cis-Swat Utman Khel district, together with the following reports on the recent operations of part of my force therein, namely:—

(a) A report by Colonel A. J. F. Reid, Staff Corps, describing his march with a column of all arms from Dargai, through the eastern portion of the district, and back again.

(b) A report by Lieutenant-Colonel A. Montanaro, 16th Bengal Infantry, on the operations of the battalion under his command at the western extremity of the district.

2. You will observe that the objects in view of which the operations reported on were undertaken were fully and expeditiously attained, and that no hitch or contretemps of any sort occurred. I venture to think that much credit is due to Colonel Reid for the perfect manner in which he arranged and carried out the movement of his force and overcame the considerable physical difficulties which he encountered; and I fully endorse the favourable remarks he makes regarding his troops and staff. I would further express an opinion that Lieutenant-Colonel Montanaro also carried out what he had to do with tact and judgment; and I have the honor accordingly to recommend both these officers, together with all who served under them, to the favourable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

3. In making the necessary preliminary arrangements for the operations under reference, I was much assisted by information and advice received from Mr. Merk, Civil Service, the Commissioner of Peshawar, from Major Deane, C.S.I., the Political Agent at the Malakand, from Mr. C. Bunbury, Civil Service, Deputy Commissioner of Peshawar, and also from Mr. Stuart Waterfield, Punjab Police, who was specially appointed Assistant Political Officer for the operations.

From COLONEL A. J. F. REID, Commanding the Utman Khel Column, to the Assistant Adjutant-General, Malakand Field Force,—(No. 1, Field Operations, Utman Khel Column,—dated Malakand, 10th December, 1897.)

I have the honour to submit the following report of the operations of the Utman Khel Column.

2. The column was composed as under, vis.:—

I.—Corps.

 Intelligence Officer,—Lieutenant A. C. M. Waterfield, 11th Bengal Lancers.
 Commissariat Officer,—Captain A. R. Burlton, Staff Corps.
 Transport Officer,—Lieutenant R. S. Weston, Manchester Regiment.
 Provost-Marshal,—Lieutenant H. E. Cotterill, Royal West Surrey Regiment.
 Signalling Officer,—Lieutenant W. H. Trevor, The Buffs.
 Senior Medical Officer,—Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel P. F. O'Connor, Indian Medical Service.
 Senior Veterinary Officer,—Veterinary-Lieutenant G. M. Williams, Army Veterinary Department.

I was placed in political charge, and nominated Lieutenant Waterfield, 11th Bengal Lancers, Assistant Political Officer.

3. The column assembled at Osmankhel Garhi on the 22nd November, on the light scale of baggage, without tents and with seven days' rations—afterwards supplemented by two more days' supplies—in order to exact certain terms from the Agra, Upper Totai, and Khanauri sections of the Utman Khels on the left bank of the Swat river, who had refused to come in, and which terms had been imposed on them as a punishment for their complicity in the attack on Malakand in July and August 1897. The terms were:—(1). The surrender of 300 guns and all breach-loaders; (2) Survey of the country; (3) Formal submission to the Political Agent at Malakand; (4) Forage for the force; (5) Road-making as required,—an important matter, as the column had 600 camels in its carriage equipment.

4. The path over the Barh Kotal was made fit for camels, and the force crossed to Kot in Lower Totai, on the 24th November, where it was inspected by Major-General Sir Bindon Blood, K.C.B., commanding the Malakand Field Force. The Jirgahs attended and accepted the terms,—Agra reluctantly. The Khelo Pass into Upper Totai was found to be difficult even for mules. Working parties were put on the river road, and the column reached Bargholai, in Upper Totai, on the 27th. From the village of Kot, where the camp was, the road is on the flat for half a mile; then up the narrow bed of the Jhindai stream for seven, when a low kotal is crossed; at the foot the Manki Mullah has a mosque. From this point a branch of the road is carried to the north over the Agra Pass (3,700 feet), and the Upper Totai Valley opens out to the east, with the village of Bargholai, a mile off, at the further end. Upper Totai acted fully up to its engagements, but Agra held back till interviewed on the 27th at the foot of the Agra Pass, when it submitted unconditionally. On the 28th a flying column of 1,000 men, with guns and sappers, was taken from Bargholai over the Agra Pass, easy for mules after repair, but impassable for camels, and returned on the 30th, after receiving the guns due by the section, and reconnoitring beyond the Inzargai Pass (4,460 feet), to the points touched by the 2nd Brigade, Malakand Field Force, in August 1897. The valley is close and rugged, the people hardy and independent. At Agra a party of from 200 to 400 Shamozaïs, with standards, was seen watching events from a hill on the other side of the Swat river, but they made no attempt to cross.

5. The column returned to Kot on the 1st December, to deal with Khanauri, a cluster of hamlets high up on the hill to the west. The Jirgah was not there, and one of the maliks had absconded with all his belongings. The guns were given up next day, while a force destroyed the defences of the defaulting malik's house. Four days' rations, brought in by the Guides Infantry, were received at Kot. The 3rd December was spent in completing the survey of the country, and improving the road over the Kaga Pass. On the 4th Lower Totai was evacuated, one-half of the force using the Barh, the other half the Kaga Pass. The survey having been finished, and all terms complied with, the column broke up on the 5th December.

6. The weather was fine, and the troops were healthy. Every one worked cheerfully and well. Though there was no opposition, I should like to acknowledge the zeal and resource shown by the officers commanding corps and by the staff, in a march, not without difficulty, through an intricate country.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. MONTANARO, Commanding the 16th (The Lucknow) Bengal Infantry, to the Assistant Adjutant-General, Malakand Field Force, Camp Kunda,—(No. 591-A.-O, dated Dargai, the 22nd December 1897).

In compliance with your letter of the 21st instant, I have the honor to report that in accordance with your telegram No. 297, of the 24th November 1897, to the General Officer Commanding the 1st Brigade, for communication to me, I marched from Kunda on the 24th November 1897 with the 16th Bengal Infantry and one section of No. 51 Native Field Hospital for Abazai, where I arrived on the 25th, and sent one half-company to reinforce the guard of Border Police in charge of the Canal-Head post.

2. Mr. Bunbury, Deputy Commissioner of Peshawar, arrived in the afternoon and informed me that the Laman Utman Khel villages concerned in the attack on Shabkadr and the burning of Shankargarh and also in the attack on the Malakand, were Sapri, Buchai, Nawakilli, Nawadand, Prangarh, and some minor hamlets, that he did not anticipate resistance, and that Mr. Stuart Waterfield, Punjab Police, had summoned the Jirgahs to meet us at Gandhéri on the 27th.

3. I employed the 26th in visiting the canal head and defences with Mr. Bunbury, and on the 27th rode with him to Gandhéri, where Mr. Waterfield had assembled the Jirgahs. Mr. Bunbury announced to them the wishes of Government, vis., that they should surrender all rifles, 300 guns and 300 swords, and pay a fine of Rs. 2,000. Time was given to them up to the evening of the 2nd December, in which to comply with these orders.

4. On the 2nd December in the afternoon, the Jirgahs of the several villages assembled at Abazai and brought in arms and money; but on counting the same it was found that they had brought in only Rs. 1,831-8, no rifles of any sort, and only 274 guns and 264 swords. Hostages were therefore retained until payment of the balances on the following day.

5. On the 3rd December, Mr. Waterfield brought in the balance of Rs. 68-8, 26 guns, and 36 swords, but still no rifles. He reported that village by village and hamlet by hamlet, the maliks had taken a solemn oath on the Koran that they had none. He also explained that when formerly reporting the presence of Enfield rifles in the Laman Utman Khel villages, he had been deceived by the resemblance to such of the Tower muskets now given in among the 300 guns surrendered. Mr. Bunbury having expressed himself satisfied that the villages possessed no rifles, I reported accordingly in my telegram No. 542 of the 3rd December to the Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master-General, Intelligence Branch of the Force.

6. On the 5th December, acting on telegraphic orders received on the previous day from the Assistant Quarter-Master-General, I marched to Hari Chand, en route for Dargai, taking with me the surrendered arms and the fine money in charge of the 16th Bengal Infantry. The section No. 51 Native Field Hospital proceeded to Kunda. At Hari Chand I received orders to send the surrendered arms and money next day to the General Officer Commanding the 1st Brigade at Kunda. On the 6th I complied with this order, sending a special escort, and marched the regiment to Dargai.

TIRAH.

No. 58.—The Right Honourable the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letter from the Adjutant-General in India, submitting a despatch from General Sir W. S. A. Lockhart, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., describing the operations of the Tirah Expeditionary Force from the 18th to the 31st October 1897.

His Excellency the Governor General in Council concurs with His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in his appreciation of the ability and judgment shown by General Sir William Lockhart in the conduct of the operations recorded in his despatch, and also of the gallant and soldierly behaviour of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men under his command.

His Excellency in Council, while deeply regretting the loss of life which occurred in the attack on the heights of Dargai on the 20th October 1897, fully shares in the admiration expressed by the Commander-in-Chief of the gallantry displayed by both officers and men on that occasion.

In the assaults on the Sampagha and Arhanga passes, the skilful dispositions of the General Commanding and the excellent qualities displayed by the troops enabled these strong positions to be won with comparatively little loss.

From Major-General G. de C. MORTON, C.B., Adjutant-General in India, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,—No. 120-F, dated Fort William, the 10th January 1898.

I have the honor, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to forward, for the information of the Government of India, the accompanying despatch from General Sir W. S. A. Lockhart, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., describing the operations of the Tirah Expeditionary Force from the 18th to the 31st October 1897.

2. The general object of the expedition was to exact reparation for the unprovoked aggression of the Afridi and Orakzai tribes on the Peshawar and Kohat Borders, in attacking our frontier posts, and for the damage to life and property which had thus been inflicted on British subjects and on those in the British service. The despatch now submitted shows the measures which were taken by General Sir William Lockhart to carry out the orders of the Government of India and to enter Tirah, a country which until now has never been invaded by a British force.

3. The incidents which occurred between the 18th and 20th October, and which immediately preceded the concentration of both Divisions of the force at Khangarbur, in the Khanki Valley, are detailed in the despatch. With regard to paragraph 21 thereof the Commander-in-Chief agrees with Sir William Lockhart that a flanking demonstration combined with a frontal attack would in all probability have enabled the Dargai heights to have been taken at less loss of life, but he is confident that the Government of India will share his admiration of the distinguished gallantry and the marked devotion to duty evinced by all ranks in assailing that difficult position, defended as it was by a resolute and well armed enemy.

4. The measures subsequently taken by Sir William Lockhart to force the Sampagha and Arhanga passes, where it had been anticipated the greatest resistance would be met, were thoroughly successful, and to their skilful conception and the employment of concentrated artillery fire may be ascribed the small loss of the life that characterized both operations.

5. His Excellency cordially endorses the remarks which the General Officer Commanding the Force makes regarding the behaviour of the troops engaged in these operations, and he desires to recommend for the favourable consideration of Government the distinguished services of General Sir William Lockhart, and of the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men mentioned by him in the despatch.

From General Sir W. S. A. LOCKHART, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., Commanding the Tirah Expeditionary Force, to the Adjutant-General in India,—No. 524-T-C, dated Head Quarters, Tirah Expeditionary Force, Camp Dwatol, the 9th December 1897.

In compliance with the instructions conveyed in your letter No. 2235-F, dated the 20th November 1897, I have the honour to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, the following account of the operations of the force under my command from the 18th to the 31st October 1897.

2. On October 16th, the Second Division of the Main Column had concentrated at Shinaori, with the exception of the troops occupying the Samana ridge near Forts Lockhart and Gulistan; * the First Division was expected to assemble at the same place on the 19th; and I consequently issued orders for the march of the Main Column on the 20th and following days from Shinaori to Karappa, each corps being directed to leave behind its tents and heavy baggage under charge of a regimental guard. Meanwhile the road from the Chagru Kotal towards Karappa was being improved by military and hired labour, working under the protection of covering parties. It was reported, however, that the troops and labourers thus employed were being so molested by the enemy's sharpshooters who occupied the heights to the west of the Chagru defile, especially by those living in a small village called Dargai, about 1,800 yards to the left of the road shortly after it crosses the crest of the pass, that the improvement of the road could not be continued until the heights had been cleared; while two days' work was said to be necessary to render the road sufficiently good for the passage of laden transport animals. It was further reported that no water was obtainable in the immediate vicinity of Dargai, the inhabitants getting water from the valley below to the west, where there were several rich Alikhel villages and a number of cattle.

3. I therefore determined to attack and destroy the village of Dargai, while by a simultaneous flanking movement I seized the heights overlooking the valley to the west, and cleared out the lower villages referred to above. Although I was aware of a hostile gathering in the Khanki valley, the information I had received through native channels led me to believe that the Orakzais, other than the Alikhel section of that tribe, did not intend seriously to oppose my advance until I had reached Karappa, and that the Afridis were too busily engaged in fortifying the Sampagha and Arhangha passes to be able to assist the Orakzais in any considerable strength.

4. During my stay on the Samana, Major-General Yeatman-Biggs had been in indifferent health, and though he was able to move to Shinaori on October the 17th, while the troops to be employed were drawn almost exclusively from the 2nd Division, I thought it better to spare him the fatigue of conducting the operations designed to clear the road and punish the Alikhels. These operations I accordingly entrusted to Lieutenant-General Sir A. P. Palmer, Commanding the Line of Communications.

5. The front attack on Dargai was directed by Brigadier-General Westmacott, C.B., D.S.O., who had the following troops placed at his disposal:—

No. 5 (Bombay) Mountain Battery.
Rocket Detachment, Royal Artillery.
2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers.
1st Battalion 3rd Gurkha Rifles.

The main column employed on the flanking movement was commanded by Brigadier-General Kempster, D.S.O., and consisted of the following troops:—

No. 8 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery.
Machine Gun Detachment, 16th Lancers.
1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment.
1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders.
1st Battalion 2nd Gurkha Rifles.
15th Sikhs.
No. 4 Company, Madras Sappers and Miners.
Scouts of the 5th Gurkha Rifles.

This column was accompanied by Lieutenant-General Sir A. P. Palmer, K.C.B., with an escort of one company of the 3rd Sikhs.

Brigadier-General Kempster's column left Shinaori at 4-30 A.M., and Brigadier-General Westmacott's at 5 A.M. On the latter reaching the Chagru Kotal at 8-30 A.M., it was joined by No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, and the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment from Fort Lockhart. At 9 A.M. the attack was commenced, the 1st Battalion 3rd Gurkhas leading, with the 2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers in support and the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment in reserve. At the same time a working party under Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. Thurburn, Commanding Royal Engineer, Line of Communications, consisting of the 21st Madras Pioneers, the Sirmur Imperial Service Sappers, and the hired labourers, was pushed forward beyond the kotal to improve the road.

6. The advance of the troops, which was covered by No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, and No. 5 (Bombay) Mountain Battery, was necessarily slow, the slopes being extremely steep and affording but little cover. The enemy at first kept up a vigorous fire from the walled terraces and rocks in front of the village, but shortly before noon, when the flanking movement began to develop and the tribesmen's line of retreat was threatened, the opposition slackened and the position was carried by a company of the 3rd Gurkhas under Major Rose. About 20 of the enemy's dead were left on the ground, a sure indication of the heavy loss which had been inflicted.

7. Meanwhile the main column had moved in a north-westerly direction, along a track which had been reported as practicable for baggage animals. At the fifth mile, however, the road was found to be impassable for mules, and No. 8 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, with all laden animals had to be ordered back to Shinaori, escorted by the 1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment and two companies of the 15th Sikhs. The remainder continued their march, led by the Gurkha scouts, a few of the enemy's marksmen firing at the advancing troops and wounding two riflemen of the 1st Battalion and Gurkhas.

At 11 A.M., heliographic communication was established with Brigadier-General Westmacott's column, and shortly before noon the 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas, which was leading, reached a commanding position at Khand Talao, about two and a half miles west of Dargai, thus causing the tribesmen hastily to evacuate that village as well as the villages in the valley below. During their retirement the enemy, estimated to number some 800 men, came under the fire of the 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas, and suffered considerable loss.

8. At this point, owing to the great difficulties of the road, the main column had to be halted to allow of the Gordon Highlanders and 15th Sikhs closing up, and also to cover the return to camp at Shinaori of the mountain battery and its escort. At 2-30 P.M. the concentration had been completed, and the main column began to move towards Dargai in order to join Brigadier-General Westmacott's force, which in the meantime had destroyed that village. The path was extremely difficult, and in some places precipitous, so that progress was slow, and it was found impossible to reach the villages below Dargai which it had been intended to deal with, and near which the water-supply of Dargai was situated. The track to the water was afterwards found to be about three miles in length, so commanded from the adjacent heights that water could not have been obtained in the presence of an enemy, unless these heights as well as Dargai itself had been held.

9. At this time a hostile force, numbering about 4,000 men, was observed advancing from the Khanki valley up the Narik Darra towards Khand Talao, while another body of the enemy began to ascend the Dargai heights from the same direction. It was clear, therefore, that the gathering of tribesmen near Karappa, having heard the sound of the guns earlier in the day, had resolved to reinforce the Alikhels who had just been driven out of Dargai and the neighbouring villages. But before the enemy could come within fighting distance, the junction between the two columns had been effected, the 15th Sikhs covering the climb of Brigadier-General Kempster's column along the rugged path described above, and the retirement of the Sikhs being in turn covered by the Gordon Highlanders and two companies of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, who took up a strong position just below the village of Dargai.

While this was going on, Brigadier-General Westmacott began his withdrawal to the Chagru Kotal, having first posted No. 5 (Bombay) Mountain Battery near the kotal itself, and sent No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, with the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment, to a position on the Samana Suk, which flanked the road from Dargai to the crest of the pass. The enemy pressing on, a hot engagement ensued between them and the rear guard, our guns making excellent practice, and the Gordon Highlanders, with the two companies of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, steadily holding their ground and checking the advance of the tribesmen. The heavy loss inflicted on the enemy caused them to lose heart, no reply being made to a final volley fired by the rear guard about 7 P.M., after which the withdrawal to the Chagru Kotal and thence to Shinaori was entirely unmolested. Camp was reached by the rear guard at 11 P.M.

10. Lieutenant-General Sir A. P. Palmer has commented most favourably on the steadiness and gallantry of the troops engaged on October the 18th, and has brought to my special notice the services of the following officers with Brigadier-General Westmacott's column :—

Major H. Rose, 1st Battalion 3rd Gurkhas, Capt. A. P. Bateman-Champain, 2nd Battalion 3rd Gurkhas, and Lieutenant W. G. L. Beynon, D.S.O., 1st Battalion 3rd Gurkhas, who led the attack on Dargai.

Also Capt. T. G. MacLaren, Capt. D. R. Sladen, Capt. A. E. Haig, Lieutenant H. F. Pipe-Wolferstan and Second-Lieutenant T. H. Keyes of the 2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers, who were engaged in supporting the attack and covering the withdrawal.

With Brigadier-General Kempster's column—

Lieutenant-Colonel H. H. Mathias, C.B., 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders.

Lieutenant-Colonel H. A. Abbott, 15th Sikhs.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. A. Travers, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas.

Captain I. Philipps, 1st Battalion 5th Gurkhas, Deputy Assistant Adjutant and Quarter-Master-General, Line of Communications.

Captain F. G. Lucas and Lieutenant the Hon'ble C. G. Bruce, 5th Gurkhas, who were in charge of the Gurkha scouts.

No. 2967, Private W. Rennie, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, who shot down four of the enemy at very close quarters.

11. The casualties on October 18th comprised—

Major R. D. Jennings-Bramly, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, killed.

Lieutenant M. L. Pears, 1st Battalion Scottish Rifles, attached to the Gordon Highlanders, severely wounded.

British Non-Commissioned Officers and men :—killed 2, wounded 10.

Native ranks :—killed 6, wounded 21.

Followers :—wounded 3.

12. I am much indebted to Lieutenant-General Sir A. P. Palmer and Brigadier-Generals Westmacott and Kempster for the skilful manner in which the troops were handled, and the operations described above brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

13. Having watched the action from the Samana Suk until Dargai had been captured and the two columns had established communication with each other, I returned to Fort Lockhart, where at 5 P.M. I received a heliogram from Lieutenant-General Sir A. P. Palmer, informing me that the object of the reconnaissance had been attained, and that the troops were returning to Shinaori. I accordingly directed the General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division to continue work on the road the next day, under the protection of two battalions and a mountain battery. At 11 A.M. on October 19th a heliogram was received from Major-General Yeatman-Biggs, reporting that the troops of his division had reached camp so late on the previous evening that he thought it better not to employ them in the manner indicated, especially as an advance to Karappa had to be made the next day. I regret that my orders were not carried out, even at the risk of fatiguing the troops, as the presence of a force on the Chagru Kotal might have deterred the enemy from re-occupying Dargai, and in any case would have enabled the road to be further improved. But the heliogram reached me too late to allow of the employment of the working party, which otherwise might have been covered by troops detailed from the 1st Division.

14. On October 19th the Dargai heights were observed during the day from the Samana ridge, but there was no sign of a formidable gathering, although a few tribesmen were seen moving about near the village.

15. Late in the evening of the 19th I received a telegram from Shinaori, reporting that Dargai and the adjacent heights were believed to be strongly held by the enemy, and that the General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division proposed to advance the next day to Karappa via Fort Gulistan, the Samana Suk, and the Talai spur, instead of down the Chagru defile. For reasons which need not here be detailed, I was unable to accept this suggestion, and in reply desired Major-General Yeatman-Biggs to adhere to the original plan of movement. I remarked that while it would be necessary to clear the Dargai heights overlooking the road to the west, the enemy would probably retire as soon as troops had been pushed on to the point where the Narik Darra joins the Chagru defile, as the enemy's rear would thus be threatened; and to assist him in the frontal attack, I placed at his disposal two battalions and one mountain battery from the 1st Division. I also informed him that No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, and the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment would be directed to co-operate from Fort Lockhart, by taking up a position on the Samana Suk opposite Dargai at 7 A.M.

16. On October 20th the troops of the 2nd Division, as detailed in the margin, moved as 2nd Gurkhas, supported by the 1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment. The 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment was in reserve, followed by the 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders.

By 11-30 A.M. the above force was in formation, under cover, in readiness to capture the heights, but when the 2nd Gurkhas, accompanied by the Gurkha scouts of the 1st Battalion 3rd Gurkhas, made their first rush across the open, they were met by such a hot and well-aimed fire that all they could do was to hold on to the position they had reached, without being able to advance further.

At 2 P.M. the Dorsetshire Regiment was ordered to storm the enemy's entrenchments, but though a few men were able to get across the fire-swept zone, an advance beyond the line held by the 2nd Gurkhas was reported by the commanding officer to be impracticable, owing to the large number of tribesmen lining the edge of Dargai plateau and the steepness of the slope leading up to it. The General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division accordingly ordered Brigadier-General Kempster to move up the Gordon Highlanders and the 3rd Sikhs, the former regiment being replaced on the lower spur which it had hitherto occupied by the Jhind Imperial Service Infantry. The Gordon Highlanders went straight up the hill without check or hesitation. Headed by their pipers and led by Lieutenant-Colonel Mathias, C.B., with Major Macbean on his right and Lieutenant A. F. Gordon on his left, this splendid battalion marched across the open. It dashed through a murderous fire and in forty minutes had won the heights, leaving three officers and thirty men killed or wounded on its way. The first rush of the Gordon Highlanders was deserving of the highest praise, for they had just undergone a very severe climb, and had reached a point beyond which other troops had been unable to advance for over three hours. The first rush was followed at short intervals by a second and a third, each led by directed, the advance guard leaving camp at Shinaori at 4-30 A.M., and reaching the Chagru Kotal at 8 A.M. At the latter hour the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment and No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, were in position on the Samana Suk. The troops detailed from the 1st Division to assist in the advance of the 2nd Division were No. 1 (Kohat) Mountain Battery, the 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment, and the 3rd Sikhs.

The 3rd Brigade under Brigadier-General Kempster began its attack on the Dargai heights at 10 A.M., by a concentrated artillery fire from No. 8 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, and No. 1 (Kohat) and No. 5 (Bombay) Mountain Batteries, these being posted slightly in advance of the kotal. No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, assisted by shelling the enemy's sangars from the Samana Suk. The attack was led by the 1st Battalion officers; and as the leading companies went up the path for the final assault, the remainder of the troops, among whom the 3rd Sikhs were conspicuous, streamed on in support. But few of the enemy waited for the bayonet, many of them being shot down as they fled in confusion.

17. The position was won at 3-15 P.M., with the loss of three officers killed, namely—

Major C. B. Judge, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas;

Captain W. E. C. Smith, 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment; and

Lieutenant A. Lamont, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders;

Lieutenant-Colonel H. H. Mathias, C.B., 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders.

Major F. Macbean, ditto ditto.

Captain H. P. Uniacke, ditto ditto.

Lieutenant M. F. M. Meiklejohn, ditto ditto.

„ K. Dingwall, ditto ditto.

„ G. S. G. Craufurd, ditto ditto.

Captain W. R. Arnold 1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment.

Captain J. G. Robinson, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas (since dead).

Lieutenant G. E. White, 3rd Sikhs.

Of other ranks 35 were killed, and 158 wounded.

18. The enemy's loss has not been ascertained, but must have been heavy. Nearly every section of the Afridis was represented but not in full strength; and there were about 1,500 Sheikhs, Mishtis, Mallakhels, and Akhels, besides contingents from the Mamozais, Massozais, and Alikhels.

19. The General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division has brought to my special notice the gallant conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Mathias, C. B., commanding the 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, in leading his battalion to the assault of a most difficult position at a critical period of the fight, when previous attempts had failed. I recommend this officer for the Victoria Cross.

Major-General Yeatman-Biggs has also reported most favourably on the behaviour of the following British and native officers and soldiers:—

Major F. Macbean, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, who was the first to spring out of cover and lead his company to the attack, and who, being immediately afterwards wounded, continued to cheer his men on while lying on the ground.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. A. Travers, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas, who led the first rush of his men.

Captains D. C. F. Macintyre and J. G. Robinson, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas; and Lieutenant A. B. Tillard, 1st Battalion 3rd Gurkhas, commanding the Gurkha scouts of his regiment.

No. 2951, Piper G. Findlater, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, who, after being shot through both feet and unable to stand, sat up under a heavy fire playing the regimental march to encourage the charge.

No. 3456, Private E. Lawson, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, who carried Lieutenant Dingwall, when wounded and unable to move, out of a heavy fire, and subsequently returned and brought in Private M'Millan, being himself wounded in two places in so doing.

Subadar Kirpa Ram Thapa, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas, who, though wounded in two places, continued to discharge his duties in the front line.

I recommended Piper Findlater and Private Lawson for the Victoria Cross.

20. The General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division has also brought to notice the services of the following officers, non-commissioned officers and men as deserving of recognition:—

Major G. T. F. Downman, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders.

Captain C. C. Miller-Wallnutt, do.

Captain and Adjutant W. Campbell, do.

Lieutenant G. D. Mackenzie, do.

Lieutenant G. E. E. G. Cameron, do.

No. 1771, Colour-Sergeant J. Craib, do.

No. 2025, Colour-Sergeant T. Mackie, do.

No. 2021, Sergeant F. Richie, do.

No. 3056 „ D. Mathers, do.

No. 1953 „ T. Donaldson, do.

No. 2465 „ J. M'Kay, do.

No. 3711, Lance-Corporal (piper) G. Milne, do.

Captain W. R. Arnold, 1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment, who led the first rush of his battalion.

No. 3937, Private S. Vickery, 1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment, who ran down the slope, rescued a wounded comrade, and brought him back to cover. This soldier has subsequently greatly distinguished himself during the withdrawal of Brigadier-General Kempster's column from the Waran valley, and I propose in due course to recommend him for the Victoria Cross.

Lieutenant H. S. Pennell, 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment, who endeavoured to bring in Captain Smith's body, and only desisted on finding that Captain Smith was dead.

Captain C. E. de M. Norie, 1st Battalion 2nd Gurkhas, who was conspicuously forward at the commencement of the action.

21. In recording my acknowledgments to Major-General Yeatman-Biggs, C.B., and Brigadier-General Kempster, D. S. O., for the success of the operations on October 20th, I think it necessary to point out that the advance was not conducted in the manner which I had intended; and, as I thought, had clearly indicated. The General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division restricted himself to a frontal attack on the Dargai heights, without employing a portion of the large force at his disposal to turn the enemy's rear by pushing on as rapidly as possible to the point of junction of the Narik Darra with the Chagru defile. Undoubtedly the troops would have been under fire and might have suffered some loss in moving along the road below the heights; but if full advantage had been taken of the inequalities of the ground, I am of opinion that the loss would not have been heavy, and I feel confident that, as soon as their line of retreat was threatened, the tribesmen would have begun to disperse.

At the same time, I recognize that the enemy's defeat was rendered more complete and decisive by their being encouraged to hold on to the last, and the result of the action must be regarded as satisfactory, inasmuch as the movement of the troops, baggage and supplies from Shinaori to Karappa, subsequent to the capture of the Dargai heights, was almost unmolested.

22. On the night of October 20th Dargai was held by the 1st Battalion Dorsetshire Regiment and the 3rd Sikhs, supported by the 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, while the remainder of the troops bivouacked on or near the Chagru Kotal.

23. At daybreak on the 21st the march of the 2nd Division to Karappa, or more properly to Khangarbur, on the left bank of the Khanki stream, was resumed, while, in order to avoid a block on the main road, I proceeded from Fort Lockhart to the same point via Fort Gulistan and the Talai spur, taking with me No. 9 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment, the 36th Sikhs, and No. 3 Company, Bombay Sappers and Miners. The track from the village of Talai down to its junction with the main road was so bad that none of the baggage of the troops accompanying me reached camp at Karappa until late the next day, that of the 36th Sikhs not arriving until mid-day on the 23rd.

24. The 4th Brigade and some of the divisional troops of the 2nd Division arrived at Karappa towards the evening of the 21st October, the remainder of the Division coming in the next day; but owing to the steepness and narrowness of the road, and the inferiority of a considerable proportion of the transport animals, several days elapsed before all the baggage of the division had come up. On October 24th the troops of the 1st Division began to move from Shinaori to Karappa, and by the evening of the 27th the Main Column, with its supplies and transport, had concentrated in readiness for a further advance. Advantage was taken of the halt at Karappa to improve the road from the Chagru Kotal, to complete the organization of the transport service, and to adjust the loads of the several classes of animals employed, namely, mules, ponies and donkeys.

25. And here I may mention that during the halt at Karappa, though every military precaution was taken, the camp was fired into every night, sometimes by large bodies of the enemy, and our foraging parties were pertinaciously opposed and followed up by the tribesmen. The losses from this cause were heavy, aggregating three British officers, twenty-five British soldiers, and twenty-one native ranks, killed or wounded. The names of the officers are given below:—

Lieutenant-Colonel R. C. Hadow, 15th Sikhs, severely wounded.

Captain F. F. Badcock, D. S. O., 1st Battalion 5th Gurkhas, dangerously wounded.

Lieutenant G. D. Crocker, 2nd Battalion Royal Munster Fusiliers, wounded.

26. On October 28th, in accordance with instructions issued on the previous evening, the force marched in two columns to Gundaki, the 1st Division across the plain and the 2nd Division up the bed of the Kandi Mishti stream, while a detached column, consisting of the 1st Battalion Northamptonshire Regiment and the 36th Sikhs, occupied the hills to the right of my line of advance. As the left column was threatened from the west, I also occupied three hills which commanded that flank with the 2nd Battalion Yorkshire Regiment, a wing of the 2nd Battalion 4th Gurkhas, and a wing of the 3rd Sikhs, respectively. This display of force led the enemy to believe that I intended to turn their right, which they at once began to strengthen, and during the night of the 28th the detachment of the 4th Gurkhas, which in the evening had been reduced to two companies, was continuously attacked at close quarters, suffering however but slight loss owing to the care taken in the day time to protect the position by sangars. The strong flanking parties which had pushed out enabled me to reconnoitre the Sampagha Pass, and having settled on my plan of action I directed the whole force to bivouac near Gundaki, and issued orders for the attack on the following day.

Our casualties on October 28th were—

Lieutenant-Colonel C. A. R. Sage, 2nd Battalion 1st Gurkhas, severely wounded.

Other ranks:—killed 2, wounded 10.

27. Here it may be noted that, previous to my advance, on October 28th, I had to detach two battalions to strengthen the force on the line of communications. The 30th Punjab Infantry was detailed to hold the Dargai heights, and the 21st Madras Pioneers to form part of the Karappa garrison.

28. On October 29th, at 5 A.M., the 1st Brigade moved out of camp to cover the advance to the Sampagha. The 1st Battalion Devonshire Regiment seized the village of Nazeno, thus protecting my right. Lieutenant-Colonel Yule quickly brushed away all opposition on that side. The 2nd Battalion 1st Gurkhas covered my left by occupying the village of Kandi Mishti, and met with no opposition. The 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment, advancing in the centre, occupied without resistance a low rocky hill stretching across the plateau between the Kandi Mishti and Sampagha ravines, which I had chosen as my first artillery position.

At 5-15 A.M., the 2nd Brigade, preceded by the Gurkha scouts, left camp with orders to enter the Sampagha ravine, and to advance by a path leading towards the enemy's position up a long bare spur, as soon as the guns should have sufficiently silenced the fire from the sangars; this advance to be supported in succession by the 4th and 3rd Brigades.

At 6-30 A.M., the first shots were fired by the enemy, but the action did not really begin until 7-30 A.M., when the three mountain batteries of the 1st Division opened fire on the sangars.

from the first artillery position above mentioned. Their fire was effective, the range being 1,850 yards, and the enemy quickly evacuated the entrenchments which commanded the lower slopes of the pass, these being seized by the 2nd Brigade at 8 A.M. The three batteries of the 2nd Division, together with the rocket detachment, were now pushed on, and opened fire on the crest of the pass at a range of 2,200 yards. The fire of the guns was, however, soon masked by the rapid advance of the 2nd Brigade, which, with the 1st Battalion Royal West Surrey Regiment (the Queen's) leading, reached the summit of the pass at 9-45 A.M. The artillery was again ordered up in support, No. 5 (Bombay) Mountain Battery in front. On reaching the crest this battery did excellent service in assisting the infantry of the 2nd Brigade to dislodge the tribesmen from the heights they were holding on either flank, but while engaged on this duty I regret to report that Captain De Butts, Royal Artillery, commanding the battery, was mortally wounded. The heights on the north-east of the pass were eventually cleared by the 1st Battalion Royal West Surrey Regiment and the 3rd Sikhs, while those on the north-west were stormed by the 36th Sikhs, supported by six companies of the 2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers. The last shots were fired at 11-30 A.M., and the 15th Sikhs were then sent on as an advance guard into the Mastura valley, where I proposed to bivouac.

29. While the troops were moving down into the valley some slight resistance was met with, but this ceased as soon as the hills commanding the camping ground had been occupied by picquets.

The 1st Brigade remained on the Sampagha for the night, with a view to protecting transport animals and baggage.

30. The casualties during the action were—

Captain F. R. McC. De Butts, Royal Artillery, killed.

Major R. T. Hanford-Flood, 1st Battalion Royal West Surrey Regiment, slightly wounded.

Other ranks :—killed 1, wounded 3.

31. On October 30th the Main Column, with the exception of the 1st Brigade, which continued to hold the Sampagha Pass, remained in camp on the right bank of the Mastura stream. In the morning I made a reconnaissance of the Arhangha Pass, and issued orders for the attack on the following day. My great difficulty was the want of food, some corps having absolutely nothing in hand, and the steep and narrow track over the pass delaying the arrival of supplies. But by redistributing what there was, and making use of what could be collected in the neighbouring villages, each man was eventually provided with two days' rations. I therefore determined not to postpone the attack on the Arhangha Pass, as I was convinced that a protracted halt in the Mastura valley, expedient as it might seem from a commissariat point of view, would not only encourage the Afridis and give them time to collect their fighting men, but also enable them to destroy, hide, or remove the forage and grain stored in their villages, and thus render our stay in Tirah a matter of extreme difficulty.

32. On October 31st the 4th Brigade crossed the Mastura stream at 6 A.M., and advanced towards the Arhangha Pass across a broken plain up to a low detached mound, in rear of which the brigade was massed at 8 A.M. Shortly afterwards the three batteries of the 2nd Division opened fire from this mound, at a range of 1,300 yards, on the enemy's main position along the crest of the pass. Meanwhile the 2nd Brigade had moved up on the right, and the 3rd Brigade was disposed in echelon on the left, with the object of threatening the enemy's right and joining the central attack when ordered to do so. The 2nd Brigade began the action by a flank movement on the right up two rocky spurs and an intervening ravine, thus gaining the crest east of the pass; while the 4th Brigade attacked in the centre, supported by the 3rd Brigade. The 2nd Brigade's attack was led by the 2nd Battalion Yorkshire Regiment and the Gurkha scouts, each gallantly racing up the steep slope, the summit of which was reached by both simultaneously at 10 A.M. The main attack was led by the 2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers. Neither attack met with serious opposition, and shortly after 10 A.M. the pass was in our hands and all opposition had practically ceased.

The casualties were,—killed none, wounded two.

I may here mention that the road up the Arhangha Pass, though short, was the steepest and worst that had yet been encountered.

33. Immediately after the action I gave orders for the concentration of the force in Maidan with the exception of the 1st Brigade, which I had to leave behind for the purpose of dominating the Mastura valley, and of guarding the line of communication between Tirah and Karappa.

34. During the period dealt with in this report, the troops under my command were subjected to much privation and fatigue, to great variations of temperature, to heavy losses in action, and to continual night alarms. No body of men could have shown a better spirit.

That a more formidable resistance was not offered in the passes leading respectively into Orakzai and Afridi Tirah, I attribute to the lesson taught those tribes at Dargai in the actions of October 18th and October 20th. They then learnt that their strongest positions could not avail them against the valour of British and Native troops.

35. In submitting this report, I desire to record my acknowledgments to the General Officer Commanding the Line of Communications, the General Officers Commanding Divisions and Brigades, the Chief of the Staff, and the Brigadier-Generals Commanding the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers, the Heads of Departments, especially those of Ordnance, Supply, and Transport, the officers of the Head-Quarters, Divisional, and Brigade Staffs, and the commanding and other officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the several corps under my command, all of whom have done their duty in a manner befitting Her Majesty's Army.

My recommendations for the recognition of the services of individual officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers, subsequent to the action of October 20th, will be embodied in my final despatch on the termination of the present expedition.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

ACT NO. I OF 1898.

An Act to amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called the Stage-Carriages Act (1861) Amendment Act, 1898.

2. The proviso to section 1 of the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, and section 2 of the Stage-Carriages Act (1861) Amendment Act, 1876, are hereby repealed.

3. The first paragraph of section 4 of the Stage-Carriages Act, 1861, is hereby repealed, and the following paragraph is substituted therefor, namely :—

“For every such license there shall be paid by the proprietor of the stage-carriage the sum of five rupees or such less sum as the Local Government may fix, and such license shall be in force for one year from the date thereof.”

4. After section 20 of the said Act the following section shall be added, namely :—

“20A. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules to carry out the purposes and objects of this Act in the territories under its administration or any part of the said territories.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) prescribe forms for licenses under this Act, the sums payable for the same and the conditions on which they may be granted, and the cases in which they may be revoked;

(b) provide for the inspection of stage-carriages, and of the animals employed in drawing them; and

(c) regulate the number and length of the stages for which animals may be driven in stage-carriages, and the manner in which they shall be harnessed and yoked.

(3) In making any rule under this section the Local Government may direct that a breach thereof shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.”

5. After section 21 of the said Act the following sections shall be added, namely :—

“22. This Act, as amended by subsequent Acts, extends to the whole of British India; but it shall not apply to carriages ordinarily plying for hire within the limits of any municipality or cantonment or other place in which any law for the regulation of carriages is for the time being in force.

23. The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, exempt any carriages or class of carriages from all or any of the provisions of this Act.”

PART V.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the segregation of pauper lepers and the control of lepers following certain callings was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st January 1898 :—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the segregation of pauper lepers and the control of lepers following certain callings was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From High Court, Calcutta, No. 2015, dated 10th August, 1896 [Paper No. 1].
From Officiating Agent to Governor General in Baluchistan, No. 6230, dated 5th September, 1896 [Paper No. 2].
From Chief Commissioner, Coorg, No. 1425, dated 23rd September, 1896 [Paper No. 3].
From Chief Commissioner, Ajmere-Merwara, No. 1314—690, dated 23rd October, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 4].
From Government, Punjab, No. 1175-S., dated 23rd October, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 5].
From Resident, Hyderabad, No. 311, dated 27th October, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 6].
From Chief Commissioner, Assam, No. 169 L. & L.—4562-J., dated 28th October, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 7].
Endorsement by Government of India, Home Department, No. 343, dated 16th November, 1896, and accompaniments from Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 343, dated 16th November, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 8].
From Chief Commissioner, Burma, No. 416-3X—2, dated 13th November, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 9].
From Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 8063, dated 23rd November, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 10].
From Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 399, dated 8th December, 1896, and enclosures [Papers No. 11].
From Government, Madras, No. 337-M., dated 1st March, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 12].
From Secretary to Government, Bombay, No. 1457, dated 15th March, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 13].
From Government, Bengal, No. 282-F.—M., dated 3rd June, 1897, and enclosures [Papers No. 14].

2. Title.—We have indicated in the title that the medical treatment of lepers in asylums is one of the objects of their segregation.

3. Clause 1.—We have made it clear in clause 1 that the Act shall become operative solely in such areas, whether municipalities only or otherwise, as a Local Government may determine, and that either the whole Act or any part of it—as, for instance, the clauses relating to pauper lepers—may be applied.

4. Clause 2.—We have retained the definition of “leper” as we believe that without actual and existing ulceration no action should be taken under this Act; and in clause (2)(a) we have amended the wording so as to cover the ordinary methods of public begging.

5. Clause 3.—It will be noted that the notification under this clause is distinct from the notification referred to in clause 1 (4), because the local application of the Act will necessarily be wider than the area from which lepers will be sent to an asylum. The Act will ordinarily be extended to a whole Province or to some territorial division of it, while the areas referred to in this clause will usually be municipal or other urban areas and their environs.

Since the segregation contemplated by the Act is to be compulsory, the asylums referred to in this clause and throughout the Act are public asylums only; we have omitted all reference to private asylums, since, owing to the usual nature of their foundation and objects, they are inappropriate to compulsory confinement.

6. Clause 6.—We have retained in this clause the wording by which any police-officer may arrest a pauper leper, since the areas in which such power will be exercised will, in general, be municipal towns; but we have provided that every person so arrested shall at once be taken to the police-station with a view to the usual record being made and despatched to the authorities, and that no delay shall be allowed in placing such person before an Inspector of Lepers.

7. Clause 8.—In consonance with several opinions we have modified clause 8 in the direction of greater distinctness and elasticity. The class of Magistrate who should ordinarily deal with these cases has been specified, and the right of every alleged leper to examine the Inspector of Lepers upon his certificate in Form B, and to require that the allegation of leprosy shall, if not admitted, be fully proved, has been made clear. We have, on the analogy of section 4 of the Lunatic Asylums Act, 1858, given power to the Magistrate to make over a pauper leper to friends, on proper conditions, in lieu of sending him to an asylum; and we have authorized a District or Chief Presidency Magistrate to order the release of any pauper leper from an asylum upon due cause, as, for instance, the cessation of his pauper status or the coming forward of friends. These modifications provide a safeguard against the improper or unnecessary confinement of persons in asylums.

8. Clause 9.—From clause 9, sub-clause (a), we have excluded, as imperfect and undesirable, the detailed list of trades and callings therein entered, and have substituted for sub-clauses (a) and (b) a new sub-clause (a) in terms which, while more general, at the same time more fully cover the object of the original sub-clauses. We have modified the stringency of sub-clause (c) by new sub-clause (b), by which we have placed upon the local authorities of a notified area the duty of safeguarding the public water-supply through bye-laws which shall confine lepers to particular sources of supply. In sub-clause (c) we have provided that the public within a notified area shall be protected from lepers, not merely as passengers in, but as drivers or conductors of, public vehicles; we have, however, narrowed the restrictions by substituting “carriages” for “conveyances,” and by excluding railway trains from the operation of the sub-clause, since the Railways Act enables the authorities to make rules for the safety of passengers in such matters. In sub-clause (d) we have given power to Local Governments to notify any trades or callings prohibited to lepers; on the other hand, by sub-section (2), Local Governments are enabled to bring into operation only such of the restrictions contained in this clause as may be desirable. Finally, we have reduced the maximum fine to Rs. 20, since first offences will ordinarily call for slight penalties.

9. Clause 10.—This clause, as amended, gives further powers, but only to Magistrates of the first class, to restrain lepers from persistently disobeying the provisions of clause 9. The use of these further powers is wholly permissive, but their existence will protect the public of notified areas, usually urban, against recalcitrant lepers. We have therefore retained sub-clause (a) [sub-section (1)], for the removal and exclusion from notified areas, e.g., municipalities, of habitual offenders who have been convicted at least twice under clause 9. But we have modified sub-clause (b) [new sub-section (2)] so that the Magistrate can send an offender to an asylum only in default of execution of bond under sub-clause (a).

10. Clause 11.—This clause has been newly introduced to prevent employers from using leper labour in the trades or callings mentioned in clause 9; the fine is made heavier than in clause 10, since the offence is more culpable.

11. Clause 13.—We have modified this clause so as to ensure that every newly admitted leper within three months after admission, and every leper as often as possible, shall be personally examined by the medical officer on the Board and another member visiting together. Under the safeguards newly introduced into clauses 8 and 10, the power of appeal given in clause 15, and the power of the Local Government to make rules under clause 16, we do not deem it needful to make more frequent visits compulsory by the Act.

12. Clause 14.—We have followed the Bengal Act in giving power to two members of the Board, instead of three, to order the discharge of a leper from an asylum.

13. Clause 15.—We have made it clear that clause 15 provides an appeal solely against the refusal or issue, respectively, of certificates in Form A or B under clauses 9, 10 and 11. We do not deem it necessary to provide an appeal for pauper lepers under clauses 7 and 8, since only Magistrates of the first class, or those specially selected, may take action under those sections, while the power of discharge from asylums, given not merely to the Board but, as now provided, to the District or Chief Presidency Magistrate, and the new provisions for relegating lepers to the care of friends, are sufficient safeguards against unnecessary confinement.

14. Clause 17.—We have followed clause 4 of the Bengal Act in giving power to local authorities to expend funds upon, and appropriate property to, asylums.

15. Clause 18.—We have, by clause 18, made provision for the protection of persons acting in good faith under this Act, following a similar provision in the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897.

16. Clause 19.—We have entered an enabling clause to give power to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to substitute the present Act or any part thereof for Bengal Act V of 1895 in any part of the territories administered by him.

No. II.

A Bill to provide for the segregation and medical treatment of pauper lepers and the control of lepers following certain callings.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the segregation and medical treatment of pauper lepers and the control of lepers following certain callings; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Lepers Title, extent and commencement. Act, 1898.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of Upper Burma, British Baluchistan, the Santal Parganas and the Pargana of Spiti; but

(3) It shall not come into force in any part thereof until the Local Government, as hereinafter provided, has declared it applicable thereto.

(4) The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, apply this Act or any part thereof to the whole or any portion of the territories for the time being under its administration, and may in like manner amend or cancel any such notification.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

Definitions.

(1) "leper" means any person suffering from any variety of leprosy in whom the process of ulceration has commenced;

(2) "pauper leper" means a leper—

(a) who publicly solicits alms or exposes or exhibits any sores, wounds, bodily ailment or deformity with the object of exciting charity or of obtaining alms, or

(b) who is at large without any ostensible means of subsistence;

(3) "leper asylum" means a leper asylum appointed under section 3;

(4) "Board" means a Board constituted under section 5; and

(5) "District Magistrate" includes a Chief Presidency Magistrate.

3. The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint any place to be a leper asylum for the purposes of this Act and specify the local areas from which lepers may be sent to such asylum, and may, in like manner, alter or cancel any such notification.

4. Subject to any rules which may be made under section 16, the Local Government may appoint any Medical Officer of the Government or other qualified Medical man to be an Inspector of Lepers and any person to be a Superintendent of a Leper Asylum, with such establishment as may, in its opinion, be necessary, and every Inspector or Superintendent so appointed shall be deemed to be a public servant.

5. The Local Government shall constitute for every leper asylum appointed under section 3 a Board consisting of not less than three members, one of whom at least shall be a Medical Officer of the Government.

6. (1) Within any local area which has been specified under section 3 any police-officer may arrest without a warrant any person who appears to him to be a pauper leper.

(2) Such police officer shall forthwith take or send the person so arrested to the nearest convenient police-station.

7. Every person brought to a police-station under the last foregoing section shall, without unnecessary delay, be taken before an Inspector of Lepers, who,—

(a) if he finds that such person is not a leper within the meaning of section 2, shall give him a certificate in Form A set forth in the schedule, whereupon such person shall be forthwith released from arrest;

(b) if he finds that such person is a leper within the meaning of section 2, shall give to the police officer, in whose custody the leper is, a certificate in Form B set forth in the schedule, whereupon the leper shall, without unnecessary delay, be taken before a Magistrate having jurisdiction under this Act.

8. (1) If it appears to any Magistrate of the first class or to any other Magistrate authorised in this behalf by the Local Government, upon the certificate in Form B set forth in the schedule, that any person is a leper, and if it further appears to the Magistrate that the person is a pauper leper, he may, after recording the evidence on the above-mentioned points, and his order thereon, send the pauper leper in charge of a police-officer, together with an order in Form C set forth in the Schedule, to a leper asylum, where such leper shall be detained until discharged by order of the Board or the District Magistrate:

Provided that, if the person denies the allegation of leprosy, the Magistrate shall call and examine the Inspector of Lepers, and shall take such further evidence as may be necessary to support or to rebut the allegations that the person is a leper, and may for this purpose adjourn the enquiry from time to time, remanding the person for observation or for other reason to such place as may be convenient, or admitting him to bail:

Provided also that if any friend or relative of any person found to be a pauper leper shall undertake in writing to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that such pauper leper shall be properly taken care of and shall be prevented from publicly begging in any area specified under section 3, the Magistrate, instead of sending the leper to an asylum, may make the leper over to the care of such friend or relative, requiring him, if he thinks fit, to enter into a bond with one or more sureties, to which provisions of section 514 of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall be applicable.

(2) If the Magistrate finds that such person is not a leper, or that, if a leper, he is not a pauper leper, he shall forthwith discharge him.

9. (1) The Local Government may by notification in the official Gazette, order that no leper shall, within any area specified under section 3,—

Power to prohibit lepers from following certain trades and doing certain acts.

(a) personally prepare for sale or sell any article of food or drink or any drugs or clothing intended for human use; or

(b) bathe, wash clothes or take water from any public well or tank debarred by any municipal or local bye-law from use by lepers; or

(c) drive, conduct or ride in any public carriage plying for hire other than a railway carriage; or

(d) exercise any trade or calling which may by such notification be prohibited to lepers.

(2) Any such notification may comprise all or any of the above prohibitions.

(3) Whoever disobeys any order made pursuant to the powers conferred by this section shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees:

Provided that, when any person is accused of an offence under this section, the Magistrate before whom he is accused shall cause him to be examined by an Inspector of Lepers and shall not proceed with the case unless such Inspector furnishes a certificate, in Form B set forth in the schedule, in respect of such person.

10. (1) Whenever any leper who has been convicted of an offence punishable under the last foregoing section is again convicted of any offence punishable under that section, the Magistrate may, in addition to, or in lieu of, any punishment to which such leper may be liable, require him to enter into a bond, with one or more sureties, binding him to depart forthwith from the local area specified under section 3 in which he is, and not to enter that or any other local area so specified until an Inspector of Lepers shall have given him a certificate in Form A set forth in the schedule.

(2) If any such leper fails to furnish any security required under sub-section (1), the Magistrate may send him in charge of a police-officer, with an order in Form D set forth in the schedule, to a leper asylum, where such leper shall be detained until discharged by order of the Board or the District Magistrate.

(3) The powers conferred by this section shall only be exercised by a Magistrate of the first class.

11. Any person who, within any area specified under section 3, knowingly employs a leper in any trade or calling prohibited by order under section 9 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees:

Provided that the alleged leper shall be produced before the Magistrate and the Magistrate shall cause him to be examined by an Inspector of Lepers, and shall not proceed with the case unless such Inspector furnishes a certificate in Form B set forth in the schedule in respect of such alleged leper.

12. Whoever, having been sent to a leper asylum under an order of a Magistrate in Form C or Form D set forth in the schedule, escapes from, or leaves, the asylum without the permission in writing of the Superintendent thereof, may be arrested by any police-officer without a warrant, and upon arrest shall be forthwith taken back to the leper asylum.

13. Two or more members of the Board, one of whom shall be the medical officer, shall, once at least in every three months, together inspect the leper asylum for which they are constituted, and see and examine (a) every leper therein admitted since the last inspection, together with the order for his admission, and (b), as far as circumstances will permit, every other leper therein, and shall enter in a book to be kept for the purpose any remarks which they may deem proper in regard to the management and condition of the asylum and the lepers therein.

14. Any two members of the Board, one of whom shall be the Medical Officer, may at any time, by an order in writing in Form E set forth in the schedule and signed by them, direct the discharge from the leper asylum of any leper detained therein under the provisions of this Act.

15. Any person, other than a pauper leper, in respect of whom an Inspector of Lepers has issued a certificate, in Form B set forth in the schedule, declaring him to be a leper, or has refused to issue a certificate in Form A set forth in the schedule, may appeal against the issue or refusal of any such certificate to such officer as may be appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and the decision of such officer shall be final.

16. The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act, and in particular—

(a) for the guidance of all or any of the officers discharging any duty under this Act; and

(b) for the management of, and the maintenance of discipline in, a leper asylum.

17. Notwithstanding anything in any enactment with respect to the purposes to which the funds and appropriate property of a local authority may be applied, any local authority may—

(a) establish or maintain, or establish and maintain, or contribute towards the cost of the establishment or maintenance or the establishment and maintenance of, a leper asylum either within or without the local limits of such local authority;

(b) with the previous sanction of the Local Government and subject to such conditions as that Government may prescribe, appropriate any immoveable property vested in, or under the control of, such body, as a site for, or for use as, a leper asylum.

18. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceedings shall lie against any officer or person in respect of anything in good faith done or intended to be done under, or in pursuance of, the provisions of this Act.

19. When any part of this Act has been applied under sub-section (4) of section 1 to the whole or any portion of the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the Lieutenant-Governor may, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that the whole or any part of the Lepers Act, 1895, shall, except as regards anything done or any offence committed or any fine or penalty incurred or any proceedings commenced, cease to have effect in the portion of the said territories to which this Act has been so applied.

RESOLUTION.—The operations of the Post Office during the year under review showed very satisfactory progress, the transactions in almost every branch of business having increased considerably. The estimated number of postal articles of all kinds issued for delivery, exclusive of money orders, amounted to nearly 439 millions or about 25 millions in excess of the number during the year 1895-96.

2. The numbers of Post Offices and letter-boxes and the transactions of the Imperial Post Office during the year 1896-97 compare as follow with those of the previous year :—

	1895-96.	1896-97.	Percentage of increase + or decrease —.
Number of Post Offices . . .	9,588	9,948	+ 3.75

3. There was an increase under all heads except two, the chief increases being under letter-boxes, letters and post-cards and packets issued for delivery, and in the transactions connected with money orders generally. The increase of about 25 millions in the number of postal articles (excluding money orders) issued for delivery during the year was made up by increases of  $13\frac{1}{2}$  millions under post-cards, of  $7\frac{1}{2}$  millions under paid letters, 1 million under packets, and of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  millions under newspapers and unpaid and registered letters. As in the previous year, the total number of post-cards exceeded the total number of paid letters in Bengal, Bombay, the Punjab and Eastern Bengal. The total number of unpaid letters was nearly  $29\frac{1}{2}$  millions, while in the preceding year the number was a little more than 28 millions. This increase is said to be due in some measure to the prevalence of the plague; for following on the exodus of the population from Bombay, Poona, Karachi and other places there was a marked increase in the number of unpaid letters. The total number of letters registered during the year was more than  $8\frac{1}{2}$  millions, representing an increase of 10·87 per cent over the number registered in the previous year. Notwithstanding the introduction of the unregistered parcel system, which came into force from 1st August 1895, the total number of registered parcels during the year under review was more than  $2\frac{1}{2}$  millions, or nearly 27,000 in excess of the number during the preceding year. The number of postal articles issued (excluding money orders) was 1·54 per head of the general and 36·39 per head of the literate population against 1·44 and 34·31 per head, respectively, in 1895-96, Bombay, Sind and Baluchistan, the Punjab, and Burma ranking highest as regards the number of articles per head of the population, and Sind and Baluchistan, Punjab, and Bombay ranking highest as regards the number of articles per head of the literate population. Inland money orders issued increased by about 9 per cent, the value of the orders issued by 6 per cent, and the commission realised by 7 per cent. There were considerable increases in the number and value of telegraphic money orders issued, and in the commission paid thereon, amounting to about 12, 15 and 12 per cent respectively.

4. Under "Inland Post," the following administrative measures which were carried out during the year may be specially noticed :—

- (1) The amalgamation of the postal systems in the Native States of Bhartpur and Khairpur with the Imperial Post Office.
- (2) The amalgamation of the Presidency Savings Banks with the Post Office Savings Banks.
- (3) The extension of the scheme for the sale of quinine through the agency of the Post Office.
- (4) The use of the Post Office money order system by the Forest Department in Bombay, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and Burma for the purpose of remitting revenue.
- (5) The extension of the system in force in the Punjab of sending copies of documents from Courts by value-payable post.
- (6) The successful introduction, in Calcutta and the districts of Khulna and the 24-Pergunnahs, of a system of taking the thumb impressions of illiterate payees on money orders in place of their marks.
- (7) The general adoption of clear and distinct hour type in the dated stamps of Post Offices in view to the checking of delays in transit.
- (8) The experimental introduction of light hand carts propelled by runners along roads in the mofussil, and of bicycles in Madras, for the carriage of mails.
- (9) Amendment of the Post Office Act in order to provide legal means for the recovery from addressees of postal parcels of the Customs duty assessed on them.
- (10) Increase from R10 to R25 of the limit of value of value-payable articles delivered by postmen at the houses of addressees.
- (11) The introduction of a new system of registered newspapers.
- (12) The acceleration of the mail train service between Madras and Tuticorin with the object of shortening the land transit between Madras and Colombo.

- (13) The introduction of an improved mail service between Calcutta and Bombay via Jubbulpore and via Nagpur, shortening each route by about twelve hours.
- (14) The running of a weekly special train with the inward foreign mails from Bombay to Calcutta via Jubbulpore, covering the distance in about 40 hours and starting from Bombay 5 hours after the mail steamer is signalled at Bombay.

5. Under " Foreign Post " the principal events were—

- (1) The inclusion of the British Colonies of Ascension and St. Helena in the Universal Postal Union.
- (2) The establishment of direct parcel exchanges with Tasmania and the Seychelles.
- (3) The extension of the foreign parcel post to Basutoland, Lord Howe and Norfolk Islands, Paraguay, Venezuela, British North Borneo, Cochin China, German New Guinea, Japan, Labuan and Sarawak.
- (4) The suspension, owing to quarantine restrictions, of the foreign parcel post to Malta, Gibraltar and Tangier, France, Portugal, Madeira and the Azores, and Egypt.
- (5) The prohibition, owing to quarantine restrictions, of the transmission, by the foreign post, of certain classes of articles, such as worn clothing, bedding, rugs, etc.
- (6) The establishment of a direct money order exchange with British Guiana in place of the exchange which had previously been carried on through the agency of the British Post Office.
- (7) The adoption of the special rates of postage for inland official correspondence to official correspondence posted in India for Ceylon.

6. Of the total number of postal articles (including money orders) received for delivery, viz., 440,871,863, the number actually delivered in the ordinary course was 436,716,324 or 99·06 per cent, as compared with 99·08 per cent in the previous year. The greater part of the balance was disposed of by re-direction to addressees or return to senders, while of 997,353 articles which were found undisposible a large proportion were from their nature incapable either of delivery or of return. The percentage of the undisposed of articles to the total number of articles received for delivery in the year 1896-97 was ·2, the same as in the preceding year. As usual, a large amount of valuable property was found in letters and other articles posted without address or with addresses so incorrect or incomplete, that the covers had to be opened in order that the senders might be traced. It is satisfactory to learn that the greater part of this property was successfully delivered to the owners.

7. The transactions connected with money orders (comprising inland Native States and foreign money orders) show considerable progress, as will be seen from the figures given below :—

	1895-96.	1896-97.	Percentage of increase + or decrease —.
Number of orders issued . . .	10,161,107	11,068,726	+ 8·93
Value of orders issued . . . ₹	21,10,19,824	22,50,41,069	+ 6·64
Commission realised on orders issued . . . ₹	26,43,553	28,40,581	+ 7·45
Number of orders paid . . .	10,223,137	11,144,141	+ 9·01
Value of orders paid . . . ₹	21,38,48,394	22,83,75,091	+ 6·79

Compared with 1895-96 there was a falling-off both in the number and amount of revenue money orders issued in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh ; in the Central Provinces and the Punjab there was a slight increase in the number of these orders, but a decrease in the amount; and in Bengal there was a slight increase both in the number and value of the orders. The system of remitting miscellaneous Government dues through the agency of the Post Office continued during the year to make progress in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. In the Punjab, though there was an increase in the value, there was a slight falling-off in the number of the orders. The system was for the first time introduced in Burma in August 1896 at the request of the Forest Department. As regards rent money orders there was a falling-off in the number and value in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Central Provinces, attributable in both provinces to the prevalence of famine. In Bengal, on the other hand, there was an increase both in the number and value of the orders. The average value of an inland money order was R20-1-1 against R20-8-0 in the preceding year.

The money order transactions in Native States during the last two years were as shown below :—

Number of orders issued in Native States . . .	72,948	80,935	+ 7,987
Value of orders issued in Native States . . . R	18,81,399	19,28,527	+ 97,128
Number of orders paid in Native States . . .	36,357	44,630	+ 8,273
Value of orders paid in Native States . . . R	11,22,216	12,66,057	+ 1,43,841

There was an increase in both the value of the issues and of the payments in Native States. The payments made by the Imperial Post Office on account of the orders issued by Native States were, however, very much larger than the issues by the Imperial Post Office on those States.

The number of sterling money orders issued rose from 54,999 in 1895-96 to 59,654 in 1896-97, and the value from £177,739 to £206,507, principally due, as in former years, to the growth of the drawings upon the United Kingdom. The number of sterling money orders received for payment in India was 35,036 against 28,334 in 1895-96, and the value £186,896 against £152,288 in the previous year. The improvement is attributable mainly to the growth of the money order business with Cape Colony, since the direct exchange between India and that Colony was established in January 1896. The average value of a money order issued by India in 1896-97 was £3-9-3 as compared with £3-4-7 in 1895-96, and that of a money order paid £5-6-8 as compared with £5-7-5 in the preceding year.

Turning to foreign countries in which money order transactions are advised in Indian Currency, there was a very considerable increase in the money order business with Ceylon, the drawings on India having increased by more than 10,500 in number and by nearly four and a half lakhs of rupees in value during the year 1896-97. The most noticeable feature of the year's transactions is, however, to be found in the figures relating to the exchange with British East Africa, the drawings of this Protectorate on India having, during the year, increased more than seven times in number and about five times in value. This remarkable increase is attributable to the large numbers of natives of India who are now employed on the construction of the Uganda Railway and elsewhere in British East Africa. The average value of a foreign rupee money order issued by India in 1896-97 was R37-9-2 as compared with R38-2-4 in 1895-96, and that of an order paid in India was R42-1-1 as compared with R41-10-1 in the preceding year.

As shown in paragraph 2 above, there was a very large increase in the values of telegraphic money orders issued during the year, regarding which no special explanation has been offered.

8. The operations of the Post Office Savings Banks increased generally. The following is a summary of the transactions during the last two years:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.	Percentage of increase + or decrease—.
Number of Banks . . . . .	6,343	6,420	+ 1.21
Number of accounts opened during the year . . . . .	182,168	208,140	+ 14.25
Number of accounts closed during the year . . . . .	140,223	149,712	+ 6.05
Number of accounts at the close of the year . . . . .	653,892	713,320	+ 9.08
Amount of deposits during the year . . . . . R4,73,44,346	5,66,10,981*	+ 19.57
Amount of withdrawals during the year . . . . . R4,36,11,148	5,36,54,634*	+ 23.02
Amount of interest which ac- crued during the year . . . . R 26,71,951	30,12,992	+ 12.76
Amount of balance at the close of the year . . . . . R9,04,23,072	9,63,92,411	+ 6.60
Average balance of each account . . . . . R 138.28	135.13	— 2.28

The increase of 59,428 in the number of depositors was largely due to the transfer, during the year, of 23,177 accounts from the Presidency Savings Banks to the Post Office Savings Banks. Of the 713,320 active accounts at the close of the year, 34,777 were security deposit accounts, 5,632 public accounts and 152 regimental and other conjoint accounts, with an aggregate balance of 90½ lakhs. The remaining 672,759 were private accounts with an aggregate balance of over 873½ lakhs, of which over 172½ lakhs were held on behalf of minors by their parents, relatives and guardians. The number of private accounts and the balances at their credit thus formed 94.31 and 90.6 per cent respectively, of the total number of accounts and the aggregate balance at the close of the year in the Post Office Savings Banks.

9. The insurance business of the Post Office shows an increase as compared with the preceding year. The aggregate number of letters and parcels insured was 298,228 against 294,983 in 1895-96, and the value R8,81,85,426 against R8,72,31,573, the insurance fees realised amounting to R2,34,945 against R2,31,277. The number of letters insured rose from 93,764 to 99,405. The largest increase occurred in Bombay and is believed to be due to the impetus given to this form of remittance by the temporary suspension of hundi business on account of the plague. The average value for which each letter was insured was R259 against R262 in the previous year, and the average value for which each parcel was insured was R314 as compared with R311 in 1895-96. The number of claims for compensation on account of the loss of insured articles or the abstraction of their contents during the year 1896-97 was 54 against 18 in the preceding year. The increase is due to exceptional causes—20 claims having arisen out of highway robberies of the mails, nearly all in Native States, (there being none such in 1895-96), and 21 claims in respect of articles lost in an accident which occurred to the mail train in April 1896, when the Post Office van was burnt owing to an explosion of fireworks in an adjoining carriage. Of the 54 claims 46 were admitted, but in only 5 cases was the loss caused by fraud or negligence on the part of servants of the Post Office. The claims admitted amounted to R10,743 or 4.57 per cent of the total amount realised from insurance fees, as compared with a percentage of 2.18 in the year 1895-96.

10. The value-payable system continues to show a remarkable development, for, as will be seen from the figures quoted in paragraph 2 above, the year under review exhibits an increase of 6.99 per cent in the number of articles, of 6.38 per cent in the declared value, and of 7.19 per cent in the commission realised. As in previous years, nearly two-fifths of the entire business was transacted in the Bengal Circle, and practically in Calcutta. Out of a total of 733,656 articles sent by the value-payable post in the whole circle, 730,536 were posted at the Calcutta General Post Office and its town sub-offices; and out of nearly 88 lakhs of rupees recovered from the addressees, nearly 84 lakhs were payable to the tradesmen of Calcutta. The value-payable system has not yet been introduced between India and any other foreign country except Ceylon. The business with that country has been steadily progressing since its introduction in 1891. The number of value-payable articles despatched from India to Ceylon during the year 1896-97 was 21,713 as compared with 16,464 in the previous year, and the value Rs1,98,071 against Rs1,76,718.

11. The mileage under each class of mail line has already been noticed in paragraph 2. The increase under railway lines is chiefly due to the opening of the Assam-Bengal Railway and the extension of the East Coast Railway and the Mu Valley Railway; and the increase under mail cart lines to the establishment of new horse and mule lines in Burma, and the substitution of this means of conveyance for runners on some existing lines in that province. The decrease under steamer lines was due in great part to the closing of the steamer service between Rampur and Silchar in consequence of the opening of the Assam-Bengal Railway.

12. The transactions connected with the receipt of salt revenue through the agency of the Post Office during the year were again insignificant, the amount of revenue realised on this account having been Rs1,39,372 on 51,305 maunds of salt.

13. The system of paying the pensions of pensioners of the Native Army through the agency of the Post Office in the Punjab continued to work satisfactorily. The total number of pensioners paid during the year was 24,112 against 23,485 in 1895-96, and the amount paid to them Rs17,46,333 against Rs16,74,696 in the preceding year.

14. The number of complaints made by the public rose from 15,428 in 1895-96 to 18,827 in the year under review. The proportion of cases in which the complaints were well-founded was 34.36 per cent of the total, while the percentage of complaints held to be groundless was 39.96, both percentages being about the same as in the preceding year. The remaining cases were either pending at the close of the year or were cases in which no definite conclusion could be arrived at.

15. The following statement shows the financial results of the working of the Post Office during the last three years:—

	R	R	R
Revenue . . . . .	1,63,17,460	1,71,29,619	1,78,34,737
Expenditure . . . . .	1,60,60,836	1,64,33,167	1,69,81,561
+ Surplus or — deficit . . . . .	+ 2,57,124	+ 6,96,452	+ 8,53,176

This statement of surplus, however, has to be corrected by excluding from the expenditure the District Post charges (except Baluchistan) which are provided for by local cesses (Rs12,19,926, Rs12,04,904, and Rs12,75,420 in the respective years), and adding to it the indirect charges alluded to in Section XI of the Report (Rs7,26,217, Rs8,11,615, and Rs8,00,918 in the respective years). With these corrections the resulting surpluses are Rs7,50,833, Rs10,89,741, and Rs13,27,678.

16. Postal operations are still regulated by an Act of 1866 which has been subjected to but slight amendment since. The immense development of the Postal Department during the last 30 years, and the fact that some of its most important transactions, viz., the value-payable post, money orders, and insurance, have at present no sanction other than executive orders, have rendered it necessary to enact a new and comprehensive Act which shall provide for the present day conditions and functions of Indian Post Offices. A Bill to effect this object has lately been introduced into the Legislative Council.

17. The Department was administered for the greater part of the year by Mr. Fanshawe, and from December 1896 to February 1897 by Mr. Kisch. Both these officers have earned the commendation of the Government of India by their able administration of the Department. The Governor General in Council is also glad to notice the names of the officers favourably mentioned in paragraph 61 of the Report and especially those of Mr. Merrett and Mr. Stowell. He should also have been glad to learn the name of the second officer of the "Purulia," who saved the mails capsized at Bandar Abbas (paragraph 48 of the Report).

ANNUAL REPORT

ON

THE POST OFFICE OF INDIA

FOR THE YEAR

1896-97.

No. 20, dated the 30th November 1897.

From—A. U. FANSHAWE, Esq., C. S. I., Director General of the Post Office of India, To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

I have the honor to submit the Annual Report on the Post Office of India for the official year 1896-97.

2. The administration of the department was in my hands during the greater part of the year. Mr. Kisch held charge from the 12th December 1896 to the 12th February 1897, as officiating Director General during my deputation on special duty in connection with preparing proposals for new Post Office legislation.

3. During the year under review much has been done to improve the position of the worse paid officials of the department. More would have been done had it not been found necessary, owing to financial pressure on the Government of India, to curtail all except the most necessary expenditure. The famine did not affect the Post Office to any important extent, but the existence of the plague in Bombay and Sind and the consequent panic which resulted in the wholesale exodus of the inhabitants of Bombay, Karachi and other towns very materially increased the work of the department over a large portion of India, though of course the stress was most felt in the plague-infected centres, where increased work had to be performed under most difficult and dangerous conditions.

The amalgamation of the posts of the States of Bhartpur and Khairpur with the Imperial Post Office from 1st January 1897 marks the progress of postal unity. The Presidency Savings Banks were finally merged in the Post Office Savings Bank during the year, securing to Government a substantial saving in the cost of management. The sale of quinine through the agency of the Post Office was still further extended, and the Post Office Money Order system was made use of in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Bombay and Burma by the Forest Department for the purpose of remitting revenue. The system of sending copies of documents from courts by Value-Payable Post was still further extended in the Punjab and is reported to have worked well. On the other hand the prevailing famine has checked the growth of the revenue and rent money order work of the department. An experiment was made in Calcutta and the neighbouring districts of Khulna and the 24-Pergunnahs of taking the thumb marks of illiterate payees on money orders in place of their marks. The experiment proved eminently successful, and it has been decided to extend it. With a view to enable the public to see for themselves whether their letters are delayed in transit or not, clear and distinct hour type in the dated stamps of post offices was experimentally introduced, and has since been prescribed for general use. Experiments were also being made with light hand carts propelled by runners along roads in the mofussil. It has been proved by experience that by this means a greater weight can be conveyed at a higher rate of speed than if carried by runners. It is hoped that a vehicle in every way suited for the purpose will soon be selected. Experiments were also made in Madras with bicycles, but no definite conclusions as to the practicability of such a service had been arrived at. Both in Bengal and the Punjab special attention was paid to the policy of using village schoolmasters for postal work. Considerable progress was made in both circles and cordial relations continued to exist between the Post Office and the Education Department.

During the year the Post Office Act was amended in order to provide legal means for the recovery from addressees of postal parcels of the customs duty assessed on them. The limit of value of value-payable articles delivered by postmen at the houses of addressees was raised from Rs 10 to Rs 25. A new system of "registered" newspapers was also introduced.

The mail service of the East Indian Railway was considerably modified by the introduction from 1st August of an "express passenger" train to Allahabad which left Howrah an hour before the departure of the mail train returning from Allahabad 44 minutes after the departure of the mail train for Calcutta and running at mail train speed. With the object of shortening the transit between Madras and Colombo via Tuticorin the mail train service between Madras and Tuticorin was accelerated by about 11 hours. At the instance of the Post Office a conference of railway and postal officers was held at Nagpur in February last which arranged for an improved mail service between Calcutta and Bombay via Jubbulpore and via Nagpur, shortening each route by about twelve hours. An arrangement was also come to at the same time for the running of a weekly special train with the inward foreign mails from Bombay to Calcutta via Jubbulpore to cover the distance in a little over forty hours, starting five hours after the mail steamer is signalled at Bombay.

Several serious breaks occurred on the Great Indian Peninsula, Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Madras, Nizam's Guaranteed and South Indian Railways causing difficulties which were successfully dealt with by officers of the Railway Mail Service. The only serious accident to mails travelling by railway occurred on the East Indian Railway on 27th April 1896, when a carriage next to the mail van accidentally caught fire and ignited the mail van itself, which was completely destroyed.

4. The following were the principal events of the Foreign Post. The British colonies of Ascension and St. Helena entered the Universal Postal Union on the 1st October 1896. Direct parcel exchanges were established with Tasmania and the Seychelles, and the foreign parcel post was also extended to Basutoland, Lord Howe and Norfolk Islands, Paraguay, Venezuela, British North Borneo, Cochin China, German New Guinea, Japan, Labuan and Sarawak. On the other hand, owing to quarantine restrictions, the parcel post to Malta, Gibraltar and Tangier, France, Portugal, Madeira and the Azores, and Egypt was suspended; and for the same reason the transmission by the Foreign Post of certain classes of articles, such as worn clothing, bedding, rugs, etc., was prohibited. A direct money order exchange was established with British Guiana, in place of the exchange which had previously been carried on through the agency of the British Post Office; and the special rates of postage for inland official correspondence were made applicable to official correspondence posted in India for Ceylon.

5. According to the P. and O. Steam Navigation Company's time table, as approved by Her Majesty's Postmaster General, the steamers with the European mails are due in Bombay at 8 A.M. on Monday of each week, and during the year under review the contract time was exceeded only once and then by less than an hour. On ten occasions the steamers arrived on the previous Friday, on eighteen occasions on the previous Saturday, on the same number of occasions on the previous Sunday and on the remaining six occasions early on Monday morning. The shortest time occupied in transit by the mail from London to Bombay was 13 days, 8 hours and 47 minutes, while the average time for the year was 15 days and 51 minutes. In the opposite direction (from Bombay to London), the quickest transit was made in 12 days, 19 hours and 35 minutes, the average time for the year being 15 days, 5 hours and 56 minutes.

Section I.—Post Offices, Letter-boxes and Village Postmen.

6. Appendix I shows the numbers of post offices, letter-boxes and village postmen of the Imperial Post in each circle on the 31st March 1897, as compared with the numbers at the close of the previous year, and the marginal abstract shows the figures for the past two years for the whole of India, for both the Imperial and District Post, separately and together. The total number of post offices has increased by 370. The increase both as regards post offices and letter-boxes was greatest in the Punjab. The total number of post offices entrusted to the charge of schoolmasters and other persons not belonging to the department, was 5,812 at the end of the year.

The following table shows for each circle and for the whole of India the number of post offices and letter-boxes, compared with the area, total population and literate population, according to the last census :—

* Enumeration not taken under this head.

It will be observed that there is only one post office in India for every 132 square miles as against 136 in 1895-96, and only a single letter-box, for 47 square miles as against 49 in the previous year. Eastern Bengal still continues to be the most favoured circle as regards post offices and letter-boxes while the least favoured circles in this respect are Burma and Rajputana, as in former years.

Section II.—Postal lines.

which mails were carried by the various agencies of the Imperial Post Office. An abstract of that Appendix is given on the margin, for facility of reference, with additional columns for District Post, Political and Military lines managed by the Post Office. The mileage under each class of mail line, with the exception of the steamer mileage, was larger this year than last year; the increases being greatest under railway and mail cart lines. The large increase under railway lines was chiefly due to the opening of the Assam-Bengal Railway, and to the extension of the East Coast Railway and the Mu Valley Railway. The increase under mail cart lines was due mainly to the establishment of new horse and mule lines in Burma, and the substitution of this means of conveyance for runners on some existing lines in that province. The decrease under steamer lines was due in great part to the closing of the steamer service between Rampur and Silchar in consequence of the opening of the Assam-Bengal Railway already referred to.

Section III.—Correspondence and Parcels.

Postal traffic. 8. The estimated number of postal articles of all kinds, exclusive of money orders, issued for delivery during the year, amounted to nearly 439 millions, or about 25 millions in excess of the number during the preceding year. The increase has been 38·00 per cent. since 1890-91, and 43·75 per cent. since 1889-90. Statistics showing the different classes of articles delivered in the various postal circles during 1896-97 will be found in Appendix III, and a summary of the general results is given in the following statement:—

YEAR.	Post-cards.	Letters (paid.)	Letters (unpaid.)	Letters (registered.)	Total of letters and post-cards.	News-papers.	Book and pattern packets.	Parcels (registered.)	Parcels (unregistered.)	GRAND TOTAL (all postal articles except money orders).

Percentage of Increase	8·62	4·16	5·05	10·87	6·26	2·94	6·29	1·07	*	6·02

* Increase not shown under this column, as the figures for 1895-96 show actual number posted during the period from the 1st August 1895 to the 31st March 1896 only.

There was thus an increase in the total number of articles under each head throughout India. The percentage of increase in all articles taken together was highest in the Rajputana circle, where it was 8·19 per cent. The Madras circle comes next with an increase of 7·50 per cent., and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh circle follows with an increase of 6·82 per cent. and then Sind and Baluchistan, Bombay, Bengal, Assam and Bihar. In the year under report, as in previous years, the increase in the number of post-cards (almost 13½ millions) far exceeded the increase in any other class of postal articles.

It was anticipated that in a few years the total number of post-cards would exceed the total number of paid letters, and this was actually the case, during the year under report, as in the previous year, in Bengal, Bombay, the Punjab and Eastern Bengal. In Burma, post-cards have never been popular. The reasons assigned are that Burmans are writers of long letters and find post-cards too small, while, as most of them can read, they fear the publicity of a post-card. The total number of unpaid letters was nearly 29½ millions, the proportion of these letters being highest in Burma and Bihar as in the previous year, while the total number of unpaid letters delivered in Bengal was larger than in any other circle. These figures are higher than they have been for some years past, and this was due in some measure to the prevalence of the plague. It was noticed that the exodus of the population from Bombay, Poona, Karachi and other places was followed by a marked increase in the number of unpaid letters. The total number of letters registered during the year was more than 8½ millions, representing almost 66 per cent. of the number registered during the year in the United Kingdom, as against 61 per cent. in the previous year. Registration was, as usual, more largely resorted to in the Madras circle than elsewhere, the total number of letters registered in that circle being about 2 millions. In the year under report the total number of registered parcels was more than 2½ millions, or nearly 27,000 in excess of the number during the preceding year, showing that the introduction of the un-registered parcel system has not interfered with the growth in the despatch of registered parcels.

9. The following table, prepared from the last census returns, shows for each circle the number of letters and other postal articles per head of the total population and per head of the literate portion of the population. Bombay, Sind and Baluchistan, the Punjab and Burma rank highest as regards the number of articles per head of the population, and Sind and Baluchistan, the Punjab and Bombay rank highest as regards the number of articles per head of the literate population.

Foreign Correspondence.

10. The figures in Appendix III include the foreign correspondence received in India for delivery; but a special table is given at the end of this paragraph showing separately the quantity of correspondence passing in each direction between India and the United Kingdom and between India and all other parts of the world. As regards the mails exchanged with the United Kingdom, the results of the year, which show a growth of traffic in all respects, were mainly of a normal character. The most noticeable feature of the exchange was the large increase of over a million in the number of newspapers and packets sent out from home as compared with the figures of the previous year, which has more than made up for the deficiency of nearly three-quarters of a million that had to be reported last year in connection with the same class of articles. In commenting last year upon this deficiency, it was said that the packet mail sent out from home is particularly liable to fluctuations owing to the inclusion or non-inclusion of large quantities of pamphlets or circulars for distribution in this country: and those remarks are fully borne out by the figures of the year now under review. As regards mails exchanged with countries other than the United Kingdom, statistics of the traffic are taken only once every three years, and as the figures given in the table below are merely a repetition of those of last year, they do not call for any remark:—

11. The following statement gives details of the foreign parcel traffic both to and from India during the last two years. In the year under review there was an increase of 10,954 or 4'9 per cent. in the total number of foreign parcels and of Rs.114 in the Indian share of the revenue from the foreign parcel post:—

* Net revenue is calculated after deduction of customs duty and sums due to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, the British Post Office, and other Administrations.

† N. B.—These are revised figures.

12. More than 72 per cent. of the whole foreign parcel traffic was with the United Kingdom. As regards the exchange with the British Post Office, there was a substantial increase of 2,520 in the number of parcels received from the United Kingdom, while in the case of those sent home from India, the number also increased though not to the same extent. As regards the exchange through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, Parcel exchange with the United Kingdom.

the results of the year likewise show a growth of the traffic in both directions; and if the figures relating to both exchanges, i.e., with the British Post Office and through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, be taken together, they show a total increase of 3,682 in the number of the parcels and of Rs. 3,876 in the net revenue of the Indian Post Office over the figures of the preceding year.

Parcel exchange with foreign countries other than the United Kingdom.

13. In the exchanges with Continental Europe, there was a small increase of 85 in the total number of parcels received in India, but a decrease of 493 in the number despatched, the net revenue derived by the Indian Post Office being, however, nearly Rs. 1,000 more than in the previous year. In the exchanges with other countries there was a satisfactory development of the traffic in both directions, an addition of 7,680, at the rate of 16.1 per cent., having been made to the number, and of Rs. 8,251 to the net Indian revenue. The large increase in the number of parcels sent from India to non-European countries is again mainly to be attributed to the continued growth of the parcel post to Ceylon.

Delivery work of the year.

14. The progress of the foreign parcel traffic as a whole since 1876-77 will be seen from the table in the margin.

15. The figures given in paragraph 8 of this report show that 438,778,727 letters, post-cards, newspapers, packets, and parcels were issued for delivery during the year. These figures are calculated from actual enumerations made for a week at a time twice during the year, and approximately represent the delivery of mail articles properly so called. In order, however, to ascertain the entire delivery work of the year, it is necessary to add the number of money orders which are delivered and paid by postmen and village postmen. The entire delivery work of the year is shown by the following figures:—

Sent out for delivery (including 11,162,981 money orders)	449,941,708
Received back undelivered (deducted as representing articles either again sent out and delivered, or sent to the Dead Letter Office)	13,225,384
Balance actually delivered	436,716,324
Sent to Dead Letter Offices	4,155,544
Total number received for delivery (counting each article only once)	440,871,868

These figures show that the percentage of articles delivered on the whole number received for delivery was 99.06 as compared with 99.08 in the previous year.

Dead Letter Offices.

16. The total number of letters, post-cards and other articles, excluding money orders, that reached one or other of the ten Dead Letter Offices, was 5,613,291 as compared with 5,109,378 received in the previous year. The distribution of these articles among the different Dead Letter Offices and the ways in which the articles were disposed of are shown in detail in Appendix IV of which a summary is given below :—

Articles undisposable . . . . .	938,855	997,358	26·53	25·81

Of the total number of articles 695,784 were successfully disposed of by being redirected and then delivered to the persons to whom they were addressed, while 2,171,285 were returned to the senders and 997,358 were found to be unreturnable. This last figure is only 2 per cent. of the total number of articles given out for delivery in the year, and a large proportion of the 997,358 articles were from their nature not capable of delivery. At a small post office in Sind 541 letters were posted on one day by a person who was afterwards ascertained to be a lunatic. No postage was paid on any of these letters and the addresses were undecipherable. On being examined in the Dead Letter Office the addresses, and also the contents of the letters, were found to consist of a series of marks or hieroglyphics forming no actual character. Many of the letters contained several sheets covered with these marks and the unfortunate man, who had posted the letters, must have spent weeks of toil in laboriously tracing them. From special statistics kept by the Bengal Dead Letter Office for three months, it appears that 3,264 letters and post-cards, 4,648 newspapers and 1,576 packets were posted in the Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam circles without any address at all. As usual, a large amount of valuable property was found in letters and other articles posted without address or with addresses so incorrect or incomplete that the covers had to be opened in order that the senders might be traced. In articles opened in the five more important Dead Letter Offices were found hundis, cheques, bills of exchange, currency notes and other property amounting in value to R3,88,458, £957-6-4, 357 Francs, 50 Dollars, 130 Cents and 8 other foreign coins, and the greater part of this property was successfully delivered to the owners.

17. Particulars regarding the issues from treasuries of post-cards, postage stamps, embossed envelopes, and stamped wrappers will be found in Appendix V, and similar information regarding service post-cards, service postage stamps, and service embossed envelopes will be found in Appendix VI, to which is added an abstract of the two appendices, showing the issues of each kind of postcard; postage stamp, embossed envelope, and stamped wrapper. The total value of the issues of ordinary stamps was ₹1,23,94,922, and of service stamps ₹25,92,966 there being an increase over the figures of the preceding year of ₹10,87,129 in the value of ordinary stamps and of ₹2,51,853 in the value of service stamps.

The issues of ordinary stamps were largest in the Bombay circle where they amounted to over 25 lakhs of rupees. Madras comes next with issues of over 22 lakhs of rupees, and Bengal follows with issues of over 21 lakhs of rupees. The inland single post-cards commanded the highest sales, the total issues being over 112 millions in number. The small half-anna envelope had the next largest sales, over 73 millions in number being issued during the year. Of the  $\frac{1}{2}$ -anna adhesive stamps over 54 millions were issued, of the  $\frac{1}{2}$ -anna reply post-cards over 14 millions, of the 1-anna adhesive stamps over 10 millions, of the 2-anna adhesive stamps over 6 millions, and of the  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -anna adhesive stamps over 3 millions. In the case of the  $\frac{1}{2}$ -anna and 1-anna square envelopes, both ordinary and service, the sales declined, and there was also a fall in the sales of the 2-anna service registration envelopes; but in the case of the 2-anna ordinary registration envelopes, the sales improved as regards both the large and the small size.

As stated in previous reports, newspaper wrappers of the value of  $\frac{1}{2}$ -anna and 1-anna were brought into use from 1st May 1895. Some 358 thousand of the  $\frac{1}{2}$ -half anna wrappers were issued during the year as compared with 325 thousand during the eleven months of the preceding year, showing some increase in the public demand for them; but in the case of the 1-anna wrappers there was a large falling off in the issues from treasuries, some 49 thousand only having been issued as compared with 93 thousand during the eleven months of the previous year.

Apart from the sales of postage stamps, 1-anna revenue or receipt stamps to the value of ₹3,94,299 were sold during the year through the agency of the Post Office. Non-judicial stamps and court-fee stamps are also sold at many post offices, but except in Burma, the postmaster acts, as regards these stamps, as a private vendor, and the stamps do not form part of the post office balance. In Burma, where general stamps are kept by the postmaster in the same way as other stamps, the sales on this account amounted to ₹57,084.

Section IV.—District Post.

Management of the District Post.

18. There has been no change in the management of the District Post during the year under report. It was administered, as usual, by the heads of postal circles subject to the control of the several Local Governments and Administrations.

General re-
year.

19. The comparative statement given on the next page shows the establishments, income, expenditure of the District Post and the work done by it for the years 1895-96 and 1896-97. The total income of the year under report was ₹12,06,222 and the total expenditure ₹11,54,726. There was an increase of 10 in the number of post offices; of 69 in the number of postmen and village postmen; of 225 in the number of letter-boxes kept up out of District Post funds, and of 182 miles in District Post mail lines. There was also an increase of 827,216 or 5.05 per cent. in the number of articles, including money orders delivered by the District Post agency, of 628,321 or 5.69 per cent. in the number of articles posted in post offices and letter-boxes kept up by the District Post, and of 48,204 or 5.57 per cent in the number of articles returned as undeliverable. Appendix VII gives details according to circles of letters and other postal articles sent to, and received from, the District Post.

Section V.—Money Orders.

Inland money orders.—
results.

20. The total number of money order offices at the end of the year under review was 11,295 as compared with 10,926 at the close of the previous year. The number of inland money orders issued, including telegraphic money orders, but excluding all transactions with Native States, was nearly 11 millions of the aggregate value of nearly 22 crores of rupees, and the commission realised amounted to nearly 28 lakhs of rupees. The table in the margin shows the yearly progress made in this branch of business since it was undertaken by the Post Office in 1880. During the year under report there was an increase of 8·87 per cent. in the number of inland money orders issued, of 6·55 per cent. in their value and of 7·36 per cent. in the amount of the commission realised. The average Rs 20-8-0 in the

As in former years the money order business of the Bengal circle was on a larger scale than that of any other postal circle. As in previous years also the payments were largely in excess of the issues in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Bombay, and Bihar, whereas in Bengal, Assam, Burma, Central Provinces, Rajputana, and Sind and Baluchistan the issues were in excess of the payments.

22. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and in the Central Provinces, a check was caused to the revenue money order system by the prevalence of famine. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the total number of revenue money orders issued fell from 165,829 in 1895-96 to 133,498 during the year under report, and the amount from ₹37,60,918 to ₹30,44,174. In the Central Provinces, while the number of revenue money orders issued slightly rose from 10,105 in the previous year to 10,728 in the year under report, the amount of the orders fell from ₹4,23,450 to ₹4,18,965. In the Lower Provinces of Bengal, including Eastern Bengal and Bihar, there was a slight increase both in the number and value of revenue money orders, as compared with the figures for the previous year. The number of orders rose from 186,175 in 1895-96 to 192,425, and the amount from ₹17,19,018 to ₹17,79,477. In the Punjab there was a further decrease in the amount of revenue money orders and a slight increase in the number of orders, as compared with the last year. The value fell from ₹6,01,244 in 1895-96 to ₹5,81,235, while the number of orders rose from 9,697 in 1895-96 to 9,859 during the year under report.

23. The system of remitting miscellaneous Government dues through the agency of the Post Office continued to make progress in the Lower Provinces of Bengal during the year under report, 92,195 official money orders of the aggregate value of ₹21,25,813 having been issued as compared with 91,368 money orders of the aggregate value of ₹20,22,900 issued in the previous year. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh also the progress reported last year was sustained. The number of orders rose from 21,154 to 22,847 and the value from ₹3,74,605 to ₹4,74,493. In the Punjab there was an increase of ₹3,772 in the value and a decrease of 45 in the number of official money orders. The number of orders issued and their amount were 3,775 and ₹86,266 in 1896-97 as compared with 3,820 and ₹82,494 respectively in the previous year. The system was newly introduced in Burma in August 1896 at the request of the Forest Department and is now confined to the Shwebo District.

24. There was again a falling off in the number and value of rent money orders issued during the year in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the number of orders having fallen from 61,826 in 1895-96 to 51,691 during 1896-97, and the amount from ₹8,34,518 to ₹7,03,349. In the Central Provinces also the progress reported last year in the working of the system was not sustained. The number of orders fell from 1,849 in 1895-96 to 1,509 during the year under report, and the amount from ₹26,913 to ₹24,693. The result is attributed in both provinces to the prevalence of famine. In the Lower Provinces of Bengal, however, there was an advance both in the number and value of rent money orders as compared with the figures for the previous year. The total number of orders issued rose from 47,919 in 1895-96 to 49,675 during 1896-97, the amount of rent remitted being ₹7,40,310 in 1896-97 as compared with ₹6,76,452 in the preceding year.

There was an increase of more than ninety seven thousand rupees in the value of the issues in the Native States, and of nearly  $1\frac{1}{2}$  lakhs of rupees in the value of the payments in the States. It will be noticed that the payments made by the Imperial Post Office on account of money orders issued by Native States have been very much larger than the issues by the Imperial Post Office on those States. This result is largely due to the issues of the Gwalior State.

* The amount shown last year, Rs. 86,544, included Rs. 1,28,206, cost of telegrams paid by remitters along with the postal commission, which ought to have been deducted. Rs. 59,651 is the correct revised total, as reported since the issue of the last annual report.

The number of telegraphic money orders issued in the year under report was 145,849 for the aggregate value of ₹1,73,27,359, as compared with 130,337 orders for ₹1,50,91,524, which revised figures have, since the issue of the last annual report, been ascertained to represent the work done in the previous year. The postal commission on these orders amounted to ₹1,78,301 in addition to ₹1,45,849, the cost of telegrams, which is paid by the remitters along with the postal commission but credited to the Telegraph Department.

The average value of a telegraphic money order was ₹118-12-10 against ₹115-12-7 in 1895-96.

Telegraphic money orders continued to be issued far more freely from Burma than elsewhere, the orders issued from that province in the year under report being 43·41 per cent. of the total number for the whole of India. The payments also in Burma continued to be larger in amount than in any other provinces, excepting only Madras.

27. Foreign money orders for and from the United Kingdom, most of the British colonies and possessions, foreign European countries and most of their colonies and possessions, and Egypt are issued in sterling, payments being made by the remitters and to the payees in India at the rates of exchange fixed by the Post Office from time to time for this purpose. Details of the sterling money order exchanges of the year are given in the table below:—

* For three months, January, February and March 1896.

The number of sterling money orders issued rose from 54,999 in 1895-96 to 59,654 in the year under review and the value rose from £177,739 to £206,507. This increase was principally due, as in former years, to the growth of the drawings upon the United Kingdom. In the case of the sterling money orders received for payment in India, the increase was still more marked, the number being greater by 6,702 and the value by £34,607 than in the previous year; and the improvement in this direction is to be attributed mainly to the dimensions which have been attained by the money order business with the Cape Colony since the direct exchange between India and that colony was established in January 1896. During the first three months in which that direct exchange was in operation, 715 orders of the aggregate value of £5,695 were received for payment, the monthly average being 238 orders of the value of £1,898. On the figures of the year under review the monthly average is 627 orders of the value of £4,987. As regards the decrease shown by the foregoing table in the drawings of the United Kingdom upon India, it has to be explained that this was not caused by any falling off in the money order transactions with the mother country, but was due to the fact that in 1895-96 those transactions included a large number of orders drawn in the Cape Colony and British Guiana upon India which are now advised direct to this country. The average value of a money order issued by India in 1896-97 was £3-9-3 as compared with £3-4-7 in 1895-96, and that of a money order paid in India was £5-6-8 as compared with £5-7-5 in the preceding year. The average of the rates of exchange in force during 1896-97 was 14½d. per rupee as compared with 13½d. in the previous year.

* Includes Ceylon telegraphic money orders.

The money order business with Ceylon continues to grow apace, the drawings on India having increased by more than 10,500 in number and by nearly four and-a-half lakhs of rupees in value over the figures of the preceding year; but in the case of the exchange with the Straits Settlements the increase that was noticed last year was not maintained. On the contrary there was a small decrease in the transactions in both directions; and it is a curious fact that no orders at all were issued during the year for payment in German East Africa. The most noticeable feature of the year's transactions is, however, to be found in the figures relating to the exchange with British East Africa. The drawings of this British Protectorate upon India during the year under review were more than seven times as great in number and nearly five times as great in value as in 1895-96, having grown from a little over 1,000 in number and less than one lakh of rupees in value to over 7,000 in number and nearly 4½ lakhs in value. This remarkable increase in the remittances made to this country is to be attributed to the fact that large numbers of natives of India are now employed on the construction of the Uganda Railway and elsewhere in British East Africa. The average value of a foreign rupee money order issued by India in 1896-97 was R37-9-2 as compared with R38-2-4 in 1895-96 and that of an order paid in India was R42-1-1 as compared with R41-10-1 in the preceding year.

29. The table in the margin shows the telegraphic money order transactions between India and Ceylon during the year under review. There was a considerable development of the traffic in both directions; but the transactions mainly consist of reduring the year. The total number of orders sold in 1896-97 was 56,961 as compared with 49,566 in the preceding year, and the total value (including poundage) £37,297 as compared with £31,915 in 1895-96. The orders most in demand were, as in former years, those of the 5 shillings, 10 shillings, and 20 shillings denominations. During the year 43,502 of these orders were sold, while the total sales of orders of all the other denominations only amounted to 13,459. The net commission realized by the Indian Post Office on the entire sales of the year was R 1,742.

Section VI.—Savings Banks.

33. The usual statement is given on the next page showing in detail, according to postal circles, the savings bank transactions of the year as compared with those of the previous year. At the close of the year under report there were 713,320 active accounts as compared with 653,892 at the end of the year 1895-96. The increase, however, of 59,428 in the number of depositors was largely due to the transfer during the year of 23,177 accounts from the Presidency Savings Banks to the Post Office Savings Banks. Excluding transfers from one post office to another, the amount deposited in the year was nearly 45½ lakhs of rupees as compared with some 366 lakhs of rupees in 1895-96; the amount withdrawn was nearly 422 lakhs as compared with over 328½ lakhs in 1895-96; and the interest paid was over 30 lakhs as compared with nearly 26½ lakhs in 1895-96. The total amount standing at the credit of depositors at the close of the year was nearly 964 lakhs, showing an increase of about 59½ lakhs over the balance at the close of the preceding year.

The average balance of each account was 135.13 as compared with 138.28 in the previous year. Of the 713,320 active accounts at the end of the year, 34,777 were security deposit accounts with a balance in favour of depositors of over 44½ lakhs, giving an average of R128 for each account, the maximum limit for a security deposit account being R500. The number of public accounts was 5,632 with a balance of nearly 35 lakhs, giving an average of R621 for each account as compared with 5,399 accounts with a balance of 58 lakhs at the end of the previous year, giving an average of R1,075 for each account. While, therefore, there was an increase of 233 in the number of public accounts the balance was reduced by over 23 lakhs. This was due to the closing of the East Indian Railway Provident Fund account under the special orders of Government, and also in some measure to withdrawals made in consequence of the Government Resolution of March 1897 fixing the maximum balance for public accounts at R10,000. There were 152 regimental and other conjoint accounts with a balance of nearly 11 lakhs, giving an average of R7,186 for each account. There is no limit of deposit in the case of regimental and other conjoint accounts. Of the remaining 672,759 active accounts with a balance of over 873½ lakhs, 88,865 with a balance of over 172½ lakhs were held on behalf of minors by their parents, relatives, and guardians, and the rest were accounts opened and held by depositors on their own behalf. It will be seen, therefore, that 94.31 per cent. of the total number of accounts, and 90.6 per cent. of the total balance of 964 lakhs, represent the savings of private persons, deposited either for their own benefit or for the benefit of their children, minor relatives, and wards.

34. The statement below shows the number and value of accounts held by Europeans and Eurasians, as compared with the number and value of accounts held by natives of India. The proportion of accounts held by Europeans and Eurasians was, as in the two preceding years, highest in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Madras and Bombay circles; but nearly 91·12 per cent. of the total number of accounts at the close of the year were held by natives of the country showing again a slight increase over the percentage for the preceding year:

occupation.

35. In the following statement the depositors are classified according to their occupation. As in the two preceding years the largest number of accounts were held by the undermentioned classes of depositors in the following order (1) persons of no occupation or whose incomes are derived from others or from their own property—classified as "Indefinite" in the statement, (2) the professional class, and (3) the domestic class. Last year the highest percentage of increase was in the agricultural class. This year the number of accounts falling under the agricultural class show an actual decrease, which is no matter for surprise in a year of widespread famine, the highest percentage of increase being in the case of the accounts classed as indefinite, the number of which increased by 12·28 per cent. during the year under review.

36. There were 453 investments in Government securities through the Post Office during the year, the nominal value of the investments being ₹ 8,34,300 in the aggregate, as compared with 257 purchases of the nominal value of ₹ 1,46,500 in the preceding year. This increase in the number of investments is to be attributed to the comparatively favourable rate at which Government securities were selling towards the close of the year. The large increase in their value was, however, mainly due to investments made during the year on behalf of the East Indian Railway Provident Fund amounting to ₹5,00,000 in nominal value. The sales of securities through the Post Office were 34 as compared with 40 in 1895-96. The value of the securities held in the custody of the Comptroller General at the close of the year on account of depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank was ₹6,05,600 as compared with ₹4,69,000 on the 31st March 1896; and it may be interesting to note that of this balance held by the Comptroller General, ₹5,47,800 represented the value of securities of the 3½ per cent. loan while ₹57,000 and ₹300 represented the value of securities of the 3 per cent. and 4½ per cent. loans respectively.

It will be seen that there was an increase in the total business of the year as regards both the number and value of the articles insured, and also an increase of ₹3,668 in the amount of insurance fees, notwithstanding the decrease in the parcel insurance business. The total number of parcels insured was 2,396 less than the number in the preceding year, their total value being nearly 624 lakhs of rupees as compared with 626½ lakhs in 1895-96. The number of letters insured rose from 93,764 in 1895-96 to 99,405 in the year under report. The largest increase occurred in Bombay where the number of letters insured in the year under report exceeded that in the previous year by 2,592. The increase is believed to be due to the impetus given to this form of remittance by the temporary suspension of hundi business on account of the plague. There was, however, a falling-off by 1,543 in the number of insured parcels despatched from Bombay in the year under report.

The average value for which each letter was insured during the year 1896-97 was ₹259 as compared with ₹262 in the previous year, and the average value for which each parcel was insured was ₹314 against ₹311 in 1895-96.

Claims for compensation.

38. The number of claims for compensation on account of the loss of insured articles or the abstraction of their contents during the year under review was 54, as compared with 18 in the previous year. This increase is due to exceptional causes. Twenty claims arose out of losses by highway robbery of mails nearly all in Native States, whereas there were no such claims in 1895-96; and 21 claims had to be met in respect of insured articles lost in an accident which occurred on the 27th April 1896 to the mail train between Sikandarabad and Dadri on the East Indian Railway, when the Post Office van was burnt owing to an explosion of fire-works in an adjoining 3rd class carriage. Out of the 54 claims 46 were admitted, but in only 5 of these 46 cases was the loss caused by fraud or negligence on the part of servants of the Post Office. The usual statement showing the cases in which compensation was actually paid or in which the claims were admitted during the last two years, is given on the margin, and it will be seen that the claims admitted by the Post Office in the year under report amounted to ₹10,743-1-6 or 4.57 per cent. of the total amount realised from insurance fees, as compared with a percentage of 2.18 in the previous year. Of the 8 cases in which claims were not admitted 4 were actually rejected, the remaining 4 being pending at the close of the year. In all 4 cases in which compensation was refused the Post Office declined to accept responsibility, as the insured articles had been delivered in good condition, under a clear receipt, and there was good reason to believe that the declared contents were not enclosed in the articles when the latter were posted. In one of these cases, in which currency notes were said to have been abstracted, it was evident from the weight of the letter and the postage paid that the notes could not have been inside it and in another instance, also of alleged abstraction of currency notes, the enquiry showed that the remittance, which was advised as being sent in part payment of a debt, was never enclosed. The other two claims related to jewellery alleged to have been abstracted from insured parcels, but in one case both the sender and addressee were persons of disreputable character whose statements could not be viewed without suspicion, and in the other case the sender's claim was made with regard to an insured parcel addressed to a Native Chief who had not ordered it and who refused to take delivery of it.

Section VIII.—Value-payable system.

39. The marginal table shows the development of the value-payable business since its introduction in 1877. The rapid and uninterrupted progress of this branch of Post Office work was fully maintained during the year under report. The total number of articles of all kinds sent through the post under the value-payable system was 2,009,092 in the year under review as compared with 1,877,693 in the previous year; the total amount specified for recovery from the addressees was over 230½ lakhs of rupees against 216½ lakhs, being almost exactly four times the figures of 1886-87, while the commission realised was over four lakhs against over three lakhs eighty thousand rupees in the previous year. There was thus an increase of 6·99 per cent. in the number of articles, of 6·38 per cent. in the value specified for recovery and 7·19 per cent. in the commission realised. As in previous years, nearly two-fifths of the entire business of the year was transacted in the Bengal circle, and practically in Calcutta. Out of a total of 733,656 articles sent by the value-payable post in the whole of the Bengal circle, 700,536 were posted at the Calcutta General Post Office and its town sub-offices; and of the sum of nearly 88 lakhs of rupees recovered from the addressees of value-payable articles posted in the Bengal circle, nearly 84 lakhs of rupees were payable to the tradesmen of Calcutta. This amount was 4½ lakhs of rupees in excess of the corresponding figure of the preceding year. The value-payable business with Ceylon has been steadily progressing since its introduction in 1891. During the year under report 21,713 value-payable articles of the aggregate value of ₹1,98,071 were despatched from India to Ceylon as compared with 18,464 articles of the aggregate value of ₹1,76,718 in the preceding year. The value-payable system has not yet been introduced between India and any other foreign country.

The value-payable system has not yet been introduced between India and any other foreign country.

40. In the statement on the margin details are given of the different classes of articles sent through the post under the value-payable system. As compared with the figures of the previous year, the result is an increase of 2·68 per cent. in the number of value-payable parcels, of 10·08 per cent. in the number of value-payable railway receipts, of 9·25 per cent. in the number of value-payable registered letters and registered packets, of 10·08 per cent. in the number of value-payable unregistered packets.

The average commission on each article was the same as in the preceding year.

Section IX.—Miscellaneous.

Post Office
Guarantee Fund.

41. The following statement shows the transactions of the Post Office Guarantee Fund during the year under report. The balance at the credit of the Fund, including the value of Government Securities purchased on its behalf, rose from R6,11,378 on the 31st March 1896 to R6,41,920 on the 31st March 1897. The subscriptions realised from postal servants amounted to R24,659, while the amount decreed against the Fund in connection with frauds committed by officials of the Department was R16,469 as compared with R13,574 in 1895-96 and an average of R18,968 for the last ten years. A sum of R22,845 was added to the Fund on account of interest during the year under report.

Complaints
lic.

42. The number of complaints made by the public during the year under report was 18,827. In the previous year's report the number of complaints was shown as 15,428. The proportion of cases in which the complaints were found to be well-grounded was 34·36 per cent. of the total, while the percentage of entirely groundless complaints was 39·96, both percentages being practically the same as in the previous year. The remaining cases were either pending at the close of the year or were cases in which no definite conclusion could be arrived at. It is natural that many complaints should be made without real foundation seeing that the Post Office deals with persons of all classes of life, who are often ignorant of postal procedure and do not understand the necessity of verifying facts before complaining. The department, therefore, is frequently associated with losses caused by the shortcomings of domestic servants, peons and other menials to whom it is usual in this country to entrust articles for the post. The following instances reported by the Post Master General, Bombay, serve to show with how little foundation complaints are sometimes made :—

(a) Early in 1897, a short paragraph headed " Twenty-six years after " appeared in a newspaper published in Western India. It was stated that a letter had been delivered twenty-six years after it had been posted. The Post Master General enquired into the case and it transpired that the letter in question had been posted in Bombay about twenty years ago to the address of a person living in a Native State, which had its own postal arrangements. The letter, therefore, was transferred in the usual course to the chief post office of this State for transmission to its destination. In this office, it appeared, the letter remained unnoticed up to the beginning of 1897, when it was reposted in a fresh cover, with a revised address, and was delivered as an unpaid article to a son of the person to whose care the article was originally addressed. It was satisfactorily established, therefore, that the Indian Post Office was in no way responsible for this extraordinary delay.

(b) In September 1896, a complaint was received through the Secretary, General Post Office, London, that a registered letter containing a ruby valued at £2,300 posted by a firm in Burma and addressed to a firm in London had been delivered with the ruby missing. Enquiry showed that the ruby had been stolen by a durwan, in the employ of the firm, who had been entrusted with the posting of the letter.

At the same time it cannot be repeated too often that the Post Office is anxious to receive complaints of which the facts are authenticated, and in the year under report, as in former years, valuable assistance was obtained from complaints of this character in fixing responsibility for neglect and in improving, in some instances, sorting arrangements.

43. The usual statement showing the number of complaints received during the year regarding registered letters, ordinary parcels, insured letters and value-payable articles is given below. These figures are included in the number of complaints shown in paragraph 42 of this report.

Complaints regarding special classes of articles.

	1896-97.				TOTAL.
	Registered letters.	Ordinary parcels.	Insured letters and insured parcels.	Value-payable parcels and Value-payable registered articles.	1896-97.	1895-96.
I.—Cases in which enquiry showed either that no loss occurred or that the loss had not occurred through the fault of postal officials . . . . .	262	175	41	65	543	467
II.—Cases in which the postal establishment was proved to be in fault, or in which there was strong ground for believing it to be so . . . . .	138	64	27	48	277	243
III.—Cases in which no definite conclusion was arrived at or which were pending at the close of the year . . . . .	63	111	7	27	208	143
TOTAL . . . . .	463	350	75	140	1,028	853

It will be seen that out of a total of 1,028 complaints regarding these special classes of postal articles 543 or 52·82 per cent. were groundless, and that the proportion of cases in which postal officials were proved to be in fault was 26.94 per cent. The percentage of cases in which no definite conclusion was arrived at, or which were pending at the close of the year was 20.23. Against the increase of 175 in the number of complaints it may be noted that there was an increase of 868,677 registered letters, 131,686 parcels, 131,399 value-payable articles and 3,245 insured articles. Complaints which proved to be well-founded were made by the public in respect of only 138 out of 8,860,142 registered letters, 64 out of 2,708,769 parcels, 27 out of 298,228 insured articles and 48 out of 2,009,092 value-payable articles.

is given on the margin. The total includes 37 cases of misappropriation of office cash, 124 money order frauds, 16 savings bank frauds, and 55 cases of theft from mails and post offices. Most of the remaining offences relate as usual to letters, parcels, and other mail matter properly so called, and include some comparatively minor cases of negligence punishable under the Post Office Act. Among the offenders convicted or departmentally punished, were 50 departmental postmasters and 28 clerks including 5 Railway Mail Service sorters, 36 extraneous agents in charge of post offices, 107 postmen and village postmen, 4 telegraph messengers, 2 overseers, 30 runners and 21 others employed on various menial duties in post offices. The amount of defalcations and losses was Rs 37,020-3-7 as compared with Rs 34,646-12-5 in the previous year and Rs 47,395-9-4 in 1894-95. Rs 16,583-9-1 was recovered from the offenders or their sureties, Rs 9,523-1-2 was decreed against the Guarantee Fund, and Rs 10,913-9-4 remained unadjusted at the close of the year.

belonging to the Post Office.

45. Six cases of fraud in respect of money orders to the value of Rs 185-7-0, and 3 cases of fraudulent withdrawals amounting to Rs 386-8-0 from the savings bank were committed by persons not belonging to the Post Office. There were 42 cases of house-breaking and theft of Government money from post office safes or from the mails, apart from the cases of highway robbery which are separately dealt with. The total amount stolen was Rs 2,225-8-2, of which Rs 1,722-13-3 was recovered, Rs 2-5-3 was written off as finally lost, and Rs 500-5-8 was unadjusted at the close of the year.

Highway
robberies and attacks

46. The usual abstract is given in the margin showing the number of cases in which the mails were plundered by highway robbers during the year under review and in the previous year, both in British territory and in Native States. There were 36 cases of the kind during 1896-97 as compared with 30 in 1895-96. Of these 36 cases 28 occurred in British territory as compared with 20 in the previous year, and 8 in Native States as compared with 10 in the previous year, so that the increase in the total number was wholly due to the offences committed in British territory. The increase was greatest in Bengal where the number of these cases rose from 2 to 6. In Bombay, Burma, and Rajputana the number also increased; while in Bihar there were three cases and in Assam and in Eastern Bengal there was one case, these three latter being circles in which no highway robberies of the mail occurred last year. On the other hand, in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, as well as in the Punjab, the number decreased, while there were no mail robberies at all in the Central Provinces and Sind and Baluchistan circles.

47. In 23 out of the 36 cases of highway robbery the mail carriers were wounded by the robbers, and in three cases so severely as to necessitate their detention for some time in hospital. In a case that occurred in the Rawalpindi district of the Punjab the runner was killed and his body thrown into a tank. There were two men implicated in the murder both of whom were arrested, prosecuted, and, on conviction, sentenced to death. In another case, which occurred in the Kyaukpyu district in Burma, the runner lost his life, being beaten to death by his assailants with clubs. This robbery was instigated by a Burman postmaster with a view to conceal a misappropriation of cash committed by him. He reported that the plundered mail contained a cash remittance of R177, but enquiries showed the alleged remittance to be fictitious. The postmaster and the four men whom he had employed to commit the robbery were successfully prosecuted, and all sentenced to transportation for life. In the second case that occurred in Burma two runners were suddenly assaulted by two armed Karens. The runner who was actually carrying the mails was seriously wounded, but the other runner defended his comrade for some time with much courage, but finding himself over-matched eventually had to retreat. He was rewarded for his courageous conduct. The assailants could not be traced and no portion of the mail was recovered. The only other case involving a loss of life occurred in Rajputana where a camel sowar escorting the mails was shot dead. One of the men concerned in this crime was arrested. He was tried and sentenced to transportation for life. In one of the cases that took place in the Madras Presidency the object of the robbers appears to have been to obtain some official documents. The bulk of the mail was found intact, but most of the articles addressed to Government officers had been opened, and a parcel so addressed was missing.

There were only 10 cases in which Government suffered any loss, the total loss amounting to R8,954-1-6, of which R2,387-1-6 was taken from the mails in actual cash, while R6,567 represents the compensation that had to be paid for insured articles. In 13 cases the entire mail was recovered, in 12 cases a portion was recovered, and in the remaining 11 the entire mail was lost. Prosecutions were instituted in 16 cases, in 9 of which convictions were obtained. In addition to the cases of actual highway robbery mentioned above, there were 3 unsuccessful attempts to rob the mail, two of which took place in British territory and one in a Native State.

48. There were various other cases during the year in which the lives of postal servants were lost and destruction of property was caused by storms, floods, fires and other causes. The maintenance of the mail service with Gilgit across the Burzil pass, 13,500 feet in height, is always attended with much risk during the winter months. In 1895-96 four mail carriers unfortunately lost their lives on this line, and during the year under report a rest house on this pass was swept away and buried beneath an avalanche with three mail carriers in it who were waiting their turn to take on the mails. In the Chhatisgarh division of the Central Provinces two men were killed by tigers while employed in carrying mails, one in October 1896 and the other in February 1897, while a serious accident occurred on the line from Shillong to Gauhati in Assam owing to the ponies of the mail tonga being frightened by a leopard on the road. They became unmanageable and dashed away, and finally ponies and tonga fell over the precipice at the side of the road. The driver escaped with his life though he was severely injured, and the mails were recovered. In June 1896 a boat carrying mails across the Rapti in the Bahraich district of Oudh capsized owing to a sudden flood and the mails were lost, though the passengers, with the exception of a child, were rescued. In August 1896 a mail tonga was swept away while crossing the Chakki river in the Gurdaspur district of the Punjab, and the letter and parcel mails were lost, but the driver and a passenger, who was travelling in the tonga, escaped with their lives. In three other instances during the rains of the year under report mails were lost in the attempts of the mail carriers to cross streams that were in flood. On the 7th July 1896 the boat conveying mails to the S. S. Puralia at Bandar Abas in the Persian Gulf capsized, but the mails were saved by the 2nd Officer of the vessel, who swam ashore with them, and on the night of the 14th October 1896 the S. S. Tuna foundered after leaving Zaila in the Gulf of Aden and two mail bags on board were lost.

The most serious accident that occurred during the year was the burning of the postal van attached to the mail train between the Sikandarabad and Dadri Railway stations on the East Indian Railway on the 27th April 1896. A native passenger in a 3rd class compartment next to the postal van was carrying fireworks with him which exploded, setting fire to the railway carriage and the postal van and causing the death of 11 persons, and the almost complete destruction of the mails, which comprised a large number of insured, value-payable, and other registered letters and parcels.

During the year 15 post offices were destroyed by fire, but only one of the buildings was the property of the Department. In no case was there any serious loss of cash or Government property. Two small post office buildings were blown down by storms and one was washed away by a flood.

with 49,939 on the same date of the previous year. The increase under the several heads was due to the general development of Post Office work, the largest increase being under the head of postmen and other servants, while the small decrease in Road Establishment was caused mainly by the opening of new railway lines. The staff of the Post Office included 172 pensioned soldiers of the native army, of whom 38 were non commissioned officers and 134 sepoys. These men were employed in various capacities, such as branch postmasters, clerks, postmen or packers. Out of the total number of 172 pensioned soldiers, 101 were serving in the Punjab, and 42 in the Madras circle. During the year 1896-97, 26 women were employed in the Post Office, of whom 25 were European or Eurasian. One of these 26 women was postmistress of a head office, 6 were postmistresses of sub-offices, one of a branch office, while 17 were clerks and one a postwoman.

50. The charges incurred during the year on account of printing work done by private presses amounted to Rs. 3,676 as compared with Rs. 7,805 in 1895-96 and Rs. 4,965 in the previous year. Cost of printing by private presses.

Section X.—Non-Postal Branches of the Post Office.

51. During the year under review 115 new combined post and telegraph offices were opened and 9 previously existing combined offices were closed. There was thus a net increase of 106 in the total number of combined offices as compared with a net increase of 99 during the previous year. Of the new combined offices, 110 were opened at places which had previously been without a Government telegraph office, and 88 at places where there had previously been no Government or Railway telegraph office. Postal Telegraph (combined) offices.

The Punjab circle heads the list with 21 new combined offices, Madras coming next with 20 new offices. The number of combined offices in each postal circle is shown in the statement given in the next paragraph. At the close of the year there were 1,563 Government telegraph offices, of which 249 were under the control of the Telegraph Department, and 1,314 were combined post and telegraph offices controlled by the Postal Department.

52. The usual statement is given below showing the traffic statistics of combined offices arranged according to postal circles. There was an increase of 260,809 or 16.25 per cent. in the number of messages sent, and of 236,431 or 13.75 per cent. in the number of messages received, while the revenue showed an increase of Rs. 2,64,422 or 16.63 per cent. over the figures of the previous year. The total revenue from messages sent from combined offices amounted to Rs. 18,54,070, and exceeded the expenditure on the establishments of these offices by Rs. 14,22,025. During the year 306 servants of the Post Office qualified as signallers, while 136 were under training when the year closed. The number of boys employed as telegraph messengers in combined offices on the 31st March 1897 was 328.

Telegraph Receiving Offices.

53. In addition to messages despatched and received by wire at the 1,314 combined offices, telegrams were received from the public at 1,923 post offices for despatch by post to the nearest telegraph offices, as compared with 1,611 such offices during 1895-96. The number of telegrams booked at these receiving offices was 39,780 and the revenue realized was ₹38,190 as compared with 47,439 messages booked and ₹37,081 realised during the previous year.

The number of messages booked by post offices in the Persian Gulf on account of the Indo-European Telegraph Department was 246 as compared with 240 in 1895-96, and fees to the amount of ₹3,391-2-0 were realised as compared with ₹2,811-1-0 in the previous year.

Post Office
Passenger and Bullock Train services be-
and Simla.

54. The gross expenditure on the combined Passenger and Bullock Train service was ₹4,38,242 against ₹3,06,902 during the previous year, and the receipts amounted to ₹3,45,874 as compared with ₹2,75,372. There was thus an excess of ₹92,368, in charges over receipts, as compared with an excess of ₹31,530 in 1895-96. The largely increased cost for the year was principally due to the high prices of grain and fodder owing to the failure of the rains, which involved an extra expenditure of about ₹86,000 on food and allowances for the animals and grain compensation to the establishment. There was further an unusual charge of ₹10,000 on new carriages, harness, and other appointments; while the largely increased goods traffic involved an extra charge of over ₹20,000 for the hire of country carts and other additional expenses. Had it not been for unforeseen and unavoidable expenditure on account of the famine, the expenditure would have been about ₹3,52,000, or only about ₹6,000 in excess of the receipts.

nue at
post offices.

55. The system of receiving salt revenue at post offices remained in force throughout the year at certain post offices in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Punjab, Central Provinces and Rajputana, but the transactions, as in the previous three years, were so few as to be little more than nominal. Altogether, 374 indents for 51,305 maunds of salt of the gross value of ₹1,39,372 were disposed of in the year under report through the agency of the Post Office.

Sale of
post offices.

56. The total amount of quinine supplied to post offices on indent for sale during the year under review exceeded by over 229 lbs. the amount supplied in the previous year.

Net increase 229 lbs. 3,467 grains.

In the lower provinces of Bengal over 2,037 lbs. were supplied to post offices. Compared with the figures of the previous year there has been a decrease in supply of over 77 lbs. This circumstance is believed to be due to the general scarcity and high prices, which prevailed during the period. In January 1896 the system was introduced throughout almost the whole of the Madras circle, and during the year over 300 lbs. of quinine were supplied to post offices. The system was in force for only 3 months in the previous year. In the Bombay circle there was an increase in supply of over 83 lbs. as compared with the previous year. The increase is due to the extension of the system during the year to branch offices in charge of non-departmental agents. In the North-Western Provinces the system was introduced in December 1895, and the quantity supplied before 1st April 1896 has not been reported. During the year under review the system was extended, but the quantity indented for so far has been very small. In the Punjab circle the system was experimentally introduced in the Delhi Division, and was discontinued in October 1896 in compliance with the wishes of the Punjab Government.

In the Central Provinces about 120lbs. of quinine were supplied as compared with about 190lbs. in the previous year. The decrease in this circle was due, to a great extent, to the temporary discontinuance of sale, as the Bengal Jail Depôt was unable to provide a supply during the period from June to August. In Assam, the supply so far has not been great, though there has been an appreciable increase over the previous year, due to quinine being sold by 93 more post offices than in 1895-96. In the Rajputana circle quinine was supplied to all the post offices at places in states under the control of the Agent to the Governor General, Rajputana, and there was a slight increase in the amount supplied as compared with the previous year. The supply of quinine to post offices in Sind and Baluchistan was not much greater than in the previous year and the Deputy Postmaster General remarks that the sale is small, because quinine is distributed gratis by a number of dispensaries and also by various Revenue officials. The system was introduced in Burma late in the previous year, and the year under report is therefore the first complete year reported on. Only about 17lbs. were indented for from the supplying depôts.

The year under review was one of scarcity and high prices, and to this may be fairly attributed the small increase in this branch of postal business, notwithstanding the extension of its field of operation.

57. A separate report has been submitted, as usual, on the operations of the schemes under which the Post Office issues life insurance policies and contracts for monthly allowances in favour of servants of the Postal and Telegraph Departments. The scheme for monthly allowances is still practically inoperative, and there were only nine contracts in existence at the close of the year. On the other hand the popularity of the life insurance scheme continues, and 223 new policies for the aggregate amount of Rs 2,96,300, were issued during the year. Since the scheme was started on the 1st February 1884, 2,675 lives have been insured, and at the close of the year under report there were 2,233 active policies in existence, 1,768 of which were held by Post Office servants and 465 by servants of the Telegraph Department. Thirty claims amounting in all to Rs 46,850 were paid during the year on the deaths of insureds, and the aggregate sum insured at the end of the year was Rs 31,33,200. In the year under report, as in the preceding one, no advantage was taken by the women employed by the Postal and Telegraph Departments of the extension of the benefits of the schemes to them. One life annuity was purchased under Article 867 of the Civil Service Regulations during the year under report.

58. The system of paying the pensions of pensioners of the Native Army through the agency of the Post Office in the Punjab continued to work satisfactorily. The total number of pensioners paid during the year under report was 24,112, and the amount paid to them was Rs 17,46,333. The following table shows the yearly progress made in this branch of business from its introduction.

Section XI.—Financial Results.

Receipts and expenditure
according to
accounts.

59. The receipts and charges of the year, as shown in the Post Office accounts, are given in detail in Appendix X under two main heads, Postal Service Proper and Non-Postal branches, and a summary will be found in the statement below :—

Under Postal Service Proper the net receipts after deducting the amounts due to the British, Colonial and other Post Offices were Rs 6,18,874 in excess of those for 1895-96, while the charges rose by little more than 3½ lakhs. The improvement in the receipts was due to an increase of Rs 3,88,768 from the sale of ordinary postage stamps, to an increase of Rs 1,45,507 in the revenue derived from service postage stamps, and to an increase of Rs 1,94,007 in the income obtained from money order commission. There was a decrease of Rs 39,111 in the collections on account of postage paid in cash, and of Rs 11,149 in the miscellaneous receipts of the Department, and an increase of Rs 59,148 in the payments made to the British and other Post Offices. Under the head of "Non-Postal branches" the receipts were Rs 70,486 more than in the preceding year. None of the items of postal expenditure call for any special notice. Altogether the receipts exceeded the charges by Rs 39,03,921.

Financial position of the Post Office.

60. In Appendix XI is given a comparative abstract of the receipts and charges of the Post Office for the year including, under a distinct head (III), certain receipts and charges which find a place in the Finance and Revenue accounts but not in the Post Office accounts. The entries under this head are quoted in the margin, and if these totals be added to the total given in the preceding paragraph, the entire receipts of the year amount to ₹1,78,34,737 and the entire charges to ₹1,69,81,561. There was thus a surplus of ₹8,53,176 on the year's transactions, as shewn in the Finance and Revenue accounts. The charge on account of District Post establishments has, however, to be excluded, as it is entirely met by grants from District Post Funds, which with the exception of the item ₹97,615 shown in the marginal table, are not credited to the Post Office in the Finance and Revenue accounts. The actual accounts of the year, therefore, show a surplus of ₹20,52,891. In order, however, to bring out the complete financial results of the year in the usual way, the net balance of the items shown in the margin must be de-deducted from the surplus just noted, and the net financial result is a surplus of ₹12,51,973 as compared with ₹10,29,230 in 1895-96 and with ₹6,89,526 in 1894-95. In this estimate of the financial position of the Post Office no allowance has been claimed on account of the services rendered by the Department to Government in the management of the Post Office Savings Bank and in carrying official correspondence at exceptionally low postage rates. The financial position of the Post Office shows a steady progress every year.

Section XII.—Notice of Post Office Officials.

Mention of Officers of the Post Office.

61. I have much pleasure in bringing prominently to the notice of Government the valuable services rendered to the Post Office by Mr. H. Farrer, I.C.S., who was transferred to the directorate as Deputy Director-General at the beginning of the year, and, to my great regret, has been compelled by ill health to take long leave to England. Mr. Farrer had held the appointment of Postmaster General, Madras, since 1886, and by his energy, ability, and devotion to work has materially improved the administration of posts in that Presidency. I also wish to bring to the notice of Government the name of Mr. Merrett, Presidency Postmaster of Bombay, who in the face of much difficulty and anxiety caused by the prevalence of the plague, maintained the efficiency of the postal service in that city throughout the year; and of Mr. G. A. T. Bennett, Superintendent of Post Offices, who was in charge of the postal arrangements for the Suakim Field Force. The General Officer Commanding that Force reported that Mr. Bennett's arrangements throughout had been admirable, and that he had spared no pains to meet the convenience of both officers and men in every detail. The services of the following officers also, who have been mentioned by heads of circles, deserve recognition: Mr. C. Stowell for his excellent management of the posts to Chitral; Mr. Clifford for his special exertions in improving the mail communications with Kengtung in Upper Burma; Inspectors Abdul Kadar and Ganesh Bapuji for their courage and good work in keeping together the delivery establishment and supervising the town sub-offices in Bombay during the plague; Mr. A. Cordeiro, postmaster of Karachi, for similar success in dealing with the difficulties caused by the plague in that city, and Mr. P. J. Gorman for the continued efficiency of his management of one of the most arduous divisions of the Railway Mail Service. Since the end of the year the Department has been deprived, by death, of the services of two of its best Native Superintendents, Rai Bahadur Luchman Singh of the Railway Mail Service and Rai Bahadur Anantha Charlu of Madras. Both these officers had proved themselves capable of accepting responsibility, and their good work had been recognized by Government. Their death has been a serious loss to the Post Office.

Column 2.—These figures represent the net proceeds of the sale of ordinary postage stamps after deducting discount to vendors.

Column 3.—The great differences observable in this column are due mainly to changes of system in the treatment of official correspondence, which was charged at full letter rates up to 1865-66, at the same rates as ordinary correspondence (letters, packets, etc.) from that year to 1872-73, and afterwards at a low privileged letter rate of one anna for a tola (about 4 oz.).

Column 4.—The figures in this column show the revenue undisturbed by the changes of system in respect of official correspondence mentioned in the note regarding column 3.

Column 12.—The figures in this column show the proportion of the cash collections in column 4 to the total postal revenue of columns 2, 3, and 4. The comparison commences with the year 1873-74, when the official postage rate was reduced (see note on column 3) and the whole collected in stamps.

Column 27 to 30.—Three digits are omitted from the figures in these columns.

Column 27 and 28.—These figures cannot be given prior to 1873-74, owing to a difference in the system of statistical record.

Column 29.—The registration of newspapers only commenced in the year 1871-72 and ended in 1877-78.

(a) Revised so as to include letters to Gibraltar, Malta, and places east of Suez.

(b) Revised so as to show the number of articles exchanged with the United Kingdom instead of the number of postage rates.

* Including post-cards from 1890-96.

† 1,712 miles of line under this head have in 1884-85 been included in column 19.

(c) Revised so as to show the number of letters conveyed by P. and O. contract steamers to and from Europe and Egypt only.

Return of the number of persons in receipt of relief in districts affected by scarcity.

NOTE.—The figures are compiled from the Local Gazettes, and give the District details of the Provincial totals published weekly in the Crop and Weather summary in the Gazette of India.
Non-labouring children and other dependants of relief workers are classed as on relief works when distinguished in the local returns from persons gratuitously relieved in poor-houses or at their homes.

The following note by the Director of Railway Traffic, No. 17 Stat., dated the 12th January 1898, with abstract returns of accidents to trains, etc., on the open lines of railway in India for the six months ending with the 30th June 1897.

I.—Accidents to trains, rolling stock, permanent-way, etc.

Accidents to trains, rolling stock, permanent-way, etc., during the six months ending with the 30th June 1897, as shown under abstract No. 4 on pages 16 and 17 of the accompanying returns, caused the death of 17 and injury to 100 persons. The table below shows that, while the number of persons killed had slightly decreased, the number injured was very much, in excess of the average of the corresponding periods of the two previous years (due mainly to the collision at Howrah station, on the East Indian railway, on the 15th April 1897, in which twenty passengers were slightly injured), while the total number of accidents was considerably below the average:

2. The following table compares the variations in the mean mileage worked, the train-mileage run and the number of accidents with the average, and shows that, with an increase of 5.63 per cent. in the mean mileage worked and a decrease of 0.33 per cent. in the train-mileage run during the six months ending with the 30th June 1897, the number of accidents decreased by 109 or 4.04 per cent. as compared with the average of the corresponding periods of the two previous years :

3. The following table, showing the principal increases and decreases of accidents of different classes on the standard, metre and special gauge lines, brings out the fact that, although the general total showed a decrease, there were large variations in the number of accidents of different classes, as compared with the average of the corresponding periods of the two previous years :

Special gauges.
Trains running over cattle on the line . . . . .	— 1	+ 17	+ 16	+ 400.00

It will be observed from the foregoing, that the increases on the standard gauge lines occurred under "Trains or engines travelling in the wrong direction through points," 12 accidents or 29.27 per cent., due partly to more accurate classification; under "Trains running over cattle on the line," 89 accidents or 14.17 per cent., partly due, it is believed, to the drought and consequent scarcity of fodder, villagers having in many cases driven their cattle on to the railway line to graze, and partly also to the opening of new lines; under "The failure of machinery, springs, etc., of engines," 16 accidents or 8.63 per cent.; on the metre gauge railways under "Trains running over cattle on the line," 80 accidents or 4.58 per cent., possibly due to the cause noted above; and on the special gauge lines under the same head, 16 accidents or 400.00 per cent.

4. The number of cattle accidents was largest on the Southern Mahratta railway, viz., 204; next comes the South Indian railway with 164, then the East Indian railway with 128, the North Western State railway with 95, the Eastern Bengal State railway (standard gauge) with 92, and the Madras railway with 84.

In relation to the train-mileage run, the highest proportion was on the Cooch Behar railway, which gave an average of 1 accident in 2,784 train-miles run; the Assam-Bengal railway coming next with an average of 1 in 5,682; then the Morvi, the Nizam's Guaranteed State, the East Coast State and the Eastern Bengal State (standard gauge section) railways with averages of 1 in 6,300, 1 in 8,542, 1 in 9,435 and 1 in 9,855, respectively. The lowest proportion was on the Great Indian Peninsula railway, viz., 1 in 259,628 train-miles run, the Burma railways coming next with 1 in 60,872, then the Gaekwar's Dabhoi railway with 1 in 54,742, the East Indian railway with 1 in 51,768, the North Western State railway with 1 in 46,190 and the Bombay, Baroda and Central India railway with 1 in 39,698.

5. Under the head "Trains or engines travelling in the wrong direction through points," the largest number, viz., 22, occurred on the Great Indian Peninsula railway; the Eastern Bengal State railway (standard gauge section) coming next with 17 accidents; under "The failure of machinery, springs, etc., of engines," the largest number, viz., 55, occurred on the East Indian railway; the Bombay, Baroda and Central India and the Great Indian Peninsula railways coming next with 52 and 39 accidents, respectively.

Taking the total number of accidents to trains, rolling stock, permanent-way, etc., the proportion of accidents to train-mileage run was highest on the Jorhāt State railway, on which 1 accident occurred on an average in 1,876 train-miles; next comes the Assam-Bengal railway, with 1 accident in 2,782 train-miles; then the Cooch Behar, the Morvi, the Rohilkund and Kumaon (including the Lucknow-Bareilly section) and the Dibru-Sadiya railways with averages of 1 in 2,781, 1 in 3,392, 1 in 3,985 and 1 in 4,520, respectively. The lowest proportion was on the Oodeypore-Chitor railway, viz., 1 in 23,497, the Great Indian Peninsula railway coming next with 1 in 23,135, then the North Western State railway with 1 in 23,095, the East Indian railway with 1 in 23,008, the Burma railways with 1 in 19,479, and the Rajputana-Malwa railway with 1 in 17,756.

II.—Accidents from other causes not involving accidents to trains, etc.

6. The casualties to passengers, servants in the employ of railways or of contractors, and to others, from causes not involving accidents to trains (which are detailed in abstract No. 2) are compared separately, for each gauge, with the average of the corresponding periods of the two previous years in the table below:

GAUGES.	SIX MONTHS ENDING WITH THE 30TH JUNE 1897.								AVERAGE OF THE CORRESPONDING PERIODS OF THE TWO PREVIOUS YEARS.
	PASSENGERS.		SERVANTS.		OTHERS.		TOTAL.		PASSENGERS.		SERVANTS.		OTHERS.		TOTAL.

TOTAL .	24	115	94	169	310	90	428	374	38	88	73	162	220	56	331	306

It will be seen from the foregoing table that the number of persons killed and injured compares unfavourably with the average of the corresponding periods of the two previous years. The increase is attributable, to some extent, to the opening of new lines.

III.—Accidents in which the movement of vehicles used exclusively upon railways was not concerned.

7. The following table shows, for the several gauges, the number of persons reported to have been killed or injured by accidents in which the movement of vehicles used exclusively upon railways was not concerned. Comparative figures for the corresponding previous period are also given :

IV.—Statistical results.

8. The following table gives certain statistical results for the period under review, comparing the number of passengers killed and injured by accidents to trains and from all causes with the number carried and the number of passenger-units carried one mile. Comparative results, based on the average figures of the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are also given :

The increase in the total number of persons injured during the second quarter of 1897, as compared with the average of the corresponding quarters of the two previous years, was mainly, as already explained in paragraph 1, due to the collision at Howrah station, on the 15th April 1897, on the East Indian railway. Particulars of this accident are briefly given in paragraph 10.

10. A brief description of accidents which resulted in loss of life, or injury to persons is given below.

East Indian railway.—On the 15th April 1897, a collision took place at Howrah station, between the down Tarakespur local train and the empty stock of the down Burdwan local train, owing to the former having run against signals. Twenty passengers were slightly injured.

On the 27th April 1897, while emptying Messrs. Graham & Co.'s kerosine oil tank wagon at the Cawnpore City station, a fire broke out, and two of the men employed on the work were injured and a third man was burnt to death.

On the 28th April 1897, while an up passenger train was standing at Magra station, a down goods train was allowed to run through the station. As the engine of the down goods train arrived at the main line points, it collided first with a wagon standing foul of the crossing, which was thrown clear off the line and derailed, and next with two wagons standing together uncoupled on the main line, and carried them some distance through the yard. A railway servant was badly hurt and subsequently died.

On the 10th May 1897, an up goods train collided with another up goods train standing on the up platform line at Hooghly station, owing to the driver of the former train having lost control of his train and run against signals at danger. A railway porter was injured.

On the 10th June 1897, a collision took place at Moghal Sarai station, between an up passenger train and a pilot engine with some empty vehicles, owing to the train having been admitted on to the wrong line. Rolling stock was damaged and two passengers were injured.

On the 14th June 1897, while a down mail train was running between Ghaggar and Lalru stations, a horse-box, second from the engine, was found on fire. A passenger travelling in a first class carriage having given the alarm, the train was brought to a stand. The loaded horse-box and mail van were completely, and the brake-van partially, burnt. The horses in the box were killed, and four out of five syces were injured in jumping out of the train. The fire was probably due to the syces smoking.

Bengal Central railway.—On the 5th June 1897, a sub-platelayer's trolley was run into by a relief van engine at mile 7, near Gángnapur station, owing to the carelessness of the driver and Locomotive Foreman in charge. The sub-platelayer, a time-keeper and two trollymen were killed.

North Western State railway.—On the 6th April 1897, during shunting operations, a platelayer's trolley was run into by the engine of a down goods train at Dádú station. The accident is attributed to the carelessness of the shunter in not having lights on the engine. A railway servant was injured.

On the 10th April 1897, the chhopper huts, built by the gangmen at mile 1099/4, between Muzaffarnagar and Khátauli stations, were set on fire by sparks from the engine of an up mixed train, and a child was burnt to death.

Eastern Bengal State railway.—(Standard gauge.)—On the 28th June 1897, a slip carriage on an up passenger train parted outside Ágarpara station, owing to some defect in the slip coupling, and collided with the train which was standing at the station. Nine passengers were slightly injured.

East Coast State railway.—On the 7th May 1897, a man and two buffaloes were run over and killed by the engine of an up special goods train, at the level-crossing at mileage 245/7.

Great Indian Peninsula railway.—On the 21st June 1897, a down goods train (carrying passengers) collided with an up goods train at Sháhábád station, owing to the points having been wrongly set. Four passengers and a railway servant were injured.

Southern Mahratta railway.—On the 10th May 1897, a down mail train collided with a down mixed train standing on the main line at Koregaon station, owing to the facing points not having been properly set. Two passengers were injured, and the rolling stock was considerably damaged.

On the 18th May 1897, while the driver was attending to certain defects in the engine of the down mixed train at mile 478/8, between Satúlúr and Phirangipuram stations, the train was run into by a light engine, which had improperly been allowed to leave the former station before the down mixed had cleared the section. Four railway servants were injured.

On the 25th May 1897, a country cart was run into by an up goods train at the level-crossing gate at mile 170/4, between Tumkur and Hirehalli stations. The cartman was injured.

On the 26th June 1897, an up mixed train parted at mile 8/12, near Dávangere station, owing to a defect in the coupling of a vehicle, and the rear portion collided with the front portion of the train. Two railway servants were injured.

Burma railways.—On the 28th April 1897, a down mixed train was derailed at mile 79/6, about 2 miles north of Letpadan station, owing to some fish-plates having been removed and the line unlinked by some persons unknown. A passenger was slightly injured.

Gaekwar's Dabhoi railway.—On the 31st May 1897, a rake of loaded wagons having been shunted by a contractor's coolie against orders in the yard at Bhilupur station, collided with a bullock cart which had entered the yard during the absence of the gateman. The cartman was run over and killed.

Morvi railway.—On the 16th May 1897, a bullock cart was thrown off the line by an up mixed train at the level-crossing between miles 18 and 19, near Dhola station. The cartman was injured.
